University Week Pleases The People

The one grand event of the season is now in full swing in the good old town of Red Cloud—University Week, which opened here last Saturday. The University Cadet Band arrived at an early hour Saturday morning and after rehearsal spent the balance of the morning viewing the sights about town and becoming acquainted with the citizens. After a noonday repast they assembled and gave a free open air concert on the corner of Fourth avenue and Webster street which was highly appreciated by a large audience.

Among the many selections rendered was a march composed by our able band leader, Prof. LeRoy.

Much interest was shown in the appearance of this band, it being the first opportunity that the majority of our people have had of seeing this renowned musical organization and also due to the fact that two of the "home boys" are members, they being Ray Saunders, captain and Raymond Turnure, snare drummer.

Many people who were of the opinion that University boys measured up to ideals of fiction writers, who, in their stories, make them appear as of an effeminate nature, were greatly pleased to find them all excellent specimens of manhood possessing all the qualities of gentlemen. In fact their short stay in our city made a lasting and pleasing impression upon our people, who will at any time welcome another opportunity of entertaining the boys.

On Saturday evening they appeared before a packed house at the Orpheum and rendered a musical program which will be long remembered by those attending.

All seats were occupied and standing room was at a premium at the Orpheum Monday evening, when the University Players presented "Alias Jimmy Valentine". Each and every one taking part in this play exhibited to a marked degree the talent they possess and many are the words of praise to be heard on the streets and in social circles. This show far surpassed previous road shows and is classed among the very best attractions presented to the theater going public in cities many times the size of Red Cloud.

The Glee Club, under the direction of Mrs. Carrie B. Raymond appeared before a large and appreciative audience on Tuesday evening. The manner in which they rendered the various selections appealed strongly to the audience by their loud applause. The personnel included the name of one of Red Cloud's boys, C. R. Sherer.

The University Road Show made their appearance on Wednesday evening. The program consisted of six numbers, or a regular lyceum course in one evening. The second number, the acrobatic act illustrated in a very fine manner the excellent work carried on by the physical education department of the University. The musical farce written especially for the Road Show was also worthy of note.

On this evening E. Frank Schramm, associate professor of geology in the University of Nebraska will lecture on South American countries. This lecture will be illustrated with slides made from photos taken by the Professor during the time he was doing research work in Central America. Professor Schramm is well versed on the conditions in these countries and will give his audience a first hand knowledge of them.

University week has made a decided hit with the people of Red Cloud as was evidenced by the number of people attending each attraction. In all the different numbers were the most entertaining and instructive attractions ever held in our city.

Tepee Damaged by Fire

At about eleven o'clock Friday morning the alarm was sounded which brought the fire ladders to their post of duty, as at that time smoke was seen issuing from the building in which the Tepee Theater is located. It was a matter of but a few minutes until two streams of water were turned into the building and within a very short time the fire chief announced "fire's out".

The exact cause of the blaze is still unknown, as no fire had been used to heat the building that day.

The blaze was located on the north east corner of the stage and had worked its way up to the ceiling. Had it not been for the prompt service of the firemen the entire building would have been destroyed.

F. W. Cowden of the firm of Cowden-Kaley Clothing Co., expects to leave the first of the week for Chicago, Cleveland and other eastern cities where he will look over the new fall and winter lines of clothing and men's furnishings and purchase their fall stock of goods.

GOLF AN OLD GAME

Was Once Played in Holland on the Ice.

Goes Back at Least Five Centuries—So Popular in Scotland in 1457 It Interfered With Other Games.

"You have to be a fine rider, do you not, to play golf?" was the commonest question in regard to the game not more than 35 years ago. At that time the man who traveled about with a set of golf clubs was an object of some astonishment to his fellow travelers! And yet the game of golf, according to the new Encyclopedia Britannica, goes back at least five centuries. It is portrayed by early Dutch painters, who generally showed it being played on ice! But one of the pictures in a Dutch Illumined Book of Hours, now in the British museum, is a painting of three men putting at a hole in the turf as in our modern golf. Although the Dutchmen played and painted golf, they did not write about it and we have no records describing the game.

Just when Scotland took up golf is unknown, but 1457 it was already so popular, says the Britannica, that it interfered with the more important pursuit of archery. In May, 1471, an act of the Scottish parliament was passed forbidding this sport: "Futeball and Golfe forbidden. Item, it is statut and ordanit that in na place of the realm there be usit fute-ball golfe or uther silk unprofitabill sports," etc.

It is rather curious that this is an edict of James IV who later became very much attached to the practice of the "unprofitabill sport"—not only he, but his daughter, Mary Stuart. It was alleged by her enemies that, as showing her shameless indifference to the fate of her husband, a very few days after his murder, she "was seen playing golf and pall-mall in the fields beside Stoton."

Golf has from old times been known in Scotland as "the Royal and Ancient Game of Golf." Many monarchs have made it their favorite diversion and since its introduction into America all the presidents have found it a favorite form of exercise.

There is still standing in Edinburgh a monument of the prowess of James II as a golfer. After the Restoration James, then duke of York, was sent to Edinburgh in 1681 as commissioner of the king to parliament. He was challenged by two Englishmen, nobles of his suite, to play a match against them, for a very large stake, along with any Scotch ally he might select. With his partner, who was one "John Paterson," a shoemaker, the duke easily won the game. He made over half of the large stake to his humble co-adjutor, who herewith built himself a house at No. 77 Cannongate, which has always been called Golfer's Land.

Fewer Eggs are required with ROYAL BAKING POWDER

In many recipes the number of eggs may be reduced with excellent results by using an additional quantity of Royal Baking Powder, about a teaspoon, for each egg omitted. The following recipe is a practical example:

Chocolate Sponge Roll

1/4 cups flour
2/3 teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
2 squares melted chocolate

2 tablespoons melted shortening
1/4 cup hot water
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder

The old method called for 4 eggs and no baking powder

DIRECTIONS—Sift flour, baking powder and salt together three times. Beat whole eggs. Add slowly sugar, then boiling water slowly; add next vanilla, melted chocolate and melted shortening, without beating. Sift in dry ingredients, and fold in as lightly as possible. Pour into large baking pan lined with oiled paper, and bake in slow oven twenty minutes. When done, turn out on a damp, hot cloth, spread with white icing and roll.

Booklet of recipes which economize in eggs and other expensive ingredients mailed free.
