Sutherland Our Next Congressman.

No one of the large audience that greeted Mr. Sutherland at the Red Cloud opera house last Monday evening doubted his entire earnestness in the cause of Democracy and his ability to fitly represent this district in the next Congress. There is nothing apologetic in his attitude; his message is one of good cheer to the hosts of Nebraska Democracy and it is difficult to imagine that such an earnest advocate of the people could be defeated in this year of enlightened public opinion. Even the so-called insurgent movement in the Republican party is nothing but the advocacy of Democratic principles under a spurious label and no Democrat or Populist who has been fighting for years for the principles which the Republican party has consistently and always opposed should now be fooled by the sudden spasm of political virtue by which Congressman Norris hopes to be again elected to Congress.

Norris and his friends have never made so strenuous a fight in his interest as this year. The assurance of former campaigns is gone, and Nebraska politics has never witnessed a more cringing, whining attitude than that of George W. Norris in this campaign.

It don't make any difference to Mr. Cannon whether he selects the committee on rules of the House of Representatives or his friends select it, and the rule that provides that his friends select this committee is no improvement over one providing that he select it. Let Mr. Norris explain to his Red Cloud audience when he speaks here tonight why he consented to go into a party caucus for the selection of the rules committee, when he knew that that caucus was dominated by Speaker Cannon?

Mr. Norris contends that the old manner of the selection of the committee on rules was bad, and that the result of such selection stifled legislation when the people demanded. With Mr. Norris point out one single time when he voted against any iniquitous report made by this committee?

Mr. Norris' fight on the rules is a makeshift to obscure the real issue. If Mr. Norris was ever a true insurgent, why did he vote for the Payne-Aldrich bill, and why did he vote for the conference report? Did he vote to give the people of this district and state free lumber, free coal, free farming implements? He did not.

Will R. D. Sutherland vote to give the people in this district and state free coal, free lumber, free salt, free farming implements, and help to break the hold which the monopolies and trusts have upon the home builders on the prairies of Nebraska? He will.

Norris admits the hold which these interests have upon you of the Fifth District, but has never done a thing to break it. He has wasted his time in fighting a false and feigned issue in Congress over the rules. He says it was to deprive Speaker Cannon of his tyrannical power, yet before the noise of this sham battle over the rules had died away, he was the first man to spring to his feet to save Cannon, when Burleson's resolution was introduced to depose this same man, whom Norris only a few moments before had characterized as a tyrant, a czar and an iron duke.

Cases Tried in the District Court this Week.

The case of Mary Kralick and Katie Kralick vs Wm. Upright, John Polnick and Doyle & Bushee for damage for sale of liquor to Thomas Kralick went to the jury at five o'clock Saturday afternoon and a sealed verdict amounting to $201 in favor of Plaintiffs was brought in at 4 a. m. Sunday.

The case of Eli H. Cox vs Wm. E. Wallace is one of three involving between these parties the price of a threshing outfit. The original action was brought by The Clark Implement Company of Council Bluffs, Iowa to replevin the machine from Wm. E. Wallace. This case was won by Wallace and the threshing outfit returned to him. Eli Cox next showed up with the notes and mortgage given by Wallace and replevined the machine from him. This was the matter decided by this case and the jury found in favor of Cox in the sum of $1350. The case of Wallace wherein he sues the bondsmen on the original replevin bond is now being tried in the district court.

Cora M. Bradshaw was granted a divorce from George F. Bradshaw.

The case of Dr. J. S. Cunningham vs Dr. E. A. Thomas for damages for $300 for wrongful dissolution of the partnership is the second suit between these parties to settle their troubles. At the last term of court judgment was rendered by the court wherein a Receiver was appointed to dispose of partnership property and settle all partnership accounts between these litigants. In the present action a jury after being out five hours returned a verdict in favor of Cunningham for $87.

The case of Wm. E. Wallace vs A. W. Cox and Henry Boyd was an action by Wallace against these parties as bondsmen on the Replevin Bond in the original action of The Clark Implement Company vs Wm. E. Wallace. This Iowa corporation replevined the threshing outfit in controversy from Wallace in the midst of a threshing season and a jury a year ago in the trial of that action awarded Wallace damages in the sum of $404.50 and fixed the value of the machine at $2000. Eli Cox, after having used the machine and as representative of The Clark Implement Company attempted to return it to Wallace. On account of the condition of the machine Wallace refused to receive it and refused a return of it. Victory and justice for Wallace was the result of this present action wherein a jury returned a verdict for $2500 being the full value of the machine together with damages and interest.

The case of Fairbanks Morse & Co., vs Geo. E. Coon on a contract for the price of a gasoline engine and dynamo is being tried as we go to press. This is the last jury case and ends the longest term held here for several years.

How to Tell if Your Hair is Diseased

Even if you have a luxuriant head of hair you may want to know whether it is in a healthy condition or not. 98 percent of the people need a hair tonic. Pull a hair out of your head; if the bulb at the end of the root is white and shrunken, it proves that the hair is diseased, and requires prompt treatment if its loss would be avoided. If the bulb is pink and full, the hair is healthy.

We want every one whose hair requires treatment to try Rexall "93" Hair Tonic. We promise that it shall not cost anything if it does not give satisfactory results. It is designed to overcome dandruff, relieve scalp irritation, to stimulate the hair roots, tighten the hair already in the head, grow hair and cure baldness. It is because of what Rexall "93" Hair Tonic has done and our sincere faith in its goodness that we want you to try it at our risk. Two sizes, 50c. and $1.00. Sold only at our store - The Rexall Store. The H. E. Grice Drug Co.
