After an extended illness, death came on Wednesday evening to relieve the sufferings of Dr. J. W. Moranville, one of our highly respected pioneer citizens.

The doctor was born in West Derby, Vermont, in the year of 1845. He received a common school education in his native state, later attending college in Canada, whither his parents, Jacob and Lucy (Blake) Moranville, moved for one year. After a three years' residence in Canada he returned to the States and commenced the study of medicine, first in Lawrence, Massachusetts, where he also did his first practicing. Subsequently he attended homeopathic lectures in Chicago, Illinois, in 1873.

He commenced the practice of his chosen profession in Salem, Vermont, next at Bristol, Green county, Iowa. In 1879 he came to Nebraska, locating at Cowles, this county, next locating at Guide Rock, practicing there for nine years, when he came to this city and has resided here ever since.

In 1882 he enlisted in the army at Salem, Vermont, four years later, at the close of the Civil war, he received an honorable discharge.

Dr. Moranville was of a very charitable disposition and during the many years of practice, he not only controlled his professional services, to those less fortunate in receiving their share of this world's goods, but also provided food and clothing for his patients and their families.

His kind and loving disposition has won for him a host of friends, as where ever he went, he had a kind word and a smile for everyone. He is survived by seven brothers, two sisters, a wife, three sons, Harry, Ernest and James, and two daughters, Mrs. Gertie Baurers and Miss Maude.

The funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at one o'clock.
