The Chautauqua is a Success.

The Red Cloud Chautauqua began last Saturday with a prelude by Thacher's Hungarian orchestra. The attendance this year on the first day was larger than in any previous years. This shows that the people value the chautauqua for the messages of life and progress which it brings.

In the afternoon the lecture by Prof. H. A. Adiriar upon Luther Burbank and his work was in many respects the best address ever given in the county. We speak advisedly when we say the best. We regret that every farmer in the county was not present to hear him. Were it not for the fact that we know than nothing but actualities were presented we would place this address along with the Arabian Nights and other fantastical productions. This man Burbank has produced wonders in the vegetable kingdom so much that one can hardly refrain from asking "can such things be true?" Think of planting chestnut trees in the spring and in six months gathering the ripe nuts! But that is not all think of those same chestnuts bearing twelve months in the year!

He has taken the despised cactus and developed a plant that promises to "make the desert blossom as the rose." Burbank's spineless cactus will yield a crop of four hundred tons to the acre on irrigated fields and from five to thirty-five tons to the acre on desert land. This cactus is excellent feed for cattle, bears apples on its sides fit for man, yields as good a grade of sugar as beets and contains a fibre that is unexcelled for paper making. (In looking over the files of the Chief we find that Mr. J. S. Gilham delivered an address in 1876 in which he advanced the idea that the farmers here should study well the native plants with the idea of making them useful. That there were no altogether bad plants but all were meant for man's use. Mr. Burbank has demonstrated that these ideas are correct.) We can not pass this lecture without giving one more idea advanced. The professor stated that if people would plant their potatoes a little farther apart and plant white beans between the potato hill that there would be no trouble with the potato bug.

Sunday afternoon a large audience greeted Miss Von Petzold and Senator Gilliland to listen to their debate on the Suffrage question. Had the audience known that it was a real debate and not a cut and dried affair they would have enjoyed the discussion much better. As it was everyone was well pleased and each individual went away confidently believing that the speaker which presented his ideas on the question was the only one that advanced any argument whatever. We heard some say that the lady was far the better of the two speakers and presented the only arguments while the gentleman was gallant enough to give her all the openings and did not make any effort to rebut her. On the other hand we heard it emphatically stated that the gentleman made the strongest plea and that the lady made a direct appeal to the sympathies of her hearers but left the impression that she knew that she was in the wrong but was putting in her time to the best advantage. One is reminded of "The Lady or the Tiger."

The Oriole Trio pleased everyone with their singing, impersonations and whistling. Music of a high order never fails to meet with appreciation here. Monday afternoon the Chautauqua audience was disappointed because Senator Cummins was unable to be present owing to illness and the orders of his doctor. However Senator Clapp filled his date and completely captivated his hearers. The Senator has the happy faculty of making politics interesting to all people regardless of their party affiliation. One could not help sympathizing with the insurgents while listening to Senator Clapp. His address was logical, interesting and gave evidence that the speaker was a thinker.

In the evening we took a trip to Africa with Peter MacQueen and beheld the strange animals and peculiar people. The information which he gave relative to the pictures and conditions in the dark continent was complete and pithy. The pictures themselves were of a high order and we are confident that should he return another year a large audience would welcome him.

Tuesday afternoon the DeKoven male quartette charmed the audience with their singing and the lecture was delivered by Prof. Follansbee upon the subject "The Four Square Man."

In the evening Mr. Paul Voelker delivered an excellent address upon a subject that never fails to interest any people. The silent voices, the development of the spiritual part of our being, the subconscious mind. He was a live wire and fully merited the generous applause accorded him. Come again.

Wednesday afternoon Chas. G. Jordan addressed the chautauqua audience upon the subject "Get There." His lecture was well received and his audience gave him careful attention. His chief characteristic was his indomitable will. Eloquent at times, humorous at other times but interesting throughout.

In the evening the DeKoven male quartette entertained the people with their singing, impersonations and crayon drawing.

The attendance is growing and this year's chautauqua promises to be the best ever held in Red Cloud.

A Letter to My Friends.

RED CLOUD, NEB., Aug. 9, 1910.

DEAR SIR AND FRIENDS:—Since family affliction has prevented me from calling on you in person, in the interest of my candidacy for County Attorney, let me assure you that there is every reason for believing that there is a certain member of our bar, who is playing one of my competitors for the primary nomination, as a tool, with the hope of curtailing the vote, otherwise, coming my way, on the 16th; and that, too, with a view of dividing the salary belonging to the office, in the event of the final triumph of his said tool. May the voters of our county place the seal of their condemnation upon such political rotteness, and relegate to the background all such infamous conspirators as these!

Is it any wonder that new political organizations are springing into existence, with the avowed purpose of purifying the two famous old parties, that have so long weathered the storm? Please help to rally the voters of every political persuasion to the polls on the day for holding the primary, with the hope that the People may choose wisely.

Sincerely yours,
J. M. CHAFFIN.
