FATALITIES IN WRECK

UNION PACIFIC HAS TWO BAD REAR END COLLISIONS.

BAD STORMS IN SOUTHLAND

Toll of Death in Tornadoes in the South—Many Want to Witness Execution of Convict Prince.

Omaha, Neb.—Two disastrous rear-end collisions, occurring on the main line of the Union Pacific railroad in Nebraska at about the same time Friday morning, caused the death of nine persons and the possible death of one more.

The first disaster was directly in front of the passenger depot at Gothenburg at 3:37 a. m. Union Pacific passenger train No. 12 ran past two automatic block signals and crashed into the rear of passenger train No. 4.

The second collision, occurring at almost the same time, was identical in character with the first. Extra east-bound freight No. 501 drove into the rear of east-bound freight No. 504 at Herndon station, twelve miles west of Sidney.

As an indirect result of the Gothenburg wreck Flagman Dorchner of Grand Island may have lost his life. A report from North Platte says it is believed he was blown into the Platte river bridge near that place.

Where it Happened. A seven-year-old colored boy was before Judge Taylor in juvenile court not long ago for shooting at his playmate with a rifle. As is customary in all such cases the attorney in questioning the boy asked:

"You were in the state of Indiana, Marion county, when this happened, were you not?"

The little fellow studied a minute and then answered:

"No, sah. Ah was on th' front porch."—Indianapolis News.

Equally as Good.

A Sunday school teacher in the middle west asked all of her pupils who wished to go to heaven to hold up their right hands. All did but one little girl.

"Why, Mary," said the teacher, "why don't you hold up your hand today, just as you did last Sunday when I asked the same question?"

"I know," said Mary, "but papa has just got tickets for Los Angeles."

Anyhow, Boy Had the Right Idea.

An overgrown schoolboy who found English grammar entirely beyond him was given the sentence "The girl purchased a hat" to diagram.

"Now, of what word is 'hat' the object?" asked the teacher, encouragingly.

"Hat is the object of girl," stammered the youth.

"Perhaps you're right," replied the teacher.

IN A SHADOW.

Inveterate Tea Drinker Feared Paralysis. Steady use of either tea or coffee often produces alarming symptoms as the poison (caffein) contained in these beverages acts with more potency in some persons than in others.

"I was never a coffee drinker," writes an ill woman, "but a tea drinker. I was very nervous, had frequent spells of sick headache and heart trouble, and was subject at times to severe attacks of bilious colic."

"No end of sleepless nights—would have spells at night when my right side would get numb and tingle like a thousand needles were pricking my flesh. At times I could hardly put my tongue out of my mouth and my right eye and ear were affected."

"The doctors told me I was liable to become paralyzed at any time, so I was in constant dread. I took no end of medicine—all to no good."

"The doctors told me to quit using tea, but I thought I could not live without it—that it was my only stay. I had been a tea drinker for twenty-five years; was under the doctor's care for fifteen."

"About six months ago, I finally quit tea and commenced to drink Postum."

"I have never had one spell of sick headache since and only one light attack of bilious colic. Have quit having those numb spells at night, sleep well and my heart is getting stronger all the time." Name given upon request.

Postum now comes in concentrated, powder form, called Instant Postum. It is prepared by stirring a level teaspoonful in a cup of hot water, adding sugar to taste, and enough cream to bring the color to golden brown.

Instant Postum is convenient; there's no waste; and the flavor is always uniform. Sold by grocers everywhere.

A 6-cup trial tin mailed for grocer's name and 2-cent stamp for postage. Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., Battle Creek, Mich.
