Guy Zeigler Weds Miss Cora Weesner

On Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Weesner, occurred the marriage of their daughter, Cora A. to Mr. Guy Zeigler. Miss Irene Buckles played the wedding march. Rev. Cole, pastor of the Baptist church was the officiating clergyman who tied the nuptial knot. After congratulations an elegant wedding supper was served. Only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties were present.

The bride is one of our most charming and accomplished young ladies, is a graduate of the Red Cloud High School, is a lady of many graces of mind and person and in every way is worthy of the man to whom she has given her hand.

The groom is one of our most popular young men, and an electrician of considerable ability. He came to this city about four years ago and accepted the position of light and water commissioner, which position he yet retains, and at which he has made good. He is a young man of exemplary habits, attends strictly to business, and it can be truly said of him also, that he is in every way worthy the girl of his choice.

The young couple left the same evening for a short honeymoon trip, and on their return to this city will go to house-keeping in the Mrs. Will Scribner residence in the first ward.

The Chief joins with the entire community in wishing this young couple a long, prosperous and happy life.

Thompson-Boner

On Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock Mr. Wm. G. Thompson and Miss Grace H. Boner were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Boner, who reside north east of this city. Only the members of the two families and relatives were present.

The bride was prettily attired in white wool goods trimmed with white satin and the groom wore a suit of dark brown.

Many pretty and useful presents were in evidence.

After the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. C. L. Myers pastor of the Methodist church of Red Cloud, the guests were seated at a table heavily laden with good things to eat to which all did justice.

An infare and dinner was given by the groom's parents Wednesday. The bride and groom will make their home on a farm near Cowles.

Three Are Called By The Grim Reaper

R. B. Fulton

R. B. Fulton passed peacefully away at his home in this city on Saturday morning, October 9th, after only a few days illness.

Robert Barton Fulton was born in Mercer county, Penn., April 19, 1836. He moved to Jackson county, Iowa, in 1855, and in 1856 was united in marriage to Miss Adelaide E. Hazen. In 1861 Mr. Fulton enlisted in Company B, First Iowa Cavalry, and served his country faithfully four years during the Civil war. At the close of the war he returned to his native state and settled at Oil City, where he lived for some time. In 1872 he came to Webster county, Nebraska, and settled on a homestead. Later he moved to Red Cloud, where he has since resided.

Four children were born in the Fulton home, one boy who died in infancy and a daughter who died in 1885. Two sons, Victor B. and Willis P. Fulton still survive their father. His wife died in 1910.

Grandpa Fulton was a remarkable man. Just before the war he made an important invention, which, while he was at war, was taken up by a corporation, patented and used for the benefit of the corporations, without Mr. Fulton's consent. He also had several important inventions under construction at the time of his death. He was a thorough student of geology and had worked out the outlines of a text book. He read Dana eight times. In his younger days he was an active Mason, and took great interest in the Knight Templar work. For years he had been clerk of the Red Cloud Cemetery Association. For more than forty years he had been a faithful member of the Baptist church, and remained interested in religion until the close of his earthly life.

He leaves two sons, three brothers and other relatives besides a host of friends to mourn his loss. His death is a loss to the community, the church, and the country, but our loss is his eternal gain. Even the little folks will miss Grandpa Fulton for all loved and honored him.

Funeral services were held at the home of Earl Hall in this city, Monday October 11th, at 11 o'clock a. m. Rev. Cole, pastor of the Baptist church, preached a very able and appropriate sermon. Rev. Bates and Myers offered prayer and J. L. Beebe gave a life sketch of the deceased. A very pretty and touching scene was the members of the Sunday School marching past the casket, on which each laid a white flower. Interment was made in the Red Cloud cemetery.

D. L. Groat

D. L. Groat who had been sick for several weeks died at his home in this city Sunday night. Mr. Groat was one of the old pioneers of this county, having come here in the fall of 1871 and took up a homestead in Inavale precinct which he farmed for about twenty years.

Mr. Groat was born in New York in July, 1840, and was 75 years old at the time of his death.

When the Civil War broke out in 1861 he enlisted in Co. A, 15th Illinois Infantry and served his country with honor throughout that struggle. He leaves a wife and several children to mourn his death.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Christian church. Rev. Hummel, assisted by Rev. Beebe officiating. Burial took place in the city cemetery.

Mrs. Anna Polnicky

Mrs. Anna Polnicky, aged 61 years, died at her home in this city Saturday afternoon after an illness of several weeks duration. She was born in Bohemia on June 12, 1855, and came to this county on May 30, 1880, when she was united in marriage to Joseph Polnicky. They settled on a homestead in Batin township on which they lived until Mr. Polnicky's death a few years ago, after which she leased the farm and has since resided in this city. She was a kind mother and her affection for friends and kindred was tender and abiding.

Four daughters, Mrs. Joseph Havel, Mrs. Jesse Dordick, Mrs. Ted Harris and Miss Mildred, one son, Emil, a father, two brothers and two sisters are left to mourn her demise. The funeral services were held at the home Monday afternoon, Rev. Hummel assisted by Revs. Myers and Beebe officiating.
