TO TRANSFER BEE COLONIES

Easily Done If Simple Directions Given Below Are Followed-Implements Needed.

By W. R. WRIGHT, Oklahoma Experi-Many persons who desire to transfer their bees do not understand the best method to use to make the operation a success, hence detailed directions are given below. Secure a bee veil, a smoker, a longbladed knife, the wire from an old broom or two, a pair of wire pliers and cutter, two or three rolls of old cotton cloth, some matches, a piece of stout string, an ax or hatchet, and a pair of gloves, if you wish to protect your hands from possible stings. Place the new hive near the colony to be transferred and have about half the millionaire shoe manufacturer of of the frames full of foundation; the remaining four or five frames are to be reserved for holding comb taken, a little later, from the old hive.

The wires may be passed around the frames lengthwise, but such an arrangement will make it necessary to remove the frames from the hive at a later date, after the combs, which have been held in place by the wires, have been securely fastened to the

After starting a good smoke in the bee smoker, putting on the bee veil and gloves, tying down the trouser legs, one is all ready to make the transfer. An assistant is desirable, but not a necessity.

Take from the new hive the frames that are to contain the combs to be cut from the old hive, and place them on a wide board or a small table.

Now go to the colony and puff in some smoke at the entrance, then jar the hive by light blows, then puff in more smoke and jar the hive again.

This should be done four or five times to cause the bees to fill themselves with honey. Bees with wellfilled honey sacks are not inclined to sting. A forenoon hour of some pleasant day should be chosen for this operation.

There are some advantages in wrapping strings about frames instead of using wires, for the bees will remove the strings, while the wires will remain until removed by the aplarist.

Care should be taken that not many bees are crushed and that nearly all get into the new hive, or the queen may be lost, bringing about failure. Scraps of honey should be carried to the house and honey drips carefully washed up, or there may be a bad case of robbing.

RID FIELDS OF GRASSHOPPER Ingenious Device Called Hopperdozer

ice for ridding the fields of grasshoppers. It is a long, shallow pan of sheet iron, set on runners and having behind it a banner or sail made of canvas or muslin stretched on a wood-Much Like Other Engen frame. The bottom of the pan is covered with rags or old carpet, previously wetted with water. When all is ready, a pint of kerosene is poured over the wet rags, and the banner of ners over the field and the grasshoppers either jump in or try to jump over, in which case they strike the cloth at the back and fall back into the oil. A mere touch of the oil kills them; it may take a half a minute if the insect falls directly into it or it may take half an hour if the insect simply alights on the banner moistened with the cil, but no matter whether the insect dies immediately or takes a little time, it is sure to die eventually. The great majority of the heppers that jump into the pan, jump out again at once but they die just as certainly and almost as quickly as if they remained.

DURABLE ROLLER FOR GARDEN

May Be Made of Piece of Tiling With Vacant Space Filled in With Cement and Stones.

A durable garden roller may be made of a piece of tiling. It should be burnt to a glaze and the best size is about two feet in diameter. Set it upon a board and place a piece of gas pipe directly through the center, passing it two inches through a hole in the board. It should project above the tile the same distance. Fill in the

Eldest Son of King George, Aged Sixteen Years, Is Highly Popular-

London -- Prince Edward of Wales who has been "the first boy of Eng and" for 16 years, has gone to join his ship at Dartmouth and take his place as Cadet Edward of Wales During the funeral ceremonies of his grandfather, King Edward, he was a prominent figure not only because he is helr to the throne but because he is

From babyhood he has been popu lar. His doings and sayings have been chronicled, and half the mothers of England put their sons into white sailor suits like those chosen by the princess of Wales for her son. Yet admiration does not seem to have spotled him at all. He is still a frank, simple English boy with a bright smile, a pleasant manner and an infections laugh.

Not only is Prince Eddie a public favorite but he is a hero in his own family. His three small brothers and one sister look forward to his holidays as festive occasions. His father and mother, King George and Queen Mary, although they are rather strict with their children as a rule, often relax discipline for their oldest son and are as proud of him as any middle class parents of their first born.

Even at school Prince Edward is popular, and one has to be more than a prince to be a favorite at an English school. One has to be an allround expert at games and sports, a generous, open-handed good fellow with plenty of courage and a love of Prince Edward of Wales.

Cauliflower can be grown more birthday King Edward gave him a bleycle. Swimming lessons at the Bath club came next, and a little later cricket, football and boxing, and now he is one of the first class cross-country runners of England.

Before he was ten he had handed over his ordinary nursery toys to his younger brothers and was giving all the time he could spare from lessons and exercises to a fleet of model battleships which had been given him by his father. It was the time of the Russian-Japanese war, and the young prince with model guns, forts and maps of the scene of the campaign was following each move and fighting mimle battles with his fleet. Later King George, anxious to encourage his son's love of the sea, gave him a large model brig. This is kept at Virginia water in charge of an old sailer. A story is told of his early days at Osborne which seems to prove that the prince is not without commercial instincts. He had written home to his mother for extra pocket money, which she refused to send, and so he wrote a long letter to his grandmother begging her to help him out. Queen Alexandra wrote a long letter reproving him for extravagance.

To her surprise Prince Edward, who hates letter writing like a normal boy, immediately answered ber letter and asked many questions. She answered them, only to receive another letter from her grandson. At last the truth came out that the prince was selling the queen's autograph letters to his schoolmates for money to spend at the tuckshop.

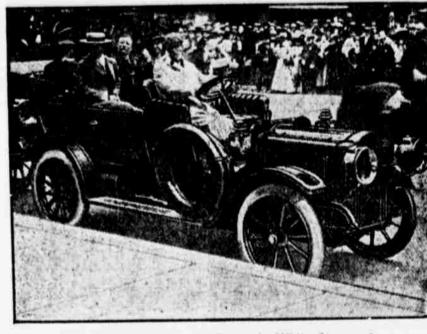

In his lessons Prince Edward does not shine. If he were an ordinary lad he would be called backward, except in the few branches of study which he likes.
