

The mulberry crop is a large one this year—republican oratory ditto.

The wife who doesn't keep her trade at home ought not to complain about a raving husband.

The freight-house doesn't add much to the looks of the town; but that is all the mail order houses help to build.

Red Cloud needs a public park, a Y. M. C. A. building and a library. Any one so inclined may present the city with anyone or all three of these conveniences.

Notwithstanding the hot air in the political camps Nebraska is steadily forging ahead and keeping an eye firmly on the bumper crop which is sure to come. The prospects for a large crop of corn are very bright and all other crops are made. Alfalfa never was better either in quantity or quality and the potatoes are the best ever. We may not furnish all the officers for the government but we will go a long way towards feeding our ninety million people.

Surely the democrats have a great deal to be enthusiastic over this year. We have repeatedly stated that the machinery of the republican party was rotten and now the national convention of that party has avowedly admitted the charge. For the first time the public has been able to see the inside working of the machine and the trickery and thievery was something appalling. What it has been in times past with the doors closed passes comprehension. President Taft and his republican machine ought to be buried so deep that even the friends from Alaska would never be able to find them. Any democrat can beat Taft. The American people will not go wrong when they have possession of all the information.

We never can learn too much about the really great men who served our country when it was first formed. Alexander Hamilton has done much for this republic and it gives us extreme pleasure that the managers of the chautauqua association secured the services of an excellent authority to address us next month. Mrs. J. Redding Cole has spent years in the study of this early American and she will give us the results of her investigations. Mrs. Cole is a speaker of no mean ability and with Alexander Hamilton as a subject we are assured of real genuine instruction and information. The lecture is especially appropriate just at this time living as we do in a period which is a bit chaotic and confusing.

We believe that it would be an excellent thing to again form a Booster Chautauqua Club and advertise our coming chautauqua by sending automobile delegations all over this territory. We have a program this year that is the equal of any in the state and we ought to let the public know it. It hardly fair to ask the owners of automobiles to do it all but we believe that they would be glad to tender the use of their machines provided the rest of us would bear the expenses. The booster idea is a good one any way since it tends to increase the feeling of friendliness between the towns. We find out what they are doing and they find out what we are doing and the result is that we all get better results. One day given up to this movement will result in a great deal of good not only to the chautauqua movement but to the city and surrounding country.

The Guide Rock Fourth of July Booster Club was in this city early Wednesday morning with fourteen automobiles and a first-class brass band. This band played several excellent selections on the street which was much appreciated by our people. The club was making a complete tour of the county and impressing everyone that there would be something doing down at Guide Rock on the Fourth. We are confident that they are going to have a good celebration because they would not go to the trouble of all this advertising if they had nothing but wind to offer on that great day. The very fact that they are willing to give their time and energy to let the people know that they have made preparations for a good time is proof positive that they will deliver the goods. Anyone wanting to spend the Fourth and have a spanking good time will not miss it by going to Guide Rock.
