What Bryan Could Do.

It is a favorite argument of republican leaders, when arguing with progressive republicans, that they should not desert to the Bryan standard because, even if elected, "Bryan couldn't accomplish anything." Fortunately, republican leaders have to argue not only with progressive republicans but with those who are called "conservatives" or "standpatters." It happens, at times, that the argument they make to the one kind of republicans completely vitiates the argument made to the other kind.

In a most gratifying manner, for example, the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, when summoning its stand pat readers to stand pat on Taft, answers the argument that "Bryan couldn't accomplish anything." This is what the Globe-Democrat says, when it argues from the viewpoint of those who are opposed to the Bryan and Roosevelt policies:

It is a mistake to suppose that the election of a man like Bryan would bring no ill effects to the country. His election would probably carry with it a Bryanite house of representatives. It would be likely to carry with it several Bryanite legislatures which would choose Bryanite senators. The big republican majority in the senate would be reduced, and the new members would be of the Bryanite order. Moreover, the pressure of a Bryanite president and house of representatives, reinforced by some new senators of the same stripe, would be likely to weaken the republican in some spots, for a Bryan victory could easily be made to appear to be a popular mandate for reckless legislation. * * * The only way to keep Bryan harmless is to roll up a larger majority against him in 1908 than was cast against him in 1900.

What the Globe-Democrat means, of course, by "reckless legislation," is legislation reducing the tariff, unloosing the claws of monopoly from the throat of competition, providing for guaranteed bank deposits, establishing an income tax, taking the control of the national currency from Wall street and restoring it to Washington, and carrying out other policies of the Denver platform. The "ill effects" these reforms would have on the country the Globe-Democrat fails to specify, but what it means is that such things would be disturbing to special privilege. But that is exactly what most people are anxious to accomplish—to jar special privilege loose, so that the rest of us can get a chance.

The Globe-Democrat's argument is an admission that, with Bryan elected, it is easily possible that something of this sort will be brought about.—World-Herald.

STATE SENATOR ASHTON of Grand Island was a pleasant caller at this office Monday. Mr. Ashton is candidate from this district for the nomination for congressman on the Democratic and Peoples' Independent tickets. He is a clean, conscientious gentleman, and deserves serious consideration from the voters of this district. His record in the state senate of two years ago will convince anyone of his ability, and is proof that he will always be found on the side of the people.

Organized Agriculture will hold a meeting at the Live Stock Pavilion State Fair grounds, Lincoln, at 10 o'clock, Thursday, Sept. 3rd, and at 10:30 will be the meeting of the Corn Improvers Association at which every person interested in the success of the National Corn Show at Omaha, is requested to attend.

Labor Commissioner Ryder has something up his sleeve for those who attend the meeting of the live real estate men at the Live Stock Pavilion on the State Fair grounds, Lincoln, Thursday morning, Sept. 3rd at 11:00 o'clock.

Nebraska railroads, with one exception have granted a fare of three cents for the round trip where the fare exceeds $1.00, to the State Fair at Lincoln, Aug. 31st to Sept. 4th.

ABANDON THEIR OLD CUSTOM.

Peruvian Women Replace Sombre Headgear with Colors.

As the visitors from the American fleet went about in Lima, one change, national in character, impressed itself upon them immediately. Every writer on Peru has commented on the fact that the headdress of the women, worn universally, is the black manta. It is said that it is a relic that has come down from the Incas when they put on mourning for their great chief Atahu-alpa. Rich and poor have worn that headdress on the street for centuries. It was an established institution.

Well, it is going. About one-half of the women, some of them in good circumstances evidently, wore mantas on the streets, but as for the rest—well, a man has no business to write about women's hats. All that this man can say is that he never saw more dazzling specimens of flower gardens than those bobbing around over the graceful drapery with which the Peruvian women adorn themselves.

Thus does fashion war successfully upon established custom. The Peruvian woman loves a beautiful hat just as much as any other woman on earth. Moreover, what is said about her surpassing beauty is true. Given great beauty and the love of a hat on the part of a woman—what chance has a black manta got? The manta has got to go and is going. Truly this is a world of change and there are those who will say it is one of decay, but let no one breathe that in a fashionable millinery shop in Lima.

BELIEVES IN WOMEN'S CLUBS.

Mrs. Julia Ward Howe Thinks Them a Power for Good.

Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, now almost a nonagenarian, is still moved by living enthusiasm for the cause she has so long supported. To a young southern writer who was introduced to her in Boston last year Mrs. Howe, after due exchange of conversation, said: "And now, my dear, go home and start a little club for women; any kind of a little club, but make them meet and read and talk. That is what I did. I can't tell you how many little clubs I've started in my day." One can easily realize what a godsend to dull and shut-in lives Mrs. Howe's clubs may have been a half century ago, when the outlets to women's lives were fewer than they are now. Clubs nowadays, however, are accused of drawing women away from more serious and worthy pursuits than they can furnish them.

The Dog, the Cat and the Lady.

Yesterday evening, shortly after seven o'clock, a daintily attired young lady was passing our galleries in Regent street, where is now on exhibition a collection of old sporting prints. The galleries had just been closed and the staff gone, and the housekeeper's cat was enjoying the cool of the evening outside, when the lady's companion—a ferocious bulldog—flew at the cat and both dashed through the window, doing damage to the extent of many pounds. The cat was almost instantly killed, and as the usual crowd quickly gathered, a lady discreetly hailed a taxicab and, followed by her sporting companion, who seemed none the worse for his dash through a half-inch plate-glass window, drove quickly from the scene.—London Telegraph.

Woman's Record Bass Catch.

The largest striped bass caught by a woman with rod and line on this coast was captured a few days ago in Larkspur slough by Mrs. Carrie M. Blundon. The fish scaled 23 pounds dressed, and was replete in spawn at the time of its death. The successful fisherwoman said that she was using a very light rod at the time the big fish snapped her clam bait from the mud bottom, but the battle it gave for its freedom was not what the angler expected. In fact, it succumbed within ten minutes of the time it was hooked. Mrs. Blundon is, however, very proud of her achievement.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Entitled to Admission.

Rev. Edward Everett Hale, chaplain of the senate, went over to the state department a short time ago to see Secretary Root. He didn't know it was diplomatic day at the department, when only diplomats are received during certain hours. He started to go into Secretary Root's office when a messenger stopped him. "Are you a foreign minister?" "No," replied Dr. Hale, "I am a domestic minister," and that settled that.

Out of Usual Ruts.

It is interesting to come across something original in an epigrammatic way once in a while in a new book. Miss Willcock's "A Man of Genius" makes one pause over a paragraph long enough to read it twice, every once in a while. "You've got a temperature of 104, Tolstol—and I can't operate. If you'd caught something in its instead of Ism, I might," some one says, and again, "Thinking is like sugar—good for the young, but gouty for the old."

Like Exciting Stories.

At the annual meeting of the American Library association at Lake Minnetonka C. L. Pearson declared that boys love exciting stories, and that if they are to be induced to read they must have such stories. If they can't get good ones of the kind they will take bad ones, and it behooves the writers to remember these things in connection with the tastes of a boy.

To the voters of Webster County: I hereby respectfully announce myself a candidate for renomination upon the Democratic and Peoples' Independent tickets to the office of County Attorney subject to the decision of the voters at the primary election.

L. H. BLACKLEDGE.

A Master Stroke of Typewriter Invention

New liver Automatic Tabulator, a Twin Improvement to the Oliver Ruling Device.

Just a simple, clean-cut mechanism for tabulating—operated by a single key.

Yet that single key unlocks scores of doors to added typewriter convenience. It does away with the brain tension of tabulating. The movements of carriage are controlled by unseen fingers. The tabulator works automatically with unvarying accuracy.

Equipped with its new Automatic Tabulator, which can be operated in connection with the Oliver Line Ruling Device, the Oliver's sphere of usefulness is unlimited.

In the work of writing and ruling statistical reports, invoices, statements, inventories, etc.—listing Checks, Deposit Slips, Cash Items, Vouchers, cash and credit sales, Trial

Balances, Pay Rolls, Cost Records and scores of similar tabulated records, Oliver No. 5 has no equal. It is the only machine that covers the whole broad field of modern commercial work in a satisfactory way.

The Oliver Automatic Tabulator is an integral part of every new machine—furnished without a cent of additional charge.

It caps the climax of a long series of improvements given to the world in the magnificent new Oliver No. 5.

Each of these remarkable innovations—the Oliver Tabulator and the Oliver Ruling Device—supplements the other.

Together they form a combination of untold value in all branches of commercial accounting.

The Oliver Typewriter is first of all a correspondence machine—supreme in splendid service. It makes work a pleasure by providing automatic means of spacing, tabulating, ruling, indicating exact printing point, securing proper register, etc.

The saving of time, of mental calculation, of manipulation, of extra attention and of eye strain is an incalculable benefit to the operator.

And the gain in volume of work well done—without extra operative effort—means much to every employer.

Write for the new Oliver Catalog—or better still—ask the nearest Oliver Agent for a demonstration of Model No. 5.

NOTICE!

We want the public to know that we still have bargains in real estate. We have traveled over seventeen different counties in the western part of this state and are now prepared to show the best land you can get any where for the same money. We beg of you, who are thinking of buying a home or investing in real estate, to go with some reliable agent, who is a good judge of land, and that will work for your interest.

Just to show you that we have a good country and are doing business on the square, we wish to tell you that we have sold over 30,000 acres in Chase county in the last two years, and you never hear of any of our customers trying to sell out and go to Texas or any other place. But they will stand up for Nebraska and also for the man that sold them Nebraska land.

The corn now, in Chase county, is better than it is here. It is now in tassel and we look for a No. 1 corn crop out there this year. Now we do not ask you to take only our word for this, but if you want land ask somebody about the west that has been there and knows the country well and also is a good judge of land. Remember we are not trying to sell land a thousand miles from home, but are selling in old Nebraska where we know the land is good.

Ask anyone about the west that has ever been out with us or Mr. Walker, who is a leading real estate man here and a friend to the west) well posted on the western parts of the state, and is a good judge of land.

Now remember, we pay all the hotel and livery bills of our prospective buyers, and anyone that finds that we have misrepresented the land in any way their transportation will cost them nothing. Call in and see us and let us tell you of some of the bargains we have.

Yours for a square business,

WHY you should BUY
PIANOS

FAMOUS AS THE BEST
PIANO IN THE WORLD
FOR THE MONEY

KOHLER & CAMPBELL PIANOS
Eleventh Ave. & Fiftieth St., New York

If you have girls it is your intention to sometime provide them with a piano. It has come to be recognized as the KING of all musical instruments, and a girl's musical education is worth more to her through life than any other one accomplishment. It is in fact, a NECESSITY.

But you already know this, and you are only waiting till the conditions are just right for you to buy her an instrument. In the Spring you wait to see what the prospects for a crop will be, and you promise the girls and yourself (and the piano man) that if the crops are good you will buy this season.

This season has been an IDEAL one. The rains have fallen at the right time. The sun has shone just long enough to allow you to cut and stack your Alfalfa and small grains; then when you thought it might get too DRY the rains began again.

Have you noticed that Providence has been very kind, even to cause the rains which we wanted, to fall in the night after the Chautauqua exercises were over for the day.

Have You Anything to Complain About?

My stock of HIGH-GRADE pianos is now complete TOO complete for my pocketbook, unless I can turn them quick, and I have waited for "conditions to be just right" so long that I NEED MONEY. If you expect to buy a piano any time, it will pay you to get in the market NOW. I will make you prices on the basis of SPOT CASH sales, but if you have not yet realized CASH out of your crops and stock, I will take your paper for a short time WITHOUT interest. I can use your paper and you can use the pianos; and "we'll all be happy then."

NOW DON'T WAIT. Call on me, then you can see the pianos and make the best BARGAINS. You will be surprised to find that you can buy STANDARD PIANOS as cheap as ordinary "Stencils" are priced elsewhere. You should take no chances in buying a piano. It should be looked upon as a life-time investment.

"BETTER BE SURE THAN SORRY"

If you cannot come in, call up phone 116 and I will come to see you.
