

Do You Love Music?

If you do (and the man who does not, according to Shakespeare, is "fit for stratagems, treasons and spoils"), you will find no music maker so easy to buy, so easy to play and so easy to listen to as the Phonograph. The Phonograph plays everybody's music. You can hear upon it just what you like—the old ballads, songs that your mother sang when you were a boy, and the latest popular sketch from comic opera. They are all sung equally well and are reproduced perfectly in your home by the Phonograph.

NEWS OF NEBRASKA.

BROWN AND BURKETT AGREE.

Entire Delegation to Have Say in Regard to Appointments.

Washington, Jan. 20.—"The president called us to the White House and told us that we should call together the delegation from Nebraska and decide the collectorship appointment. We immediately asked the Republican members of the house to meet with us at Congressman Boyd's room. The delegation adopted the Iowa plan for federal appointments hereafter. The vote on the collectorship was set for Saturday, Jan. 25."

This terse statement, authorized by Senators Burkett and Brown, tells a most interesting story of a most interesting day with the Nebraska delegation and, besides, it is a triumph for the members of the house of representatives from that state.

It was decided before the conference terminated that the Iowa idea should govern the action of the representatives from Nebraska in the national halls of legislation on statewide positions. This reserves to the individual members of the delegation all postmasters in their several districts, postmasters in home towns of senators and land offices in cities where senators reside. On all other matters of patronage, however, in which the state is interested the delegation will have the right of selection, each member being entitled to one vote.

MR. AND MRS. DEAN.

The Surprise They Gave a Roomful of Blackguards.

In the early part of the nineteenth century Vauxhall was the resort of many respectable persons, especially of those who came up from the country to see London sights. During one season it was infested by a band of roughts, who made it their occupation to insult and molest the most quiet, decent people, especially any whom they guessed to be country visitors. They became such a nuisance that several men about town, among whom were Lord Alvanley and Keppel Craven, laid a plot to get rid of them.

They hired Mendoza, the famous prize fighter, and dressed him up as a dean, with a shovel hat and apron. Another prize fighter, a short man, was dressed as a middle aged lady and passed as the dean's wife, and one evening they were seated at Vauxhall in a conspicuous position to watch the fireworks. It was not long before the old fashioned, countrified pair attracted the attention of the gang, who assailed them with every kind of coarse rallery and insult, all of which they bore very meekly.

At length one of the persecutors, growing bolder by impunity, stepped up to the dean and squirted an orange into his eye. On this the dean, rising, said in a meek, quiet tone, "Really, gentlemen, I have borne a great deal, but I must put a stop to this." With that his hat went one way and his coat another, and, followed by his "wife," he sprang into the middle of the party, hitting out in all directions. Filled with astonishment and terror, some fled and some tried to show fight, but the handling they got from the prize fighters was too severe for the fracas to last long.

All the time Lord Alvanley and his friends, who were in the boxes, were calling out in delight: "Go it, Mr. Dean! Give 'em, Mrs. Dean!" An effectual stop was thus put to the annoyance.—London Spectator.

OFFICERS AND SADDLES.

Jefferson Davis and a Joke He Did Not Appreciate.

When Jefferson Davis was secretary of war he ordered all his generals to learn to ride horseback. No finer horseman than Jefferson Davis ever lived. He won the love and hand of Zach Taylor's daughter by his distinguished presence in the saddle, as well as by his intrepidity at the cannon's mouth. When secretary of war he noticed that only a few officers in the service were capable horsemen and issued an order something like this:

"A liberal reward will be paid to any officer or private in the army who will offer a satisfactory device for keeping our soldiers from falling out of their saddles. Communications to the secretary of war will be regarded as confidential."

Captain George Horatio Derby, one of the leading army engineers of his day, used to write humorous and witty stories over the pen name of John Phoenix. He received a copy of Secretary Davis' order while improving the harbor of San Diego, Cal., and immediately forwarded the most intricate and accurate designs of his plan for keeping officers and men in the saddle. To the seat of each officer's "pants" he attached a bull ring, and another bull ring was attached to the saddle. The two bull rings were to be lashed together when the officer mounted his steed. "If that doesn't hold, nothing will," wrote Phoenix to the secretary. Davis was furious when he got this proposition and immediately ordered that Captain Derby should be court martialed for "official levity." The secretary felt that the army had been disgraced and wanted Derby severely punished. One of his intimates hastened to him. "Jeff," he whispered, "if you order a court martial for this little pleasantry of John Phoenix, one of the salt of the earth and immensely popular in the army, you will be made a laughingstock. The people will ridicule you out of office. Just laugh it off." Davis took his advice.—New York Press.

OLSEN GIRL REPORTED FOUND

Missing Child Said to Be With Gypsy Band at Angus, Neb.

Nelson, Neb., Jan. 21.—It is reported that Lillie Olsen, who disappeared from her home at Rosalie, Neb., a month ago, has been found with a gypsy band at Angus, Neb.

Sheriff Jones, who visited the gypsy camp at Angus, said he was not sure the child is Lillie Olsen, but believes it is possible. The gypsies offered no objection when he had the little girl's picture taken. While none of the band was arrested, the sheriff will see that they are not allowed to leave the country until the girl's identity is definitely known.

Lillie Olsen disappeared from her home near Rosalie, in the northern part of the state, more than a month ago. A careful search of the whole country was made by posses, under the direction of law officers, but without success, and the conclusion was reached that the girl had died of exposure, or been murdered and the body hidden.

MAN HUNT IN NEBRASKA

Posse Is Chasing Assailant of Young Girl Near Curtis.

Lincoln, Jan. 21.—Lincoln police received a request from the town of Wellfleet for the Lincoln bloodhounds to help run down a man who murderously assaulted a young girl and left her for dead.

Later advices from the scene are to the effect that the fifteen-year-old daughter of George Schlekley, a farmer six miles from Wellfleet, while alone in the home, was visited by an unknown man, who criminally assaulted her and then beat her over the head with a beer bottle. She regained consciousness and was able to give a description of the man. A posse is chasing him, and, it is reported, is close to him near the town of Curtis. The girl, who was at first thought dying, may recover.

SIBLEY TO FILE COMPLAINT

Petition Against Burlington is Aimed at All Nebraska Roads.

Lincoln, Jan. 18.—State Senator C. A. His petition has been completed, ready for filing. The complaint is aimed at all Nebraska roads, but the Burlington alone is specified for the reason that it is expected the other roads will join in the issue. If necessary, it will be amended to include all. Senator Sibley swears to the complaint as a farmer and shipper.

Negro Hanged to a Tree and Shot, Cut Down, Still Alive.

Dothan, Ala., Jan. 21.—The negro, Grover Franklin, who was taken away from Sheriff Butler and his deputies and hanged to a tree, is again in the hands of the law and stands a chance for recovery. The mob was so closely followed by the officers and law abiding citizens determined if possible to avert the lynching that they did not have time to get their victim outside the corporate limits and hurriedly stringing him up to the first tree and thinking they had riddled him with bullets, fled. On the arrival of the officers the negro was still alive and was immediately cut down and placed in the county jail. It is thought he will recover.
