Clarence Kizer this week completed a large rocking chair, made in mission style, for Mrs. Rawls, who resides on Ash Creek. The chair was upholstered at the furniture store of Ed Amack, and when finished, presented as neat and creditable appearance as any you would secure from a factory fully equipped for such work. It was a good job, gentlemen, and proof sufficient that Red Cloud has in her midst some real mechanics.

The farm loan business is perhaps more important to Webster County farmers than any other line represented here. It seems fortunate that while money is scarce, and rates advancing, it is possible yet to obtain loans on first class farms, at the 5 per cent rate. Read the ad of The Farmers Trust Co., (formerly Smith Brothers) in this issue. Write to The Farmers Trust Co., Beatrice, direct if you are considering a loan on your farm.

The Chief is making out statements this week which will either be mailed or presented by a collector, within a few days to all subscribers in arrears. Under the new postal ruling we are compelled to keep subscriptions collected up closer than heretofore, hence this move on our part. Please get your "long green" together and be prepared to liquidate when the statement is received, and by so doing you will render us a favor which we will justly appreciate.
