Report on the South Ward School Building.

To the Board of Education.

Gentlemen: Being requested by your building committee on the 23rd day of June 1908 carefully examined the school building for the purpose of considering its safety and find the conditions as follows:

1. The footings are not built of sufficient width and depth to carry weight of walls thereby allowing building to settle.

2. On account of building settling the walls in numerous places have cracked and settled or spread apart to such an extent that they are unsafe.

3. I find the footings have settled outward, which fact has caused the outside four inches of brick work to break loose from its bonds and become separated from its backing.

4. The building brick being of inferior quality when building was erected have with age and the action of the elements been congealed so they have lost their life and strength, this being especially so with the exposed brick.

5. There is every evidence that the floor joist are not properly anchored, this in part has allowed the building to spread.

After considering the above facts and estimating the strength of walls in their present condition I consider the building unsafe beyond a doubt.

Respectfully submitted,

C. W. WAY Architect.

It would seem to us that this report, coming from Mr. Way, whose ability and standing as an architect is unquestioned, should put an end to the talk about repairing the old building in the south ward. Let us all forget that the building is there, and all unite in getting the new one completed that the children may have a safe and convenient place in which to fit themselves with an education.

McCook Wins First Two Games and Red Cloud Takes the Third.

The Mavericks lost the first game to McCook Monday afternoon by a score of 8 to 1. Red Cloud was in a bad crippled condition only two men in their accustomed places, Boyd Smith and Adams being on the stick list and Schoonover hardly able to play. Doctor Nelson was sent in to the firing line and the bombardment was fierce while it lasted. Two base on balls, a single and a two base hit and coupled with two errors by the Doctor and one by Saline with two fielders' choices gave McCook seven scores which was a very commanding lead. Saline finished the game and though they hit Saline, he was able to keep them from only scoring once on his delivery. Credit should be given captain Schoonover for arranging his line up and his slab artists so as to be able to present a formal line up for Tuesday and Wednesday. Though the game was lost, after Nelson's bad inning the game was well played. Red Cloud scored their solitary run in the first inning, Bradbrook singled, Saline hit safe advancing Braddie to third. Schoonover hit and scored Braddie. Masters singled but Saline was put to sleep on third base. Walters was out to first on a double play on which the captain was caught at the plate. Though the Mavericks hit the ball with an ever lasting vim, they could not bunch their hits when they meant runs. Robinson and Schoonover made some sensational plays and the pitching of Saline helped to make the game liked by all present. Score.

Rain stopped the second game in the first half of the seventh inning. McCook having the lead 5 to 2. Errors and a few rank decisions by the umpire lost another game for the Mavericks to McCook. Masters pitched for the Mavericks and pitched a fine game giving two walks, 5 hits and striking out nine men in six innings. McCook could do nothing in the first inning. In the second they looked dangerous but the pitching of Masters stood off a score. In the third, Elliott singled, Hunter was given a base on balls by Mr. Graves, Bennett hit to Masters who threw wild to third and Elliot scored, Fuller hit to Saline, and Bohner muffed the ball letting Hunter score, during the play Walters was spiked and forced to leave the game. Reynolds blew out, R. Fuller also and Bossen out to first, two scores. Fourth and fifth innings, Masters pitching struck out five men and one fly out they could not see first. In the sixth they scored three runs, four hits and an error by Braddie and an out. Red Cloud scored one in the first. Braddie hit the ball for three bases and Bohner was out from pitcher to first. Schoonover hit to short who fumbled the ball and Braddie scored. Masters hit into a double play and then went out. In the second, third and fourth sharp fielding by McCook kept Mavericks from scoring. In the fifth Clegg singled and was caught on second owing to a lack of team work, allowing Robinson to reach first. Saline was out to short and Nelson singled, and Smith was out to short. No runs. In the sixth Braddie singled, Bohner singled, Schoonover hit to short and Braddie was forced out at third. Masters singled, after passed balls had allowed Bohner and Schoonover to reach second and third, scoring them both. Masters reached second on a passed ball but was caught out on third by Mr. Graves. Clegg walked but Robinson flew out and then it rained like blazes. Score.

THIRD GAME.

Great gobs of joy. Buckets of joy. Let joy be unrestrained and unconfined. Let it spread out and inundate everything. Let joy water be everywhere. Let joy overflow the being, let it know no bounds for did not the aggregation commonly known as the Mavericks, on the afternoon of Wednesday, July 15, buckle on their batting clothes and win a game on the home grounds. Is not the above paroxysm excusable in the face of such a happening? It is.

Masterly pitching, sharp fielding and fine support, and the team batting when hits meant runs enabled the Mavericks to shut out McCook 3 to 0.

McCook was spellbound by the superb pitching of Clegg and only once were they any ways near attempting to spoil the ciphers, that was in the fifth inning, Boosen hit to left field for two bases, Moorhead struck out, Smith dropped Braddie's throw after he had scooped up Elliott's grounder then Haggerty pitched ball and struck out Shape and Harper, and McCook was never near scoring again. Only two hits were made off Clegg and he passed only one man, striking out thirteen men, captured one put out, had three assists, only marring his superb playing by erroring Harper's grounder allowing him to reach first. Bradbrook deserves special mention for his batting, capturing a three bagger and a double. Also Saline hit for two base hit and a single out of three times up. Schoonover's work in center was a feature capturing three hard drives. Braddie in the first inning hit for two bases but was caught at third. In the second Walters singled and reached second on an error of the first baseman. Saline hit for two bases scoring Walters. Clegg beat out a bunt, Smith was hit by the ball and Nelson hit into a double play going out at first and Saline caught at the pan, one run. In the third Schoonover singled and was sacrificed to second but was caught at third. In the fifth the real fireworks began B. Smith the first man up walked to first on four balls, Nelson singled and then the little Braddie learned against one of Bennett's far famed dope balls for three big luncy y sacks scoring Smith and Nelson. Schoonover flew out to left field and Bohner struck out, two runs. The sixth on a walk, a hit and a sacrifice got men to third and second but could not score them, but we had enough, the rest of the game was one, two, three and the crowd went home happy. The game was fast and was not marred by any unfair decisions and everyone was happy. Now for Superior. Score.

NOTES.

Hurrah for the girl rooters. Now for Superior. Watch our boys.

At last Mr. Bennett got his bump going, going, gone. Hurrah for Braddie

Every little bit helps, and that goes as we are still two games ahead of McCook.

Deaths and Funerals.

Clark M. Storey was born at Rome, N. Y., April 7, 1843, and died at the home of his son John near Cowles, Tuesday morning, July 14, 1908, aged 65 years, 3 months and 7 days, the immediate cause of his death being congestion of the heart.

In 1843 Mr. Storey moved to Wisconsin, and several years later, in 1851, he went to California. In 1860 he was married, his wife dying in this city in 1863. Six children, four boys and two girls, were born to them. The girls are both dead.

Mr. Storey and his family came to this county in 1878, just thirty years ago, and he was probably one of the best known men in Webster county. He is survived by his four sons, H. C. of Prescott, Ariz.; Ed of St. Joe, Mo.; John of Cowles, and Paul of this city.

The funeral services were held from the residence of John Storey near Cowles Wednesday, and the remains buried in the Red Cloud cemetery.
