Crucify Their New "Savior."

Lodso, Russian Poland.-The timely arrival of the police prevented a band of fanatics from crucifying a man whom they had adopted as their "savior." A new sect was formed recently by women of the Moravian community, who selected a man named Kowlaski, whom they worshiped as their savior. They induced him to allow himself to be crucified so as to enable them to prove the truth of their tenets by his resurrection.

seldom wander when on our knees.

The Wise Men received encouragement in their search for Christ. They saw His star, which led them through the long desert until they found their place by Christ's side. So will it always be with those who are really seeking Christ. There is a light that others perchance may not see, a hand that others may not perceive, a voice that others may not hear-all of these are visible and audible to those who by faith are seeking Christ. The Church, the Bible, the Preaching of the Gospel, exemplary Christian lives, inward impulses-these may be stars that light the way to Him.

The Wise Men did not consider it enough that they had seen the star. They continued their journey until they saw the Christ. Is there not danger of our seeing the Church, the Bible, the sacraments, and yet missing Him! It would have been too bad for them to have come as far as Jerusalem and then to have given up without seeing Him, just as it would be too bad for us to have used all these spiritual aids, and yet not have found the Saviour.

As soon as these earnest seekers found Christ, they worshipped Him. What a glorious vision they had as they looked upon the Christ Child! They saw that which alone is worth seeing; that which fills and gladdens the soul when seen and known; that which righteous men of old desired to see, but saw only in glimpses and at intervals; that for the seeing of which Moses prayed so earnestly: that to which the eye of every creature should turn in longing anticipation: that which everything in heaven and in earth is intended to reveal; that for the beholding of which our eyes were made, and for the appreciation of which our minds were formed-Jesus Christ, the Son of God, and the Savlour of the world. To see anything less in the Christ child is to miss the heart of the vision.

They worshipped Him. They could not help it; nor can any man when once he has seen the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ. It was said of Gladstone that when one was ushered into his presence, he was constrained to bow his head or raise his hat. So those who behold Christ must worship Him. Who can behold the sun without being dazzled? Who can behold deity without worshipping Him?

These men were men of mighty faith-they could look beyond a man ger and see a throne; beyond a stable and see a mighty Gcd.
