THE ONLY DEMOCRATIC PAPER IN WEBSTER COUNTY

The Kaiser couldn't get over to the Parisian breakfast. Now he is getting hungry and is trying to coax someone to bring the meal to him. That's what German "peace" talk amounts to. "Nothing doing, Bill."

Have you noticed how German profers of "peace" coincide in date with Allied success and Liberty Loan campaigns? A beaten cur will fawn at your feet for favor. But don't forget, he will bite again as soon as he gets the opportunity.

Another crushing blow is due the Kaiser and his misled cohorts. And this is to be given by the citizens of these United States—the untamed soldiery of America. It's the big drive that is to aid in making all other drives successful. The fourth Liberty Loan. "Are you on?"

When the soldiers come home they are going to rule this big country of ours. Going away they were boys. Coming back they will be men. Men "wised up" in a school of experience such as was never dreamed of before. This experience, this knowledge, this wisdom, will be honored and will rule "When the soldiers come home."

The Huns had no sentiment of pity when they ravaged Belgium; they showed no pity when they took the Lusitania; they were devoid of pity when slaying defenseless women and children. Don't let an iota of pity creep into your system when suggestions of "peace" come from the warring Germans.

The turn of the tide has come in the great war. This means much to this country, but it is not within the range of possibilities to understand what it means to the war-torn people of Europe. The sufferings, the deprivations, the actual wars, the plucking banners, the never ending loss of men, the hard and constant labor of women will not have been in vain. Everyone's load will be lighter even though there may be no lightning of the load. It will be easier for all when it appears that there is a certainty of victory at the end of the fight. It has been a long, discouraging and disheartening fight for the allies, but happier days are now in sight.

Carl Brown, the past editor of the Red Cloud Chief, says he is not in favor of the registration. "Why should I register this little paper?" he asks. "The Lord has given me a good business. The Lord would not give me wisdom of choice. Man can choose 2 or 3. The Lord and his angels choose to rule hell and it is now the day of the allies to knock hell out of that village. A good start has been made in that direction."

A lot of trouble is being caused in most every county by the registration. It is very easy for rumors to be started which do great injustice to those boards. It is wise, when stories of that kind reach one's ears, to ascertain from someone with knowledge of the facts what the situation really is before discussing the matter at all. Rumors of this kind grow in repetition. Let's all be careful not to do either the board or the registrant any injustice by talking too much.

If there is one thing above all others for which a man deserves credit it is faithful service, especially when his time and labor are given free—and more especially when the everyday duties for which he is paid are all sufficiently arduous and are doubled by volunteer work for which no remuneration is asked. There are men of this class in every community—men holding official positions—who are doing double duty and who are not allowed time to get before the public and state their case. The draft boards are fair examples in this class. Bring the situation right home and it stands out clearly. Look at the local draft board, Messrs. Perry, Ducker, Dr. Dussell, and their able assistant sheriff Haffen. They drive on steadily, silently, patriotically, and trust to the patriotism of their constituents for appreciation. They ask little and should be given much.

Mr. Dunn of the Grand Island Business College, informs us that war conditions are greatly stimulating their attendance. The government is making frequent demands that they hurry the preparation of their students to meet the increased demands for competent office and commercial help. The college is having no summer vacation this year but is concentrating every effort to help the young men and women through intensified training to engage at the earliest possible minute in some branch of office work that is so necessary to the commercial and economic welfare of the nation. Mr. Dunn says: "No vacation for me this year, I can serve my country best by keeping our school open while competent help is so much in demand. After victory, and we've reached Berlin, well, then it's time to think about rest, but not now. It's our duty to take care of the large number of splendid young people who are daily entering our college and volunteering for this very important part of patriotic service."—Grand Island Daily Independent.
