To the People of Red Cloud.

Within the next few days the illustrated Chautauqua program will be placed in your hands. We are all agreed to make this the great event of the year and to do so requires the united efforts of all the people. The success of the Chautauqua in a large measure depends upon the extent of publicity we can give to this great event. The management has and will exert every effort to make the Chautauqua known far and wide but we urgently request the assistance and cooperation of the people of Red Cloud. We would suggest that every business and professional man in this city would send an illustrated program to ten of their friends or acquaintances, by so doing, 1500 or 2000 programs will be placed where they will be productive of the best results. A compliance with this request will be greatly appreciated by the local management.

Big Fireworks at the Ball Grounds the Fourth.

FRANKLIN TAKES BOTH GAMES.

Big Attendance at the Afternoon Game. Red Cloud 0-1 Franklin 5-2

Fourth of July has come and gone but the fans will not forget it. The slaughter of the Red Cloud Mavericks by the Franklin Midgets will ever be remembered. The morning game was won on errors and inability of the Mavericks to hit Short of Franklin. The game started on with Franklin scoring one in the first inning. Saunders dropped a fly in center field letting Bennett get to third base and the next man, Smith, got a two base hit, scoring Bennett. They scored again in the fifth on three singles by Short, Bohner and Warner. Scored two in seventh on an error a sacrifice and two singles and one in the eighth on two hits an error and a batter hit by pitched ball, forcing in a run.

Red Cloud went out one, two, three, in the first, and the second Clegg reached second but could get no further. The third was one, two, three, Fourth Saunders reached second but died there. Fifth Walters singled but got no further than the central station. Sixth and seventh was one, two, three. And in the eighth Walters was out via short to first, Smith binged for the only hit of the game was forced out at second. And in the ninth it was one, two, three and the Mavericks were white washed. Schoonover received a split hand and Saunders had to finish the game behind the bat. Score.

Franklin again defeated Red Cloud by a score of 3 to 1. The game was unlike the morning game, was snappy and interesting from start to finish. Clegg pitched a beautiful game and was supported perfect until near the last of the game, when the usual batch of errors that always succeed in butting in on every game the Mavericks play, made their appearance, and again the Indian signs was hung on to the Captain's Mavericks. The first three innings were fast and snappy going out one, two, three, Clegg walking two Franklin men in the third, but holding them there to die. Franklin scored in the eight on two hits and two errors after Clegg had struck out two men. But the dark colored horse by the name of error had arrived and the boys were doomed. Red Cloud scored their only run in the fourth inning. Braddie walked, Adams was rounded to first, Clegg singled, Saline bunted forcing Adams out at the plate, and still the bases were full and two out with two strikes and three balls on Smith. Schoonover running for Clegg stole home for the only score for Red Cloud for the day. Smith walked and Saunders flew out to first. One score. In the fifth it was one, two, three, and in sixth with a man on second and first and one out they could not hit the ball for a run. The seventh and eighth were one, two, three, and in the ninth after two out Saunders singled but Robinson could not bring him around and the game was over. Score.

NOTES.
Only six hits in two games. Must be something wrong.
Lots of errors and so few hits gave Franklin a couple of games.
Red Cloud made twelve errors in two games on the fourth. How can they win games?
Team work must be added to the work of the Mavericks or they can never start a winning streak.
Schoonover did not play in the second game but his daring steal home was one of the features of the game.
