Ha-Ha-Ha!

At the foot of a steep hill stood a signboard on which the following notice was painted:

"Danger—Bicyclists and autoists are hereby notified that this hill is dangerous and they are cautioned to come down slowly."

Appended to this were the equally funny lines.

"Any person not able to read the above will have it read for them if they call on the blacksmith who lives around the corner."

A Scotsman saw this notice and explained to his friends that the point of the joke was that the blacksmith might not be at home.—Boys' Life.

Wanted His Place.

A young man who is painfully bashful called upon my niece who was visiting us. Our little grandson is very fond of attention and climbed upon the young man's knee, seated himself and began to chatter. He was called, and as he ran from the room he looked back and said: "Don't let any one get my place."—Exchange.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION NOTES

Lincoln.—Those who have been fearful that the constitutional convention is going to practically abandon the present constitution and set up in its place an almost entirely new redraft for adoption by the voters this fall, apparently have little to fear. In fact, the attitude of the great majority of the members seems to be that only such changes should be made as are generally demanded. There also seems to be a strong sentiment in favor of leaving more power to the legislature than is permitted by the present constitution. That the salary of state officials should be left to be fixed by the legislature has many supporters. Up to the end of last week the assembly had been in session thirty-four days, and many members have expressed the thought that the convention will finish its work by the first of March.

The committee on taxation and revenue is struggling with the proposition of exempting bonds of state, county, municipal, school district or other political subdivisions from taxation. The committee instructed a subcommittee to draft three separate plans. They are: First, exempting such bonds, except from income tax on them; second, a provision that the legislature may exempt public bonds from taxation except income; and, third, that no bonds shall be exempt from taxation.

The convention apparently has taken a definite stand to refuse to knock out the death penalty from the constitution. The assembly, by a vote of three to one, voted down a motion by Delegate Flansburg to reverse the committee on miscellaneous subjects in its report recommending the indefinite postponement of two measures abolishing capital punishment.

The committee on education recommended for indefinite postponement Proposals Nos. 53 and 175, by Evans and Taylor, both for the election of regents of the university by districts, also No. 85 by Svoboda, creating a state board of education, elected by districts, to have control of the university normal schools and common schools.

Nebraska women will be eligible for jury service so far as the state constitution is concerned if the people approve the draft prepared by the constitutional convention. In adopting a proposal to permit the legislature to provide for the returns of verdicts in civil cases by a five-sixths vote of the jury, convention eliminated the word "men."

An attack was made on parlor bolshevists by members of the convention when an attempt was made to put on general file Proposal No. 205, making it necessary for every voter to be able to read and understand the constitution. The attempt failed and the proposition was definitely postponed.

The committee of public indebtedness recommended indefinite postponement for Proposal No. 232, by Cornell, a proposal to permit the state to create a state debt for the purpose of buying land in large tracts and selling it in small parcels to settlers.

Convention delegates appear to be generally in favor of an amendment to the constitution creating an industrial court to adjust labor disputes. Three proposals before the assembly, Nos. 144, 217 and 357 provide for such a body.

The committee on municipal government has acted favorably on the proposal which will grant home rule to the city of Omaha. Other cities of the state remain under the same constitutional provision as at present.

The committee on state county boundaries, Bigelow, chairman, placed No. 228 on the general file in the form of a substitute, which permits the legislature to readjust county boundaries upon section lines or boundary streams.

After a long verbal battle, the convention approved a proposal to permit Nebraskans connected with the military or naval forces of the country to vote, but left the details to be worked out by the legislature.

The convention killed the compulsory vote amendment, under the provisions of which a penalty would attach to failure to vote in any election.

By unanimous vote the convention passed the woman suffrage amendment to the new constitution.

Douglas county delegates are pushing with vigor Proposals Nos. 275, 276, 277 and 278 by Abbott, which, if adopted will impose drastic regulations on all public service corporations in Nebraska.

Public attention has been called to Proposals 274, 306 and 308, now before the committee on public service corporations, which some delegates predict if adopted and ratified will strip municipalities of power to control public utilities, city or privately owned.

By a vote of six to five the committee on bill of rights went on record in favor of taking private property for private use. The committee did this in voting to recommend for general file proposal No. 96 by Ross of Merrick.

If You Need a Medicine You Should Have the Best

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfill the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it. A prominent druggist says "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact, so many people claim, that it fulfills almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments; corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism. You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcel Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention this paper. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.—Adv.
