Secretary of the Navy Meyer received the president upon his arrival. A feature of the occasion was an exhibition drill by sailors of the Mayflower, of the Dolphin and the navy yard. President Taft danced but once and then but for a few moments, his sister-in-law, Mrs. Louis Moore, being his partner.

After three days of sharp controversy, the senate passed the house bill so amending the employer's liability law as to give the state courts concurrent jurisdiction with the federal courts in dealing with suits for damages growing out of accidents. FILE FOR POSITIONS

PLENTY OF APPLICANTS FOR NORMAL PRINCIPALSHIPS.

ENGINEER HURD'S REPORT

Physical Value of Railroads as Shown for a Period Covering Three Months.

So far twenty applications have been filed for places as principals of the three normal schools—Peru, Chadron and Wayne. The Chadron school is yet to be constructed and the Wayne school will not be conducted by the state until an appropriation for its maintenance has been made by the legislature. It is possible, however, that the committee on teachers will make its recommendations to the State Normal board at its next meeting of Bishop, chairman; Shellhorn and McDonald.

J. A. Beattie of Lincoln, United States Commissioner of Columbus and William R. Jackson of University Place have applied for the position of head of the school at Wayne, while D. W. Hayes of Alliance, a former member of the State Normal board, and S. R. Martin of St. Paul have applied for the place at Chadron. Inasmuch as Professor Hayes of Alliance has served on the State Normal board with the present membership, having been succeeded recently by Mr. Tooley of Custer county, appointed by Governor Shallenberger, it is a good guess to say he will be selected for the Chadron school. The other applicants did not signify their choice of schools.

Values of Railroad Property.

R. C. Hurd, chief engineer in charge of the work of placing a value upon the railway property of the state under the provisions of the LINCOLN NEWS—THREE. physical valuation law enacted last winter has filed a report covering a period from December to April. The report shows that four of the railroads have filed complete statements as required and four more have made partial reports. In addition to these reports ninety-six plans of structure have been received which with the number reported previous makes a total of 443. Construction profits of 883 miles have been received making a total of 1,595 miles of roadway, including terminals, have been received.

There has been inspected 1,127 miles of roadway, which added to that reported previously makes a total of 2,797 miles, including five large terminals. Sixteen mechanical plants have been investigated, covering about 90 per cent of this class of property in the state. Special inspection has been made of the principal and larger buildings located at fourteen different points in addition to the standard structure occurring in the total mileage of roadway covered.

Right-of-way has been investigated to the extent of 1,582 miles, located in forty-two of the more important towns and cities of the state. The mileage when taken with the 1,870, previously reported, makes a total of 3,452 miles investigated.

Hastings Telephone Rates.

The railway commission has granted the request of the Hastings Independent Telephone company to increase its rates. When the company applied for permission to make an increase all of the physicians in Hastings signed a protest and said they would take out their phones and patronize the Bell company if the independent company increased its rates. Nine physicians since that time have asked that their names be withdrawn from the protest.

State Fair Attractions.

The Lombardo Symphony band of forty-four pieces and an opera company of twenty-four voices have been secured by Secretary Mellor for the next state fair. Negotiations are still pending for a series of aeroplane flights, the price asked by the Wrights being considered too high. The week's flight would cost $10,000 if the Wrights were to be given the contract. Secretary Mellor has written to Glen Curtiss to find out on what terms he can be secured. It is believed that $5,000 is about as high as the state board will go for a week's aeroplaning.

No Increased Assessment.

The appeal of the Bankers' Life, the Western Fire and the Farmers' and Merchants' insurance companies from an increase in assessment in Lancaster county has been sustained.

Addison Wait Candidate.

Addison Wait, deputy secretary of state, has formally announced his candidacy for the republican nomination for secretary of state.

To Kill Dandelions.

University officials have started an experiment that is expected to kill the dandelions on the university campus. It had been tried to a small extent at the farm last summer and seemed to be effective. The liquid used is iron sulphate and it is sprayed on these dandelions in the early spring.

NEW NORMAL SCHOOL.

Matter to be Settled in the Supreme Court.

The importance of a decision on the injunction asked to block the location of the new normal school at Chadron was diminished by an agreement between the attorneys that the case should be submitted at once to the supreme court for final adjudication.

N. K. Griggs, attorney for the Burlington, and C. C. Flansburg argued the case of the Alliance men who sought the injunction. Grant Martin, deputy attorney general, F. M. Hall and A. W. Cristes represented the Chadron interests and those of the normal board.

Judge Crites insisted that the people of Chadron might be seriously damaged by further delay, as about 2,000 feet of sewer must be laid to the contemplated school, and this will, he stated, cost about three times as much later in the summer as it will now. Upon this showing Judge Frost ordered an order drawn to indemnify Chadron for such loss. This was withdrawn afterwards, however, on the suggestion of the Chadron attorneys. The temporary injunction was secured on representations that the present normal board had no power to let the contract, that there were no such officers as are named in the normal school bill and that the Chadron people were unable to furnish proper title to the land on which the school is to be built.

The appropriation was $25,000. Applications were filed only by Alliance within the original time limit of the bill. Later applications were filed after the supreme court had settled upon the board that should continue in existence and Attorney General Thompson gave the board an opinion that these later applications met the spirit of the law and should be considered as if there had been no interruption in the activities of the board.

Damage to Forest Reserve.

D. Clem Deaver, who was in the city for the conservation congress, received word from the government forest reserve near Dunning, this state, that great damage was done to the reserve in the recent prairie fire that swept a tract of country ninety miles long in the valleys of the Loup and Dismal rivers. While the forest was protected by guards the fire jumped these and got into the young trees. In many places on the reserve the grass was heavy and great damage resulted. The fire jumped the Loup river in three different places, having been carried across by the high wind that blew. Concerning this matter Mr. Deaver said:

"Fire can never destroy the good work done by the forest service along the Dismal and Loup rivers in Nebraska. The fact that pine trees can be grown in the sand hills of northwestern Nebraska is so firmly planted in the minds of the farmers of that section of the state that even though every tree on the forest reserve should be destroyed by fire, the farmers will go on planting trees from year to year until that part of the state will look like a wooded country. In the early days of Nebraska, people were just as skeptical about growing trees in central and eastern Nebraska as they are now in northwestern Nebraska, if not more so. The growth of trees and the cultivation of the soil changes the nature of the soil, causing it to retain more of the moisture that falls and each ten-year period advances the line of the movement of farmers westward. The sun will come yet when the sons of the men now settling in the west will go back east to redeem the worn out eastern farms."

Board Called Down.

Acting upon a decision from the legal department of the state, Governor Shallenberger has called down the state board of optometry with a demand that it hereafter issue to persons entitled thereto certificates of exemption from examination without plastering the certificate with the boards' opinion of the man receiving the same.

Big Automobile.

Anton Pravak of Clarkson has registered the second largest automobile ever registered in the office of the secretary of state. His machine is listed as a seventy-horse-power automobile. Last year a ninety-horse-power machine was registered.

Testing Seed Corn.

It is probable that few campaigns of any character have been conducted more thoroughly than has the recent campaign to get farmers to test their seed corn. The Commercial clubs of both Omaha and Lincoln attempted to impress the importance of this work on the farmers, the universities lent a helping hand and the most recent bulletin is that of State Superintendent Bishop in which he attempted to interest county superintendents and school teachers in the work.

Railroad Reports Slow.

Reports of the railroads of the value of their property to be made to the State Board of Assessment are coming in very slowly. County assessors have reported the valuation of railroad property under the provisions of the terminal tax law in only a few instances.

Fish Car to Northwest.

Fish Commissioner O'Brien and Game Warden Gullus left with the state fish car for the northwestern part of the state to plant fish.

THOMAS WALSH DEAD

MILLIONAIRE MINING MAN SUC- CUMBS AT WASHINGTON.

IN ILL HEALTH FOR SOME TIME

End Comes Suddenly in Patial Home

Following Extensive Tour of the South—Prominent Figure at Capital.

Washington.—Thomas F. Walsh, the millionaire mine-owner, died at his home here Friday night at 11:30 o'clock. Death was due to a growth in the lungs, the result of an injury received years ago, when Mr. Walsh was a miner in the west.

Although the "silver mining king," as Mr. Walsh was known, had been ill for the past three months, the end came suddenly and peacefully. He died in his palatial Massachusetts avenue home here, whither he returned several weeks ago, after a tour through the south in search of health. He was surrounded when the end came by the immediate members of his family, Edward B. McLean, and three physicians, Dr. Mitchell of this city and Drs. Guthrie and Finis of Johns Hopkins university. He will be buried in Rock Creek cemetery in this city by the side of his only son, who lost his life in an automobile accident in New England several years ago.

At his own request the funeral ceremonies will be simple. They will be conducted by the Masonic order.

Thomas F. Walsh was born in Ireland in 1851. He was educated in the public schools and early in life was apprenticed to a wheelwright. When he was nineteen years old he came to the United States, going almost directly to Colorado, where he made a fortune in the development of mines. In 1879 he was married to Miss Carrie B. Reed. He was named as one of the commissioners to the Paris exposition in 1900, and had been otherwise signally honored by his government.

Mr. Walsh, always a genial host and fond of good company, was a member of a number of clubs and belonged to several scientific societies. In the immediate past he developed a keen interest in aviation and was the leading figure in the effort to have the international aviation meet held in the national capital.

The tragic death of his only son some years ago was a most severe shock to Mr. Walsh, and from which he never fully recovered. The boy was killed in an automobile accident which injured his sister, now Mrs. Edward McLean.

A son born to his daughter recently has been dubbed, on account of the immense wealth on both his parental and maternal side, the "hundred million dollar baby."

Active Work on the Canal.

Washington.—The total excavation of the Panama canal for the month of March was 3,067,479 cubic yards, place measurement, against 2,602,995 yards in February. It is true there were three more working days in March, yet the daily average output was 117,980 yards against 113,174 in February, while the rainfall for March was nearly an inch and a half greater. The concrete work progressed more rapidly, 90,562 cubic yards being made against 75,692 yards in February. The work on the dams, however, showed a slight decrease in the filling, as compared to February.

Half a Million as a Gift.

New York.—According to friends of the family, a house in upper Fifth avenue will be the gift of George J. Gould to his daughter, Marjorie, when she is married to Anthony Drexel, Jr. on April 19. The property, which is on the avenue between Eighty-second and Eighty-third streets, was purchased Friday at price said to have been between $350,000 and $400,000. With the furnishings, which it is Mr. Gould's intentions to install, the gift will represent an outlay of $500,000.

Much Money for Charity.

Spokane, Wash.—Two million dollars, representing a third interest in the Los Molinos estate, 200 miles north of San Francisco, has been inherited by Mrs. J. Dickinson Sherwood, wife of a pioneer resident of Spokane, by the death of her mother, Madam Cone, in Paris, France. Mrs. Sherwood is deeply interested in charitable work and it is likely that the bulk of her fortune will be used in assisting worthy girls and boys in obtaining an education and learning trades.

Arbor Day in Kansas.

Topeka, Kas.—Arbor day was widely observed throughout Kansas Friday by the planting of trees and flowers and by special exercises in all the public schools.

Vote Two Big Ships.

Washington.—Two battleships were authorized by the naval bill passed by the house Friday. This action was taken by the decisive vote of 162 to 110, thirty-three democrats voting with the republicans for two battleships, while twenty-four republicans voted with the democrats for one battleship. The house adopted an amendment by which the two battleships and two fleet colliers authorized by the bill, must be built by firms operating under the eight-hour law.
