Nebraska Crops

Winter wheat in Nebraska, according to reports compiled by the State Board of Agriculture, averages approximately 29 per cent as compared with the condition last year. In average reports indicate that the percentage will exceed 100 per cent. The reports show an average of 3,153,740 acres.

One complaint of baked ground, one report of winter-killing and another of damage by spring winds reached the board. The other reports show the wheat crop in flattering condition with an abundance of moisture in the ground and excellent prospects for this season of the year.

RYE
The rye crop is reported 107 in condition with 101 in average. Conditions are much the same as with wheat except that there were fewer reports of damage.

ALFALFA
The alfalfa fields were never in better condition. Farmers report the situation excellent with increased plantings in the western and north-western parts of the state.

LIVE STOCK
Live stock came through the winter in an encouraging manner. The animals are reported in better condition than in previous years with less loss to the owners during the winter months.

FRUIT
Peach buds are reported injured from nearly all parts of the state. Some reports as high as 100 percent dead and others 90 percent alive. Averaging all reports received an average of 33 percent are alive and 66 percent dead. The buds still alive may have vitality enough to bloom and set fruit so that a fair crop may be secured.
Blackberries are generally reported in good shape.
Grapes are reported in good shape and prospects excellent for a crop.
The strawberry prospects are anything but encouraging. The majority of reports are that the condition is poor. The drought of last summer is responsible. Old beds were badly injured and spring set beds did not make many plants in numerous cases. However a few report prospects excellent.
Raspberries are in bud shape. A good many reports state that canes are entirely dead and others state that 50 to 75 percent. Prospects are on an average poor.

The prospects for pears bloom is good. Some report the injury due to blight and light setting of buds owing to excessive drought of last summer.
Some winter killing of cherry buds has been reported with some reports stating a light set of buds hence a poor prospect for bloom. However the major part report excellent prospects for good bloom.
Plums, Americana sorts are reported to be in good shape. Some report no prospect for crop. The major part of the reports indicate prospects in a light bloom of foreign varieties and good bloom of American sorts.

Reports on apples are good in most places, a few report that not many fruit buds set last year hence prospects for light bloom. A good deal of canker injury is reported which will tend to decrease the total prospects.

AN EDITOR'S JOB
It's Dead Easy, So the General Impression Has It
Most anybody can be an editor, says the Boston Globe. All an editor has to do is to sit at his desk six days in the week, four weeks in the month, and twelve months in the year and "edit" stuff as this:
"Mrs. Jones, of Lone Creek, let a can opener slip, last week, and cut her self in the pantry."
"A mischievous lad of Bangtown threw a stone and struck a companion in the alley last Tuesday."
"Joe Doe climbed on the roof of the house, last week, looking for a leak, and fell, striking himself on the back porch."
"While Harold Green was escorting Miss Violet Wise from a church social, last Saturday night, a savage dog attacked them and bit Mr. Green on the public square."
"Isaiah Trimmer, of Lebanon, was playing with a cat, Friday, when it scratched him on the veranda."
"Mr. White, while harnessing a broncho, last Saturday, was kicked just south of the corn crib."
Anybody can "edit" a newspaper. It's the easiest job and softest snap in the world.

Eli Meadows, who has gone to Booneville for a while, writes us of a peculiar experience he had recently. Eli said he had bought him a cow since going to Booneville, and that the other night went out to his cow stall to feed and by mistake mixed up a nice mash in a box full of sawdust instead of bran. The cow merely supposing that hard times had come, and that they were all going to economize, meekly ate her supper and Eli never discovered his misfortune until the next morning, when he milked the cow and she let down a gallon of turpentine, a quart of shoe pegs and a bundle of laths.—Ex.

To Enroll Farmers
Precinct assessors this year will enroll the names of all persons living on farms who are more than 21 years of age. The names of farm owners, tenants and helpers will be enrolled under the title "Occupants of Farms" in the agricultural statistics blanks. "Time Employed on Farms" will be tabulated under item 96 and "Amount of Wages Earned" under item 97. These changes have been agreed upon after the blanks were sent to the county assessors.
