

THE KENTUCKIAN WAS PLEASED

HE SECURED A GOOD HALF-SECTION IN CENTRAL CANADA.

It is not only from Kentucky, but from thirty-five to forty different States that there comes the expression of satisfaction from those who have taken up lands in Central Canada as a free homestead or have purchased lands.

Mr. E. K. Bell, of Frankfort, Kentucky, writes to a Canadian Government Official, and says: "I have just returned from Alberta, overjoyed with my trip. Your literature was very flattering, but no half what I found it. I bought a half section between Calgary and Edmonton, one mile from railroad, near a good town. This is the best country I ever saw or ever expect to see. I will go in the spring and get to work on my place. I think it is the coming Country of the World." Some of the papers describe the settling of the Canadian West as "becoming a fever with a great many people. The lure of its golden promises is creeping into their hearts and many are they who are answering the call of that unsettled territory." This paper editorially cautions its readers to exercise care and thought before moving to a distant country. This would be a wise precaution, and is exactly what the Canadian officials ask.

The success of the settler who has made Canada his home for years is the best evidence that can be offered. And of the large number of Americans who have made their homes in Canada, very few have returned. All are satisfied.

RAW ECZEMA ON HANDS

"I had eczema on my hands for ten years. I had three good doctors but none of them did any good. I then used one box of Cuticura Ointment and three bottles of Cuticura Resolvent and was completely cured. My hands were raw all over, inside and out, and the eczema was spreading all over my body and limbs. Before I had used one bottle, together with the Cuticura Ointment, my sores were nearly healed over, and by the time I had used the third bottle, I was entirely well. To any one who has any skin or blood disease I would honestly advise them to fool with nothing else, but to get Cuticura and get well. My hands have never given me the least bit of trouble up to now.

"My daughter's hands this summer became perfectly raw with eczema. She could get nothing that would do them any good until she tried Cuticura. She used Cuticura Resolvent and Cuticura Ointment and in two weeks they were entirely cured. I have used Cuticura for other members of my family and it always proved successful. Mrs. M. E. Falin, Speers Ferry, Va., Oct. 19, 1909."

What the Doctor Did.

Gustave Ulyatt has a little daughter who hasn't been well recently. The other day a physician was called to the Ulyatt home to see her. He examined the child with the aid of a stethoscope. When her father came home that evening he asked what the doctor had said.

"Notin'," replied the little girl. "What did he do?" asked Mr. Ulyatt.

"He just telephoned me all over," was the child's reply.—Denver Post.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Mucus lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed by a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

HIGH PRICES ARE CAUSE OF WORRY

Many Congressmen Fear Their Seats Will Be Endangered By Dissatisfaction

FAVOR BROAD INVESTIGATION

Democrats Discuss Harmon, Marshall and Gaylor for Presidential Nomination—Numerous Candidates for Speaker Cannon's Place.

Washington.—Many of the Republican members of congress, especially those of the lower house, who fear that their seats may be endangered at the coming election, are in favor of having a widespread investigation into the cases of the high prices of the necessities of life that shall take in the entire country. It is possible that under the scope of the resolution introduced into the senate by Senator Elkins the inquiry which many of the Republicans desire may be undertaken.

Uncle Sam is looking into the matter, as it relates specifically to the District of Columbia, over which he has full legal control. The committee that is probing into the reasons for the high prices of food in the District is getting much material that relates to the rest of the country, and it is possible that this one investigation will do much of the work that the Republicans who fear a loss of their seats, think ought to be done.

Representative J. Hampton Moore of Pennsylvania and six fellow members of the house committee of the District of Columbia are still hard at the task of trying to find out what it is that makes everything that a man wants to eat and to wear, cost so much in these United States. Mr. Moore is a protectionist of protectionists and naturally he hopes it will be proved that the tariff has nothing to do with the present high prices. He seems to be full of confidence that such will be the case, but the Democratic members of the committee who are looking into the subject believe that when they get through they will have material which can be used to the advantage of the Democratic party in its contention that the high tariff makes high prices without a corresponding increase in salaries and wages.

President Deeply Interested.

There is a deep interest felt by President Taft in the investigation now in progress. The opening day of the inquiry in the committee room of the house of representatives was the same day that saw the beginning of the investigation into the activities of the meat packers in Chicago. The latter investigation is a grand jury affair, but it is possible that when all the returns are in that the evidence adduced in Chicago will be of service to the members of congress who are trying to get at the facts. By the time the sub-committee is ready to report, the public will have pretty full knowledge of the testimony of the witnesses that have appeared before it, and the country probably will have made up its mind as to the facts in the case and will not be moved from a decision by the report which the committee turns in.

Some of the representatives in congress, Democrats as well as Republicans, think that the whole thing will resolve itself into a case of statements and counterstatements by the producers, the middle men and the packers and manufacturers. If the congressional committee can get the truth of the case the country probably will be glad of it, provided a remedy can be applied. There are those in Washington who say, however, that the whole investigation will be futile.

Democrats Eye White House.

Gov. Judson Harmon of Ohio, who will try to succeed himself in the chief office of his state, has said that he will do nothing to further any possible presidential ambition which he may have until after he knows whether the Ohioans like him well enough to re-elect him as their chief executive.

In this way the governor has tried to take himself out of the immediate field of presidential speculation, but the Democrats in Washington will not so have it. The members of the present minority party in congress seem to feel perfectly sure that they are to control the next house of representatives. The Republicans naturally laugh at this claim and say that the Democrats are simply in the same old hopeful mood and that hope is all that they will get out of it. The Democrats retort with the statement that the majority of the people of the country do not like the tariff bill and that they are blaming it for the high price of living and that on the strength of these two issues alone the Democracy is to come into power in the lower house in the Sixty-second congress.

The Democrats are talking about Gov. Harmon and about Gov. Marshall of Indiana and Mayor Gaylor of New York, and last, but not least, William Jennings Bryan of Nebraska. It is the seeming certainty of the Democrats that they are to carry the next house of representatives that makes them today so active in their gossip about the party's nominee for the presidency, and so Gov. Harmon's desire to be left out of consideration until after he has shown that he can carry Ohio again is not being heeded.

The Washington Democrats would like to know on whom the smile of William J. Bryan will shine. It is admitted that Mr. Bryan's endorsement is absolutely necessary to give any Democrat's campaign for the presidency a fair start.

There are Democrats who believe that Champ Clark, the Democratic leader in the house, may be an out-and-out candidate for the presidency and that this will be more likely to happen if the next house shall be Democratic and Mr. Clark be honored with its speakership.

The Republicans realize that Gov. Harmon has a good deal of strength in Ohio, which is Taft's state. One Democrat said, "Harmon can carry Ohio." Another Democrat instantly answered, "Marshall can carry Indiana and Ohio too," and another Democrat, not to be outdone, said, "Champ Clark can carry Indiana, Ohio and Missouri, too."

Many Seek Speakership.

Who will be the next Speaker of the House of Representatives? Matters have moved along so rapidly in one direction that most of the close friends of Speaker Cannon in the House admit that the chances are before very long he will come out with a statement to the effect that he is not to be considered as a candidate for reelection to succeed himself in the office that generally is accredited with having more power attached to it than any other office except that of president of the United States.

The number of men who would like to be Speaker is perhaps limited only by the membership of the House. There are comparatively few members, however, who by length of service and by shown and known ability have the right, without exciting either smile or criticism, to announce their candidacy for the high honor.

Cannon's Re-election Improbable.

The men who are close to Speaker Cannon personally and politically, have been saying very freely recently that while they do not think there is any real reason why Mr. Cannon should not aspire to be his own successor, there is, as far as they are concerned, a real reason why they should not urge him to stand for re-election. They say their constituents have come to believe that Mr. Cannon has been in office long enough and that their representatives in congress should vote for some other man.

It is an assured fact that enough of the so-called "regular" Republicans have intimated that they will not vote again for Mr. Cannon to insure that his re-election to the Speakership is practically impossible. The regulars whose constituents have said that they do not look with favor on another term in the Speakership for the Danville man, added to the insurgents who have been against Mr. Cannon's rule of the House for a long time, make enough Republicans virtually to compass the Speaker's defeat if he should offer himself again for the first place in the House.

It is probable that if Speaker Cannon could name his successor in office he would select Representative Olmstead of Pennsylvania. Mr. Olmstead has presided over the affairs of the House when it was sitting "as a committee of the whole" a great many times, having been called to the chair by the Speaker to preside in his temporary absence. Mr. Olmstead politically is a firm believer in what the country has come to know as the Cannon doctrine. He is an extreme high protectionist and he believes that the rules of the House as they at present exist are the best possible regulations by which the House can be governed.

Hope of the "Insurgents."

With the exception of the Republican members from the state of Wisconsin, most of the representatives from the middle western states which lie east of the Mississippi river have stood consistently in the ranks of the regulars and in support of the rule of Speaker Cannon. The eastern representatives in the main have been "regular," although Representative Augustus Peabody Gardner of Massachusetts, son-in-law of Henry Cabot Lodge, has been as much of an insurgent as has Victor Murdock of Kansas, who ordinarily is looked upon as the chief of the "rebellious" forces.

Most of the real insurgents, those who have been insurgents through good weather and bad, come from west of the great river. They are too few in number to hope to elect one of their own kind as Speaker of the next House and they see little chance of enough insurgent gain in the east to overcome the majority which the regulars now hold, and which they seem likely to hold in a depleted form during the next congress. It is the hope of the insurgents, as they express it openly, that some middle westerner may be chosen who is neither a hide-bound man as Speaker whose election will be something in the nature of a compromise and who of necessity will be more kindly disposed toward the insurgent ranks than Mr. Cannon has been.

Of course in casting about for candidates for the speakership the Republicans are taking for granted a victory at the polls next November. They admit that they will have a hard fight on their hands, and that they will be obliged to defend the tariff bill against the violent assaults of the Democratic enemy. The Democrats are so cheerful over the prospect of the November elections that already they see Champ Clark in Joseph G. Cannon's seat, and, looking a little bit beyond this, some of them see the Missouri representative in the field as a strong candidate for his party's nomination for the presidency.

GEORGE CLINTON.

This Contractor got results. He knew how to feed his men. Some years ago a contractor building a railroad in a warm climate was troubled a great deal by sickness among the laborers.

He turned his attention at once to their food and found that they were getting full rations of meat and were drinking water from a stream near by.

He issued orders to cut down the amount of meat and to increase greatly the quantity of Quaker Oats fed to the men.

He also boiled Quaker Oats and mixed the thin oatmeal water with their drinking water.

Almost instantly all signs of stomach disorders passed and his men showed a decided improvement in strength and spirits.

This contractor had experience that taught him the great value of good oatmeal.

The H's lived in the country, kept chickens and lived the simple life. One of their daily diversions was to sit on the front veranda and watch the sunset and Roberta, aged four, sat and watched with them, but it was a rather tedious as well as solemn occasion for her and one day, after watching in silence for quite a while, an explanation of the whole thing suddenly dawned upon her and with the delighted enthusiasm of a discoverer she exclaimed: "Oh, mamma, I know now why it takes the sun so long to set. It has to hatch out so many little stars!"—Los Angeles Times.

Attention Sick Women

If you had positive proof that a certain remedy for female ills had made many remarkable cures, would you not feel like trying it?

If during the last thirty years we have not succeeded in convincing every fair-minded woman that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured thousands and thousands of women of the ills peculiar to their sex, then we long for an opportunity to do so by direct correspondence. Meanwhile read the following letters which we guarantee to be genuine and truthful.

Hudson, Ohio.—"I suffered for a long time from a weakness, inflammation, dreadful pains each month and suppression. I had been doctoring and receiving only temporary relief, when a friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so, and wrote to you for advice. I have faithfully followed your directions and now, after taking only five bottles of the Vegetable Compound, I have every reason to believe I am a well woman. I give you full permission to use my testimonial."

St. Regis Falls, N. Y.—"Two years ago I was so bad that I had to take to my bed every month, and it would last from two to three weeks. I wrote to you for advice and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in dry form. I am happy to say that I am cured, thanks to your medicine and good advice. You may use my letter for the good of others."—Mrs. J. H. Breyer, St. Regis Falls, N. Y.

There is absolutely no doubt about the ability of this grand old remedy, made from the roots and herbs of our fields, to cure female diseases. We possess volumes of proof of this fact, enough to convince the most skeptical.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

WESTERN CANADA

What Governor Densen, of Illinois, Says About It!

Governor Densen, of Illinois, owns a section of land in Saskatchewan, Canada. He has said in an interview: "As an American I am delighted to see the remarkable progress of Western Canada. Our people are flocking across the boundary in thousands, and have not yet met one who admitted to have made a mistake. They are all doing well. The climate is good, the soil is rich, the water is pure, and the people are all well. It is a wonderful country, and one that every American should know."

This is positively the GREATEST new fruit and the best NOVELTY of modern times. These are facts which no one can get away from. The proofs are overwhelming in number and conclusive in character. Grown last year by 350,000 people.

Fruit blue-black like an enormous rich blueberry in looks and taste. Unsurpassed for eating raw, cooked, canned or preserved in any form. This great garden fruit is equally valuable in hot, dry, cold or wet climates. Earliest plant in the world to grow, succeeding anywhere and yielding great masses of rich fruit all summer and fall. The greatest home-to-the-family garden ever known. Leaves and branches are also used for greens and are superb. Everybody can and will grow it.

Luther Burbank, of California, the world famous plant wizard, originated the Wonderberry and turned it over to me to introduce. He says of it: "This absolutely new berry plant is of great interest and value as it bears the most delicious, wholesome and healthful berries in the most profusion and always comes true from seed."

Read my CATALOGUE, pages 2 and 3, for full description, culture, uses, etc. (Also Colored Plate.) With scores of testimonials from well-known and reputable people all over the country. Also the "Cause of the Wonderberry."
