A man who was afraid of thunder crawled into a hollow log as a place of safety during a thunder storm. The thunder rolled and the rain poured down in torrents, and the old log began to swell up till the poor fellow was wedged in so tight that he could not get out. All his past sins began passing before him. Suddenly he remembered he hadn't paid his newspaper subscription, and he felt so small that he was able to back right out.

Attention is called to the announcement of H. C. Wright of Rosemont as a candidate for the nomination of County Treasurer of Webster county on the Democratic ticket. Mr. Wright has lived in Oak Creek township for thirty-seven years, and has always been an active leader and worker in the Democratic ranks and has spent much time in boosting his party tickets. He has never had a county office. For the past eight years he has been engaged in the general merchandise business at Rosemont and his business experience has been such as to ably qualify him for the duties of county treasurer.

Talk about the benefits of advertising. Down in Florida not long ago a family lost a child which they supposed had strayed away from home and got lost. After searching in vain for three days the frantic parents placed an advertisement in the nearest newspaper. Imagine the surprise of the parents upon going to the door the next morning to see a monster alligator upon the door-step, where he had disgorged the child alive and then died himself. The "ad" cost them 25 cents, and it gave them back their darling child. They sold the alligator hide for $5, and the parents are showing the child in all the dime museums of the land at $50 per week. Does advertising pay?

There is absolutely no redeeming feature in gossip. Even true, we do not desire to know disagreeable things about any of our neighbors. Nothing is more demoralizing to a man than to lose faith in his fellows. The man of faith and honor is not apt to be suspicious of others, and does not willingly believe evil. The lover of scandal and immorality and believer in it, alike deficient in honor and morality, are the base of well organized society. If all gossips could be quietly killed some morning the next generation of men and women would be happier. A case of hydrophobia now and then starts the cry of "muzzle the dog." Death on the highways! There is death and mystery in the highways and byways and the homes from the poisoned tongues of the gossips. Let the voice go up, "muzzle the gossips." Teach the children that gossiping is dishonorable and that faith in the honor and virtue of mankind will build society and add to the sum of human happiness. Braving Boaster.

Can anything be more pleasant in the busy fire-drain of after years than to permit your mind to wander back to the days of school life? The sweet memories and incidents that will come up the smiling faces and pleasant recollections, the old school house does that has so often admitted you, swinging back and forth on its hinges, the very walls speaking forth of happy hours; while at your side stands the noble teacher who watched your every move and was as much interested in your success as you were yourself. As these recollections come back to you whose school lives have been spent in this community, your eyes will moisten as you realize those days are now gone forever. Never again will those days return. You who for so many months and years have been like one family and participated joyously together in the school room and play ground have doubtless pledged loyalty and faith to the school. You now step out of school life into life's school and will be scattered far and wide, but the memories of your school days will ever form the brightest link in your chain of thought.

THE ALARM is a dreadful thing for the man without insurance. Every time he sees the engines racing along his heart comes up in his throat if the fire is anywhere near his place. What folly, what mistaken economy. THE COST OF INSURANCE need hardly be considered. The freedom from worry alone is worth it many times over. Have us insure you to-day. O. C. TEEL, Reliable Insurance.
