BANDIT FIGHTS 50 IN THEATER

Robs Bank of $20,000 and Seeks
Refuge in Deserted Movie.

CRAZED FROM DRUGS

Makes Last Stand in Orchestra Pit and Shoots Police as Fast as They Appear—Bullet
Finds Him.

St. Louis.—A bandit killed one police officer, seriously wounded three others and himself was killed when he held up and robbed the Easton-Taylor Trust company here of $20,000.

The bandit, carrying a revolver in each hand, entered the bank shortly after three o'clock. There were 15 customers in the bank and he herded them and the employees in a private room and began firing the revolvers.

A riot call was sounded, and 50 policemen, heavily armed, responded. The bandit obtained the $20,000 from Louis F. Schneider, the cashier, and sought refuge in an adjoining theater which was empty at the time.

Battle Lasts Twenty Minutes.
The police surrounded the theater. The bandit used the orchestra pit from which to shoot and would rise over the top of it and fire as the patrolmen entered.

The battle lasted nearly 20 minutes. Crouched in the pit, he was hidden in the darkness, while the policemen were silhouetted against the light as they entered.

Policeman Terrence McFarland was shot through the heart and died instantly. Patrolman Claude Adams was shot in the abdomen.

The wounded are Sergts. William McHenry and Michael Flavin and Patrolman Claude Adams. Patrolman Otto Glaser was wounded slightly by a bullet from a policeman's revolver.

Police said the man's conduct indicated he was crazed from drugs. The money was found concealed in his clothing.

Opened Fire at Once.
John R. Lanigan, president of the bank, told the police the man began firing as soon as he entered, and that one of the bullets passed through his hair. Several women fainted. The

The War's Three Phrases.
"They shall not pass," said the desperate Frenchman.

The Boche tide beat against him. He prevailed.

"Carry on," said the dogged Briton. He held, and history will say there was no telling how.

"Let's go," said the exuberant Yank. And go he did, over and through and beyond.

It took all three phrases, in Clemenceau's phrase, to "make the war," and win it.

The spirit that was in those phrases, and in the men—polly, Tommy and doughboy—who said them, did the business.—Stars and Stripes.

If You Need a Medicine You Should Have the Best

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfill the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact, so many people claim, that it fulfills almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments; corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcels Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention this paper. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.—Adv.

Depends on the Angle.
"Do you think you can get me out of this scrape?" the oil promoter asked his lawyer.

"How much would it be worth to me?" retorted the lawyer promptly.

"Suppose we say $1,000?"

"And you made $50,000 out of the deal? No, sir. I don't see the slightest chance of getting you acquitted for $1,000, but—ahem!—we might view the matter from another angle."

"What do you mean?"

"Looking at your case from a $5,000 angle, I don't see the slightest chance of you to be convicted."

The Verdict.
"Do you think my son is now ripe for musical honors?"

"Ripe? No, sir; he's rotten."

Never accept an apology for a yawn. Go at once.

PERU'S DRIFTING SAND DUNES

Plateau Shelf Has Strange Crescent-Shaped Formations That Are Packed Hard.

As one makes the ascent of the Andes from the Pacific port of Mollendo, Peru, following the line of the Southern of Peru railway, the climb to the divide is broken by two great steps or widespread shelves of desert or pampa.

On the first of these steps, about two hours' steep climb from the sea, and at an altitude of from four thousand to five thousand feet, are located the famous drifting sand hills of Peru. The plateau is here about twenty miles wide, the air thin and dry and no trace of vegetation to be seen, only these gigantic crescent-shaped sand dunes dotting the pampa as far as the eye can see.

Composed of fine gray crystal sand, they gleam white against the brown of the desert, and their horns point toward the prevailing south wind of this region. They are from fifteen to twenty feet in breadth across the thick part of the crescent and sometimes one hundred feet from horn to horn. So tightly is the sand packed that the feet of the horses or mules make little impression on it.

The Cheerful Optometrist.
Patient—My headache is not any better, doctor.

Doctor—Did you report to the eye clinic, as I told you?

Patient—Yes, doctor, I went to the eye clinic and the optometrist said I was all right, although he did not examine my eyes.—Journal of the American Medical Association.

COULDN'T FORGET THE GREEN

Mrs. Flannigan's Neat Expression of Loyalty to Her Native and Her Adopted Land.

Mrs. Flannigan for years has proudly exhibited from her front window a row of geraniums, in pots wrapped in bright, Irish green crepe paper, says the Indianapolis News. But the other day when her neighbor, whose son was in France for several months, pulled back her window curtain and revealed her flower pots, decorated in red, white and blue paper, Mrs. Flannigan was visibly troubled. She worried and worried. It is quite hard to be loyal to two countries at the same time, yet Mrs. Flannigan desired to be so.

Then one morning her wide Irish smile came back to her face. And passers-by saw in the Flannigan front window a row of flower pots brave in red, white and blue coverings and every covering was tied to the pot with a wide band of green ribbon.

Wild Beasts' Toll in India.
Not a day passes of your own life but somewhere in India some 50 people have died through the action of wild beasts. It is not to be supposed that efforts are not made to destroy these monsters. Standing rewards are offered by the government for the killing of all the more dangerous types. But so wild and impenetrable are their sanctuaries that it is impossible to do anything except to keep their number within bounds in the more populous territories.

A War Lesson.
"Sponeleigh borrowed $20 from me this morning, but I didn't mind letting him have the money."

"Why not?"

"I noticed that he jotted down the amount on a scrap of paper."

"I thought it generally understood that a scrap of paper signifies an obligation that won't be met."

Some men's ideas of reciprocity are rather one-sided.

Fire as the Patrolmen Entered.

robber was shot in the face so badly that police said it probably would be impossible to identify him.

The dead bandit was identified later as Frederick C. Smith, an electrician. According to Mrs. Minnie Smith, the widow, her husband suffered congestion of the brain in a railroad accident seven years ago. She believes he was mentally unbalanced and called him a "model husband."

MAN CATAPULTS SIX STORIES

Just Grins and Rubs His Bruises When Spectators Rush to His Aid.

New York.—Charles Butter, a window cleaner, slipped off a seventh floor ledge of the office building at 95 William street. After leaving the ledge his body performed a somersault, so that his head was pointed downward during most of the journey. As he approached the end of the journey he managed to bring his body to a horizontal position, just as he crashed into a skylight, covered with wire screening. The glass broke, but the screen held. Employees hurried out to ascertain the worst, but Butter grinned and rubbed his bruises.

MAN JUMPS INTO COKE OVEN

Body is Entirely Consumed in Minute by Intense Heat of Great Furnace.

Colonial, Pa.—All traces of the body of Michael Goodish, eighteen years old, a charger in a mine of the H. C. Frick Coke company, here, were gone in less than a minute when he leaped into a live coke oven. Fellow workmen saw merely a puff of smoke as the young man entered the oven. Goodish jumped from the path of a runaway lorry and landed in the oven.
