

Nebraska Farmers' Congress Omaha, Dec. 9th-12th 1913

The fourth annual session will be the greatest farmers meeting ever held in Nebraska for the consideration of the rural economic questions. Taxation, Rural Credits, Rural Schools, Consolidation of the State University, are some of the vital questions. Over one-hundred associations have named delegates. Each organization is entitled to ten delegates. Delegates are urged to bring along their wives, as the women are to have most of the first session for the discussion of economies of the farm home. Arrangements for rooms can be made at the Secretary's desk, Rome Hotel.

Frame Construction Is Most Preferable for home building not only on account of its economy, but because of its adaptability to changing conditions. Homes built of wood are easily moved from one location to another; they can be altered or enlarged without injuring their general appearance for the reason that painting will make the old look as good as the new. Instead of painting being considered an expense it should really be held as an improvement because it freshens up the whole appearance of your home, and instead of ultimate decay and deteriorated value as is the case with substitutes that can only be renovated by building a whole new house, your home becomes constantly more valuable. This is only one of the little things to consider when building a home. "Little drops of water, etc., make a mighty ocean." Come in and we'll tell you more about lumber.

FIRE
THE ALARM is a dreadful thing for the man without insurance. Every time he sees the engines racing along his heart comes up in his throat if the fire is anywhere near his place. What folly, what mistaken economy.

THE COST OF INSURANCE is so small that it need hardly be considered. The freedom from worry alone is worth it many times over. Have us insure you to-day.

Regular Price Cut.

Do you recollect a time in which so many things of vital interest to every family were being agitated and at least partially accomplished? These public affairs closely touch the income and outgo of every one of us, and a careful reading of the first-class daily newspaper is most desirable. The children in the family should be encouraged to read current events. Of course this makes it necessary to select a clean paper, one that is not filled with liquor and nasty medical advertisements. The Lincoln State Journal is the kind of paper you will want, and just now the publishers are offering the daily and Sunday until Jan. 1, 1915 for only $4, or without the Sunday paper only $3. This is a special cut-price offer which will not be good after December 28. As a special inducement a year's subscription to the Weekly Independent Farmer and the Monthly Poultry Topics is included. The news of the world, Nebraska affairs in particular, reliable markets, and the philosophy of Bixby make The Journal Nebraska's leading newspaper. Order through the local agent or send direct to the State Journal, Lincoln, Neb. Order today and you will receive the paper the remainder of this year.

CARBOLIC ACID TOO STRONG

But Then, as His Partner Said, the Dead Man "Never Did Have No Constitution."

Captain Til Huston, the most important contractor in all Spanish-America, goes to New York as often as possible in the summer to see baseball games. In the winter he has arranged it so that American teams play in Cuba. His particular little playmate there is John J. McGraw. "I traded so-and-so," said McGraw, "because his health is poor."
"During the Spanish war," said Captain Huston, "I was stationed at a hospital camp at Ybor City. Your statement recalls an incident I witnessed. Half a mile down the road, through a palmetto swamp, was a mule camp. The muleteers had been picked in the United States because they were the only things in the world that were tougher than an army mule. One day, as we lay under a tree, we saw a man galloping a big mule through the swamp.
"Hurry, Doc," this man gasped when he got to us, "hurry. Me and another guy was lyin' under a wagon jus' now, takin' a drink now and then. An' we got hold of the wrong bottle, and we both took a pull at some carbolic acid that I'd been dressing a mule's shoulder with."
"The doctor filled him full of grease and emollients, and then tried to put him to bed."
"Nix," said he. "I'm a busy man. I gotta get back to that camp and make them guys do their work."
"So away he rode, with the carbolic acid fuming and steaming inside him. In another half hour he came charging back through the swamp on his big mule.
"Turn down that bed, doc," he yelled. "I think I'll stick around a while. That other guy's lyin' under the wagon, deader'n h—l."
"I should think you'd be scared," said the doctor.
"Aw," said the mule driver, "he never did have no constitution!"
