SAD DAY FOR CAPITALISTS

Even the Bloated Monopolist at the Newspaper Desk is Victim of Vicious System.

What are we coming to, and whither are we drifting? Alas, these be perilous times, and sadly out of joint. Whoever it was let loose the "got to have more money" bacillus started something there seems to be no stopping. It has spread like an epidemic; is not confined to any particular class of people or limited to any particular age. Witness this over the telephone to us yesterday morning from our own daughter:
"Hello, that you, daddy?"
"Yes."
"This is Marjorie."
"Well?"
"You're going away tomorrow?"
"Yes."
"Well, I just called you up to let you know that before you go you'll have to increase my wages."
We promised to do so, and then said with a sigh: "These are certainly sad days for us capitalists."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER.

Constipation invites other troubles which come speedily unless quickly checked and overcome by Green's August Flower which is a gentle laxative, regulates digestion both in stomach and intestines, cleans and sweetens the stomach and alimentary canal, stimulates the liver to secrete the bile and impurities from the blood. It is a sovereign remedy used in many thousands of households all over the civilized world for more than half a century by those who have suffered with indigestion, nervous dyspepsia, sluggish liver, coming up of food, palpitation, constipation and other intestinal troubles. Sold by druggists and dealers everywhere. Try a bottle take no substitute.—Adv.

The Past.
I have said that I deemed it a great thing for a nation, in all periods of its fortunes, to be able to look back to a race of founders and a principle of institution in which it might seem to see the realized idea of true heroism. That felicity, that pride, that help is ours. Our past, both its great era, should announce, should compel, should spontaneously evolve as from a germ a wise moral and glorious future.—Henry Chorley.

He Thought It Did.
"Do you believe that the moonlight makes people silly, George?" asked the sweet young bride after the honeymoon.
"Well, dear," remarked the husband from behind his evening paper, "you know I proposed marriage to you in the moonlight."

Taught Them to March.
Church—Do you believe in military training?
Gotham—Well, I will say that, so far as a lot of fellows who have called on my daughter and increased my gas bills are concerned, I have instructed them how to march.

Among Musicians.

What You Will in Suits

"What are they wearing?" in suits has ceased to be as interesting as "What are they showing now?" It has come to pass that women demand a variety of styles and a chance to indulge individual taste, and manufacturers have fostered these demands by replenishing the retailers' stocks with new developments of the season's modes. The story for winter is about to close and it reveals that we may wear suits having a straight-line silhouette or those with fitted waists, with equal propriety, that redingote styles have grown in popularity and that velvet has made long strides since the beginning of the season. It is in great demand for mid-winter. Except for sport suits the manufacturers will have little more to offer this season, for they are already engrossed with suits for spring and promise more radical departures from the styles of today than for many past seasons.
Two suits, distinctly different in type, but each showing an interpretation of the long coat styles, are shown above. The stately model at the left is made of duvetyne and reflects the influence of the redingote besides taking cognizance of the widened hip idea. It is trimmed with rat-tail braid and a few buttons and two very narrow tucks in the coat, above the hem, invite attention to the accuracy of the tailor's art. A further testimony is offered by a front panel that is cut in one with the belt and widens above the waistline, making a smart diagonal closing at the left side. A muffer collar of sealskin bears out the elegance of this design and probably adds more than a pretty penny to the price of the suit.
Silverstone is to be credited with much of the fine style which gives assurance to the wearer of the suit at the right. This fuzzy material with a silver sheen will delight the tourist and as shown here is a model that could not be improved upon for traveling.

One-Piece Frocks for Midwinter

The one-piece frock has its advantages for the busy women of today, and now divides honors with the tailored suits in the estimation of business or socially active people. Certain of these one-piece models were launched at the beginning of the season under a new and very adequate name, as "all-day dresses." This title describes them and points out their advantages for the woman whose affairs give her little time for making changes of her costume.
The one-piece dress is developed in all the fabrics that are used for suits, and in some that are not often used for suits. In the picture above, a frock of dark blue tricotone demonstrates how effectively this practical material has been worked up into a tailored dress that is charmingly graceful and chic. It is really a masterpiece of designing with a panel down the front from neck to hem, and a new management of the sides of the skirt where big patch pockets are set on. Below them the material in wide plaits simulates a long tunic. The panel at the front avoids being too plain by means of a tuck set in on a line with the pockets, and above it are pendant silk ornaments. Below the tuck, round-covered buttons are set on with the beautiful accuracy that is the glory of tailored clothes. The waist is bloused back and front, affording a straight-line silhouette. Buttons and pendants embellish the panel in it, and buttons finish off the very long and shapely sleeves. This model has the unusual virtue of looking well on almost any figure.
Satin furnishes the best material for a frock like that at the right. It is simply designed, being a three-tier skirt and a smock with satin-covered buttons and sash by way of adornment.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Catarrhal Deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing may be destroyed forever. Many cases of Deafness are caused by Catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the Mucous Surfaces. ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that is not cured by HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE. All Druggists 75c. Circulars free. F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

Berlin's Heating Plan.
The city of Berlin adopted in July a new plan for supplying some public buildings with heat and warm water. Exhaust steam from the Berlin electricity works will be used, in addition to coke heated boilers. Pipes are to be laid in concrete conduits along the streets, the pipe sections to be welded together. A number of tenement houses will be included in the distribution area, which is set at about two miles at first. It was the original intention to commence the supply this winter, but it is doubtful if the work will have been completed in time.

PAID FOR DECENT BURIAL
Ghostly Visitor Who Appeared to Lucky Campers Proved to Be Man of His Word.

Britons Breed Rabbits for Fur.
Rabbit breeding in Great Britain, to supply a portion of the large quantities of fur purchased in the country, is stated by a commerce report to be the purpose of the new Beveren club. The fur of the blue beveren is described as having a lovely shade of lavender blue throughout, and as being long, lustrous, exceedingly fine and silky; that of the Havana rabbit is a rich chocolate color and is thick and fairly long. From these varieties it is hoped to produce natural furs with a fine color that will not fade.

A good ghost story comes from New Brunswick. Two men were out camping and shooting in wild country. One night one of them awoke and saw sitting over the glowing embers of the dying fire a figure dressed in an eighteenth century costume.
"Who are you?" asked the sportsman, startled. The ghost bade him search in the cliff above which the camp lay, and told him that he would find his (the speaker's) bones there. He ordered him to bury them decently, and take as his reward what he found in the cave.
The figure then vanished. At dawn the two comrades set to work. They found the entrance to a cave which had been almost blocked by a landslide. Inside was a skeleton with a massive gold ring on its bony finger, and around the skeleton lay various books of dates varying from 1659 to 1685. There was also a manuscript giving the locality and description of a treasure buried near by, which the lucky finders duly dug up and appropriated.
