June--The Wettest Ever

We are indebted to Chas. S. Ludlow for the following information as to the weather. The month of June just past with a rainfall of 13.12 is the wettest June ever recorded. In 1897-19, 93 inches fell which is the next largest in amount. The wettest month in any year since the settlement of the country was July 1902 when 13.52 poured down. The average yearly rainfall is 25.27 inches. In the first six months of this year the rainfall has amounted to 25.46. The greatest rainfall of any year was in 1802 with 39.91 inches while the smallest amount occurred in 1894 when only 14.41 fell.

Weekly Weather Forecast

Weather forecast for the week beginning Wednesday, July 14, 1915 issued by the U. S. Weather Bureau, Washington, D. C., for the Upper Mississippi Valley and Plains States:
Scattered thundershowers and moderately warm weather during the next two days will be followed by a change to considerably cooler weather during the 16th and 17th, and fair weather thereafter.

The Beer Keg Comes Into It's Own At Last

FEBRUARY, July 11. The farmers of this section of Nebraska, in their eagerness to harvest the wheat crop before it becomes too ripe and while the ground is still soft, have put in operation a simple inexpensive attachment to prevent the harvester bull wheel from miring in the fields.

This device is nothing more than an ordinary beer keg with a hollow two-inch gas pipe run through the center for an axis. Each end of the axis is attached to a heavy iron brace rod about fourteen inches long and the braces are attached to the rear frame of the binder with the aid of clamps bolted.

When the heavy bull wheel begins to mire the weight is immediately transferred to the wide banded trailer and the harvesting proceeds even if the ground is quite soft.—Monday's State Journal.

- Inside Guardian—Frank Amack.
- R. S. V. G.—Will Mountford.
- L. S. V. G.—Harry Buckles.

Business Men Will Work On The Roads

Next Thursday has been appointed as a day for fixing the river road. All men of all professions, business and vocations are called upon to respond to this appeal and help for one day to make this road passable. The recent disastrous floods have fairly destroyed the road to the river bridge. Something needs to be done. The committee in charge of this work need at least 125 teams and twice that many men to make this road next Thursday. All stores will be closed on that day.

Everybody bring your shovel, pick or spade. Notify Dr. Mitchell, F. W. Cowden or H. A. Letson that you will be there.

This committee also reports owing to harvest being in full swing at this time, that there is a shortage of teams, and anyone who can possibly contribute a team on this day will be doing themselves and the community a great favor.

Will YOU be there?

The following is the list of those who have contributed, up-to-date, to the Good Roads Petition, which was faithfully circulated by Dr. R. S. Mitchell and Frank Cowden. The figure after the name equals the number of days, at $3.50 per day, donated:

Some Fine Pictures

"The Lady of the Snows" a three act photo play which was presented at the Tepee, Monday and Tuesday evening, was exceptionally fine and greatly pleased the crowds who were fortunate in witnessing it. For the past few weeks Manager Warren has been making Monday and Tuesday evenings special feature nights and at this time he has been exhibiting pictures, at regular prices, which have proven far superior to those shown in larger cities at a likewise larger price.

The Tepee is well ventilated, a large number of electric fans are kept constantly in motion, and it is proving an ideal cool retreat where one may spend a summer evening and witness pictures which have been so carefully selected, as to be both educational and interesting.
