It is surely "good business" to deposit where you get absolutely guaranteed protection, in preference to placing money in a bank that guarantees nothing.

Comparative Digestibility of Food

Made with different Baking Powders

From a Series of Elaborate Chemical Tests:

An equal quantity of bread (biscuit) was made with each of three different kinds of baking powder—cream of tartar, phosphate, and alum—and submitted separately to the action of the digestive fluid, each for the same length of time.

The relative percentage of the food digested is shown as follows:

Bread made with
Royal Cream of Tartar Powder:

100 Per Cent. Digested

Bread made with
phosphate powder:

68 1/4 Per Cent. Digested

Bread made with alum powder:

67 3/4 Per Cent. Digested

These tests, which are absolutely reliable and unprejudiced, make plain a fact of great importance to everyone: Food raised with Royal, a cream of tartar Baking Powder, is shown to be entirely digestible, while the alum and phosphate powders are found to largely retard the digestion of the food made from them.

Undigested food is not only wasted food, but it is the source of very many bodily ailments.

The School Problem

A large and interesting meeting of the Chamber of Commerce was held in the attractive rooms of that association Tuesday night. The most important matter that engaged the attention of the members was the conference with the school board concerning new buildings for meeting the needs of the school.

The school board through its chairman, Mr. Henry Gilham, and its secretary, Professor Moritz, stated that there were insufficient accommodations for the growing needs of the high school in the present quarters and that there would be available from present resources three or four thousand dollars for building purposes. Five thousand dollars was deemed necessary to build an addition, or otherwise modify the present building. This would, at best, afford but temporary relief. On the other hand, the expenditure of five thousand dollars more on the present building, would pledge the district to continue the present system of two widely separated buildings. Before doing anything to commit the people farther to the present policy, it was deemed expedient to take the sense of the public as far as the chamber of commerce could give expression to that sense.

It was said rather emphatically on the part of the board, that the district was confined to a choice of one of three propositions.

1st, to enlarge and otherwise change the present high school building;
2nd, to build a new structure adjoining the Lincoln building on the south, of the same dimensions, or,
3rd, refuse the attendance of outside pupils.

If this were the situation, it is believed that the general sentiment would, at present, favor the necessary alterations of the Washington building.

There is a decided aversion, on the part of many, to the mingling of the older and younger pupils on one play ground.

It must be confessed there would be some economy in having all the pupils under one roof, but it is very doubtful whether the Lincoln school grounds are extensive enough to accommodate the children at the periods of intermission, and whether additional grounds could be procured at reasonable terms.

It is conceded that there is abundant floor space in the Washington building for the prospective requirements of the school, but that floor space is not conveniently arranged, and cannot be, without a practical re-construction of the edifice. The main difficulty is the form of the assembly room. It is a long rectangle, not easily admitting of an addition that would permit the seats and pupils to be all the time in sight of one teacher. That assembly room now accommodates fully one hundred and eighty pupils, and there is a probability of forty more from the country districts during the next year, and an increasing number yearly, until, perhaps four hundred would not be too many to expect in a short time.

It is not difficult to imagine such a result, even though the city population should not materially increase.

Under our present school laws, the city high school partakes of the nature of a country high school. It is supposed to provide for the graduates of the district schools, and a tuition fee is provided by the state which recompenses the city for the use of its property and teachers.

The members of the Chamber of Commerce showed an aversion to consideration of the subject and were quite willing to confess their unpreparedness to give any advice of a trustworthy character on the question.

A committee of five was appointed to confer with the board and the teachers and present their ideas to the chamber next Tuesday night.

Pending the report of that committee, it is not perhaps prudent for the Chief to discuss the matter at length or in detail.

The committee appointed is composed of the following gentlemen: J. T. Diamond, Bernard McNeny, J. S. Gilham, Harry Letson and Henry Newhouse.

JEWELER AND OPTOMETRIST

The Sunday Closing.

The board of directors through Mr. Cowden and Mr. Garber, the secretary, stated that there were complaints on the part of members and non members against the opening of the club rooms Sunday. After some discussion, the club indicated its opinion by an overwhelming vote in favor of the continuance of the present policy.

We see no serious objection to the action of the meeting in this respect. It is better for the community that those who wish to meet each other on Sunday shall have as respectable a place in which to meet as may be. There are very few, if any, who gather in the club room during the hours of morning or evening services. It may be said that none of those who would otherwise be in church are in the club rooms at those times. Their attendance at church is not therefore interfered with. There are many who have no parlors where they can meet their friends, or who would feel welcome guests in the parlors of other people on Sunday. What arrangement shall be made for them? The club furnishes them with an attractive sitting room where they feel thoroughly at home. It is the business of the community to provide such a place.

The Chief appreciates the religious difficulties which some may find in contributing to the support of an institution that violates, to some extent, their own ideas as to the proper methods of observing Sunday. But the Chief does not think that they are justified in refusing their co-operation, because, the club does not, in all respects, conform to their views. They are not fostering an evil because of their association with others who dis-

Church Refuses Cole's Resignation

Rev. Cole has tendered his resignation as pastor of the Baptist church. No action has yet been taken and we sincerely hope that he may be induced to change his mind. Red Cloud needs a man like Rev. Cole. He has considered himself not only pastor of his church but also pastor of the community and the community has welcomed his efforts. We cannot have too many men who are large enough and Christian enough to look after the broken-hearted and the discouraged. Rev. Cole has demonstrated his ability and his willingness to labor where his services are much appreciated, and we feel that we cannot spare any man who has done so much good.

Mrs. Geo. Warren Meets With Accident

Mrs. Geo. Warren met with quite an accident yesterday. While playing with her grandson, she stepped on top of a covering that had been used as a roof of a cyclone cellar, which gave way under her weight, causing her to fall. The estimable lady suffered a broken rib, together with a badly sprained wrist and ankle. While the injuries are painful ones, indeed, it is miraculous that they did not assume a more serious nature.
