Regular Ford Way

Henry Ford tested the Ford Starting and Lighting System on his own car for one year.

Ten months ago Ford Motor Company was not manufacturing Electric Starters; today the output of its Starter Department is greater than that of any other manufacturer of electric starting devices in the world. Its nearest competitor makes one thousand a day, whereas the Ford Company's output is fast approaching the three thousand mark, two thousand eight hundred and eighty one already having been manufactured in one day.

The Ford starter and generator, for it is really two separate units—is not the result of a new idea or of a sudden decision. More than eight years ago Mr. Henry Ford's vision saw the need, and his electrical engineers were instructed to begin experimenting. After seven years years of constant research, which took into consideration the many different climates in which the Ford car is used, together with the factors of size and weight and an adaptability to quantity production, twenty-three trial jobs were built. These were tested in many different ways. Mr. Ford himself used one on his car for a year. Still the engineers continued their experiments and improvements.

Then came the order from the government for 15,000 three ton tanks, each one of which was to be equipped with two synchronized Ford Motors. A starter was essential, so the one now being installed on Ford cars was evolved. But, only one starter and generator was used to turn over the two Ford motors in each tank. January first, 1919, the Ford Motor Company began equipping enclosed cars with this new starting and lighting system. Ford engineers say that although the entire system—Starter and Generator, weighs only thirty pounds, it produces a higher torque output (constant rotary motion) pound for pound, than any other system on the market.

When the department for building the Starting and Lighting Systems first began production, fifty hours labor was charged to each unit, but now that machinery and equipment have been installed, the time per unit is four hours. Two huge armature impregnating ovens have been installed, each with a capacity of 1700 every eight hours. In these ovens the armatures are dried, soaked in varnish and dried again. Eight hours time is required for this one operation.

The power from the starter to the motor is applied through the well known Bendix drive, which automatically engages the starter and then, once the motor is started, the starter immediately disengages. It is equipped with oilless bearings and needs practically no attention.

Within another thirty days or six weeks, the Ford Company expects to be making enough starters so that every Ford car will be equipped with the new Electric Starting and Lighting System.

Domestic Cat Distinct Species.

The Egyptian cat seemed to have a good claim to the honor of being the ancestor of the domestic cat, both on account of its tapering tail and size, in which it bears a great similarity to the domestic cat. But peculiarities which were discovered in its dentition were sufficient to remove its claim. So it seems best to consider the domestic cat a distinct species.

Black Apes.

The black apes of Guinea have long, silky hair, and their fur is used for muffs and capes.

CALF CLUB PRIZE
Walter A. Vance wins $5.00 prize awarded for best story on Calf Club. HOW I FED AND CARED FOR MY CALF

Last spring I became interested in the State Bank Calf Club under the management of County Agent Fausch.

I thought it would be a very fine thing so I joined the Club. A banquet was held for the members of the Calf Club on April 24, 1919, at Powell and Pope's Cafe. We had a very good time there, listening to the speeches of some of the prominent men of Webster County. The drawing of the calves was held at this time and place.

I got my calf at the stock yards south of town and started home at six o'clock, riding fourteen miles through the rain and getting home at 10 o'clock.

The first 40 days I had my calf, I gave her an average ration per day of 3 lbs. of corn, 6 lbs. of oats, and all the alfalfa hay she would eat. The next 90 days, an average ration of 7 lbs. of oats, and a good pasture. The remaining 106 days, I fed an average of 7 lbs. oats, 2 lbs. corn, 1 1/2 lbs. of bran, 1/2 lb. of oil meal and all the alfalfa hay that she would eat.

Total amount of feed as follows:
1542 lbs. of oats @ 2 1/2 — $ 34.69
432 lbs. of corn @ 2 1/2 — 10.80
159 lbs. of bran @ 2 1/2 — 3.97
106 lbs. of oil meal @ 3 1/2 — 3.71

Total cost of feed is $53.17
My calf belonged to the second class which cost $152.25. Her weight was 600 lbs. when bought and on day of sale weighed 935 lbs., a gain of 335 lbs. in 226 days.

"May's Blossom," No. 758489 was bred by Bartholdt Aabel and Sons, Minden, Nebraska, and her age when sold was 20 months and 8 days.

She was very gentle, easy to handle and also a very good feeder. I took her to Red Cloud on Saturday, December 6, 1919. The judging and sale was held in the Besse Auditorium on Thursday, December 11, 1919.

She took first premium in group two and sold for $400.00.

Mr. Wm. Auld of the Red Cloud State Bank financed the Calf Club and I think he treated the members of the Calf Club very fair.

I also think that Mr. Fausch did a very commendable thing in organizing the Calf Club, because it gets the boys and girls interested in getting a start of good stock.

I am very anxious that they get the best shorthorn heifers that can be bought.

I don't think anyone will lose, if they give their calf the best of care and plenty of feed.

I hope the club will be a success next year and I am willing to help make it so.

County Agricultural Agent,
HENRY R. FAUSCH

PALACE A TOWN IN ITSELF

More Than Fourteen Hundred Rooms
In Vienna Home of Ex-Emperor of Austria.

There are 1,440 rooms in the city palace formerly occupied by the emperor of Austria, in Vienna. It is also equipped with 100 kitchens and the courtyard covers 25,000 meters. The massive dome columns at the outside entrance were constructed by Peter von Hobbler in 1821-24. Through these one enters the "Palace of Heroes," outside the castle ward. A new wing was added here in 1887-94. The inner walls are of the Renaissance style, by Oldmann and Baumann, and were completed in 1917. Further on, toward the eastern side of the ground, is the Heldenplatz, where stand two exquisite monuments, the largest in the capital. The one on the left is that of Prince Eugene, while that on the right is of the Archduke Charles, who defeated Napoleon at Aspern.

A Roman ruin of ancient date is seen in the castle grounds. It is characteristic of the Roman conquerors, but is so dilapidated that but two or three of the portals remain, the others being nothing but crumbled stone. A tall arch is the best preserved part of the ruin.

Near the Roman ruin is a great obelisk, resembling a needle more than most monuments of the kind. The top is finished in gilt. The sides bear hieroglyphics of the history of Austria. Near it is the glorious Neptune fountain, and from Selenic Brunner (beautiful fountain) the castle grounds derived their name, Selenic Brunnen.

Ag. Hallstones.

There are numerous well-authenticated cases of hallstones weighing half a pound and more, but claims which go far beyond this meager weight are made. Stones of six to eight pounds are said to have fallen in Namur in 1719, and the missionary, Father Hue, who ought to be a credible witness, records the fall in Tartary in 1843 of a block of ice as big as a millstone, which took three days to melt. In May, 1802, a Hungarian village reported an 1,100-pound block, requiring eight men to move it, and in Tipoo's time one as big as an elephant was said to have fallen near Serapatam. These are "some" hallstones.

INSURANCE

The Recent Fires Emphasize the Importance
AMPLE FIRE INSURANCE

Look up the expiration and the amount and see if you have enough Insurance. Take a pencil and make a list of your insurable goods and then see what it will cost to replace these goods. Also your house. Insurance companies are continually writing me to call the attention of my customers to the fact that the insurable value of their property is much more now than a few years ago.

Large corporations and business concerns always carry 80 per cent insurance—a guide for the individual

Look up your expirations and call me on the phone and I will call and tell you just what it will cost you and the amount you should carry, no matter if it does not expire for several months. Attend to it now and I will put it on my expiration list and write it up when it expires.
