The many friends of Ed. Garber gathered at his home during the Thanks giving holidays and joined him in devouring a monstrous turkey. So many were present so it is reported, that Ed. was compelled to make his dinner on fine toes and one shank. Be careful not to say "turkey foot" to Ed. or the gobblins will get you.

Flavies J. Grice is now known all over the Burlington system as the man who buys tickets for one station and then goes to another. He took the wrong train for Guide Rock the other day and then insisted that he intended to go to Cowles all the time. Conductor Maylon admits that Flave is a "game sport" and can carry a good bluff.

Supt. Bruce Robinson returned to Clay Center Friday morning after spending Thanksgiving in this city with his parents. When Bruce arrived at Clay Center no doubt many of his friends there thought he, must of got into a "statistic" encounter here. But we know different as he played football with the Alumni team against the High school and got bruised up.

From all reports about the Farmer's Institute at Red Cloud last week we judge that it was a great success. The workers who were present from the state university said that the exhibit of grain, grasses, fruit and vegetables was the best they had seen in the state. Webster county has many surprises for our eastern brothers. She is fast forging to the front and will soon be known as the very best county in the state.—Bladen Enterprise.

The people who appreciated the efforts of Miss Winifred Wood, of Denver to entertain them during the Farmers' Institute will be sorry to learn of her injuries received in an auto wreck Tuesday evening. She was accompanying Mr. Sherwood and wife and Miss Irene Miner in a drive west of town, in Mr. George Amaek's car, Mr. Amaek himself acting as driver. During the ascent of the hill west of Indian creek one of the wheels gave way, and the occupants of the car were thrown out with some violence. Beyond a few bruises the others who were in the car sustained no injuries. Miss Wood had her collar bone broken. This will give a sober cast to her visit here, but we trust the pleasure she has given others will in some degree meet its due reward, and that her stay among us will not be an unhappy part of her life despite this unfortunate accident.

Philosopher's Tip.
"I was riding in the park with the great Carlyle one morning when his wideawake blew off. A working man very civilly ran and picked it up. Instead of giving the man a pourboire, however meager, Carlyle took the returned hat with a bow, and said: "Thank ye, my man; ye can just say ye've picked up the hat of Thomas Carlyle."—"That Fourth Generation," by Janet Ross.
