Supt. Poulson says of the growth of the State Anti-Saloon League, "Our membership increased 5000 between January 20th and February 4th. It now numbers 85,000 and probably will soon pass the 100,000 mark. This is not a list of nondescript names, but is a selected lot of men who presumably stand for the things that are truly American. This is not the work of any one man, nor of any one church or society. It is the work of the people of Nebraska themselves, who believe they have a right to govern themselves on a question of such vital importance as that of the liquor traffic. The Anti-Saloon League will make the issue clear and definite. The people have the responsibility of voting."

Mr. Bryan's article on county option is about as clear as the English language can make it. In spite of this fact, editors are calling him a prohibitionist, as if that were a term of reproach. If they mean he has gone over to the ranks of the prohibition party, they are not telling the truth, and they know it. If they mean that his article is an argument for prohibition, they are equally culpable.

It looks to us as if Mr. Bryan's position was carefully defended. He is evidently a democrat, but a consistent one. In this respect he differs from the whisky democrats who favor the rule of the people, if the people will let the liquor traffic alone. This is not consistent for a democrat, but quite so for a whiskeyite.

This is no time to indulge in personal attacks and no time to waste in passing compliments, but Mr. Bryan's stand stamps him as one of our truly great men. He has deliberately taken a stand on a great moral question that is perfectly consistent for a democrat, but one that will forever alienate the whisky element in the dominant parties. It will possibly interfere with any personal ambition he may have had, though we think it will make him more popular than ever. If Mr. Bryan does espouse the cause of the Anti-Saloon forces, he will put at a charge of moral dynamite beneath the liquor traffic that will cause the utter destruction of all that is tied up to the crime-breeding institution; traffic and parties.

His declaration, "The democratic party cannot afford to act as the mouthpiece of the liquor interests. It can have nothing in common with the selfish, mercenary and conscienceless crusade that the liquor interests have organized against the home and the state—against private virtue and public morals," marks a new epoch in this anti-saloon warfare. The liquor traffic has too long outraged public sentiment; even today with all its protestations in favor of closing the objectionable dives, it is still trying to defeat legislation that is designed to give the people their rights. Every move the liquor people make is a blow at democracy. No wonder Mr. Bryan rebels. He will have a large and respectable following.

Mr. Bryan's utterance does not stamp him as a fanatic; it proves him to be a democrat. What absurd positions some men are taking to justify the party label! Parties are divided into at least two classes. Those who are partisans because they believe in the fundamental principles of the party, and those who wear the party label to get into office. One class is honorable, the other onerous.
