As Others See Our New Court House

The special election held in Webster county last Tuesday settled forever the court house question that has been before the people the last ten years, and the new $20,000 building that was well started when stopped two months ago by a decision from the Supreme Court, will now go on as planned, and there a lot of tax payers in the county who are mighty well pleased to know that steps will be taken to preserve the county records that guard against future loss by fire or mildew.

As the contracts had already been let and approved, there will be little if any delay, and another year will see district court being held in a decent court room, and the county officers housed in decent quarters.—Guide Rock Signal.

The levy proposition for the building of a new court house in Webster county carried by 831 majority last Tuesday. The total vote polled was 1967. The plans call for a mottled brick structure, 61x81 feet, three stories, completed and furnished at a cost not exceeding $20,000. Red Cloud has just cause to jubilate just a little, for the old county capitol building has been an eyesore to the town since Heck was a little puppy. Franklin county is going to be called upon to build a new court house one of these times, and if size and material count for anything we hope that we may get as good a one for the money as our sister county on the east will soon boast of.—Franklin County Progress.

831 majority are in favor of going ahead with the Webster county court house. That squabble is now settled for good and all, and work will resume at once.—Naponee Herald.

The $20,000 court house bonds voted on Tuesday in Webster county, carried by 831 majority. This insures a substantial court house, as $20,000 had already been raised by levy. The contract has already been let for the erection of the building, which will be three stories high and with a full basement. In the city of Red Cloud forty voters voted against the proposition. They should be given their passports from the city and told never to return. This was probably the result of Red Cloud going dry at the spring election.—Franklin News.

Spring Spraying

The first spraying of apples should be applied at the time the blossom buds show pink and the cluster commences to open. This spray is directed against apple scab, rust, curculio, canker and worms. The materials used are Bordeaux mixture (3 pounds Blue Stone, 4 pounds lime, 50 gallons water), as a fungicide and Arsenate of lead, (2 pounds to 50 gallons of water), as an insecticide combining the two in one solution. Apply in fine mist and be sure that every part of the tree is covered with a thin film.

Pears should be sprayed same as apples.

The first spraying of plums and peaches should be about ten days after the petals fall or when calyxes are shedding using commercial lime, sulphur solution (1 1/2 gallons to 50 gallons of water), in a combined solution.

Grapes should be sprayed at least 4 times. The first spraying should be applied when the flower buds are commencing to swell. The materials used are Bordeaux mixture (4 pounds Blue Stone, 5 pounds Lime, 50 gallons water) Arsenate of lead (2 pounds to 50 gallons water) in combined solution.

For The Exposition

Nebraskans and Ex-Nebraskans on the Pacific coast are taking a keen interest in the effort to raise sufficient funds for a Nebraska building on the grounds of the Pacific Panama exposition. The commission appointed by Governor Morehead and the state officials is making every effort to raise the money. It is planned to use as much of the material as possible on the Nebraska state fair grounds after the exposition is over.

Prominent Visitor Here

Last Friday evening there arrived in Exeter Dr. and Mrs. Robt. Damarell, whose home is at Red Cloud, Nebraska, but who have been visiting at Honolulu for the past two months. While here they were the guests of the editor of the Sun and wife and of Mr. and Mrs. George Garner, Mrs. Damarell being a cousin of Mr. Garner.

A rather peculiar thing happened to the doctor while he was away. He was placed in nomination and elected to the office of Mayor of his home town and absolutely knew nothing of it until he arrived in Exeter, not even being a possible candidate when he left there. There was a very popular candidate in opposition to him as well but the doctor beat him over a hundred votes.

The doctor owns nearly 3,000 acres of excellent land in Nebraska and says he is going back to sell every foot of it and come to California. He also owns a residence there which would hold any big house in Exeter and have room to spare. Although having had forty years of practice he is now trying to get away from that work entirely. For many years he was superintendent of the State Insane Asylum and had 3,500 patients under him. It is hoped that he will again come to Exeter to at least invest although he might not want to live here all the time. While here he made an offer on a piece of property.—Exeter Sun, California.

Cholera Treatment For Gestating Sows

Exposed sows that are in the early period of gestation should be given the double simultaneous treatment. This consists of giving serum alone at the rate of 25 cubic centimeters per hundred pounds and in a week or ten days giving 40 cubic centimeters of serum per hundred pounds and at the same time 2 cubic centimeters of virulent blood. The loss from either vaccination or abortion should be very small. In all conditions hogs should be fed a very light ration for two weeks following the simultaneous treatment. Failure to observe this rule may be the cause of a considerable percentage of loss.

University Trains Rural Teachers

Ninety percent of the young women graduates of the normal training course of the University School of Agriculture have either signed contracts or expect to become rural school teachers in Nebraska. The students of this course have studied the regular high school subjects including domestic science, normal training, secondary school agriculture, and the art of teaching. Last year the graduates from the normal training course became teachers in York, Hamilton, Valley, Dodge, and Douglas counties. The total number of graduates this year from the University School of Agriculture is 89.

How To Grow Good Potatoes

Much information regarding the varieties, planting, treatment of seed for scab and other diseases, and the care of the potato crop may be obtained from the bulletin department of the University Farm, Lincoln.

Young people of the state who belong to the Boys' and Girls' Potato clubs of the state should send for extension bulletin No. 12, a general treatise on the growing of potatoes. Press bulletin No. 40 entitled "Potato Planters" is also valuable.
