The U. S. supreme court decided three important copyright cases, the opinions being handed down by Justice Day. The first decision was in the case of the Bobbs-Merrill company against R. H. Macy & Co. and Isadore H. Strauses, the decision being in favor of Macy & Co. In this case the court dealt with the question whether the sale by a retail dealer of a copyrighted book below the price fixed by the publishers is an infringement of copyright. The Bobbs-Merrill company published a novel and stipulated in a printed notice that it should not be sold for less than $1 per copy. The house of Macy sold the work for 89 cents and suit was brought accordingly in the circuit court of the United States for the southern district of New York, but the bill was dismissed. A like result followed when the case was appealed to the district court of appeals. The suit was based on the theory that the right to dispose of a copyrighted work gives the owner the right to place restrictions on its sale.

PASS CURRENCY BILL

LaFollette's Filibuster Fails in the Senate.

Speaks for Eighteen Hours and Forty-Three Minutes—Money Bill Becomes a Law—Public Building Bill Is Passed—Eckert Explains Coup.

The senate session of the memorable on account of the filibuster of LaFollette, Stone and Gurne against the emergency currency bill, the remarkable interpretation of the rules which go far to establish closure in a body noteworthy for the freedom of debate and by the final passage of the currency bill. LaFollette broke the record as a long distance speaker, having spoken for eighteen hours and forty-three minutes.

The passage of the government employees' liability bill and the adoption of the conference reports on the public buildings and the deficiency appropriation bills immediately followed final action on the Aldrich-Vreeland compromise on the currency measure. To those who gave close attention to the events in the senate during the filibuster which marked the closing of the session, the change in the interpretation of the senate rules was considered of far greater import than the filibuster itself. Senator Burkett (Neb.), who gave close attention to the parliamentary tactics employed by the majority to bring the obstruction to an end, thus summarized the changes which were accomplished:

First—The vice president announced that it was within the province of the chair to count a quorum and that he would not order a roll call if a quorum was actually present.

Second—The senate, by a vote upon a point of order, submitted to it by the vice president, determined that the question of "no quorum" could not be raised until after intervening business if the previous roll call had disclosed a quorum present and that debate was not such intervening business.

Third—A rule of the senate which in practice had always lain dormant was invoked, prohibiting a senator from addressing the senate upon any question more than twice in any one day.

The result of these three interpretations of the rules make it absolutely impossible to prolong debate indefinitely and thus makes a filibuster impossible where the end of the session is indeterminate. By refusing to adjourn and thus continuing the same day until the legislation shall be enacted, it is only a matter of time until any filibustering contingent can be successfully worn out.

YAQUI NATION IS NEARING END

Indians to Sever Tribal Relations and Become Mexican Citizens.

After a war which has continued intermittently for more than 120 years, the Yaqui nation, as a nation, is about to suffer the throes of dissolution, to sever tribal relations and its members are to settle down into peaceable and law-abiding Mexican citizens. Originally numbering twenty thousand or more people, they have never yet acknowledged the authority of the Mexican government, but the end is fast coming and the Yaqui nation will soon be a thing of the past. Although Christianized by the Spanish fathers, they steadfastly refused to accept the dominion of Spain and as soldiers in the revolutionary army materially aided in driving the Spaniards from the country and in later years against the armies of the republic they stubbornly maintained their freedom. Beaten by armies in the field, they retreated to the mountains of Bacatete, and waged unrelenting guerrilla warfare. Quarter was neither asked nor given and the innocent on both sides suffered with the guilty. When exhausted by long struggles, there have been intervals of peace, but under the then existing conditions these could not be lasting, and the first overt act on the part of the Indians or the government led to other bloody and determined struggles.

The Yaqui country is rich in natural advantages.

TRADE REVIEW FOR THE WEEK

Weather, Crop and Business Reports Are Irregular.

Bradstreet's says: Crop and trade reports are irregular. There are some rather less reassuring advices from some sections as to the leading crop, due mainly to excessive rainfall in wide areas, bad roads are a necessary result of this and trade in affected sections naturally has suffered. In other places, where a few days of warm weather has intervened, trade is better, in many instances being due to reductions, which have resulted in large stocks of goods being cleaned up. Taken as a whole the eastern and central western states send best reports as to final distribution. In some primary lines of distribution the better feeling noted some time ago has become more widespread. Thus, in cotton goods reductions or adductions in quantities have become more definite and the same is true of leather, pig iron, some kinds of machinery and railroad track supplies. In some lines of industry, particularly the textile branches, there is a disposition to put more people and machinery to work or to run a longer time, but whether this is a merely temporary reaction from earlier intense dullness or whether it is a definite turn for the better is debated by some observers. That business is much less active in many lines than a year ago is without question.

Failures for the week number 263. Wheat exports for the week aggregate 2,827,285 bushels. Corn exports for the week are 237,151 bushels.

A Famous Regiment.

It is doubtful if any other one regiment furnished an equal number of distinguished officers during the civil war as did the Second United States Cavalry. Among the officers were Albert Sidney Johnston, colonel; Robert E. Lee, lieutenant colonel; William J. Hardee, brevet lieutenant colonel; George H. Thomas, major; Robert E. Lee and A. S. Johnston became generals in the Confederate army, and Hardee became lieutenant general. Thomas became a distinguished general in the Federal army. Among the captains were Earl Van Dorn, E. Kirby Smith and N. G. Evans, all of whom became generals in the Confederate army. I. N. Palmer, George Stoneman and R. W. Johnson held the same positions in the Union army. Among the subalterns John B. Hood, Charles W. Field, Chambliss and Pfifer became southern generals, and R. Garrard and others attained the same place in the northern army. Captain Evans left the United States' service before Colonel Robert E. Lee did, and when they parted at Fort Mason, Tex., Colonel Lee said: "I'm sorry to give you up, Evans. Don't know what may happen before we meet again. Perhaps they'll make you a general."

Helping Him Out.

Mr. Lord looked so grave one evening that his wife, a very young one, noticed it and asked what was the matter.

"I suppose business is troubling you," she surmised shrewdly. "If you've struck a snag, why don't you tell me, and perhaps I may be able to help you?"

After more affectionate adjuration Lord admitted that his payroll bothered him.

"I've made it up as far as the workmen go," he said, "but if I pay the stenographer there won't be a penny left for Davis and me. Davis says he can't stand that. He must have some money this month."

Lord's wife was momentarily grave; then her face brightened.

"Why don't you give the stenographer a month's vacation," she suggested eagerly, "then divide what there is with Davis? It seems to me," judicially, "that would be fair all round."—Youth's Companion.

Captain—If I see your face in my house again I shall slap it. Noble Forciger—Ah, but it's a punishable offense! Captain—Of course it is. That I wish I want to slap it.—Judge.

Male firmness is very often obstinacy. Women have always something better, worth all qualities. They have tact.—Lord Beaconsfield.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell. Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold urine and relieves pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.
