

Thousands of Women

Owe Their Health To

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—overshadowing indeed is the success of this great medicine. Compared with it, all other medicines for women's ills seem to be experiments.

Why is it so successful? Simply because of its sterling worth. For over forty years it has had no equal. Women for two generations have depended upon it with confidence.

Thousands of Their Letters are on our files, which prove these statements to be facts, not mere boasting.

Here Are Two Sample Letters:

Mother and Daughter Helped.

Middleburg, Pa.—"I am glad to state that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did me much good when I was 35 years old. I was run down with female trouble and was not able to do anything, could not walk for a year and could not work. I had treatment from a physician but did not gain. I read in the papers and books about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it. The first few bottles gave me relief and I kept on using it until I got better and was able to do my work. The Vegetable Compound also regulated my daughter when she was 15 years old. I can recommend Vegetable Compound as the best medicine I have ever used."—Mrs. W. VERGER, R. 3, Box 21, Middleburg, Pa.

Fall River, Mass.—"Three years ago I gave birth to a little girl and after she was born I did not pick up well. I doctored for two months and my condition remained the same. One day one of your little books was left at my door and my husband suggested that I try a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I started it immediately and I felt better and could eat better after the first bottle, and I continued taking it for some time. Last year I gave birth to a baby boy and had a much easier time as I took the Vegetable Compound for four months before baby came. On getting up I had no pains like I had before, and no dizziness, and in two weeks felt about as well as ever."—Mrs. THOMAS WILKINSON, 363 Columbia Street, Fall River, Mass.

LEGION POST PURIFIES LITTLE OIL-BOOM TOWN IN TEXAS

How a post of the American Legion purified a little oil-boom town in Texas when respect for law and order had become a mockery is told in the American Legion Weekly.

Desdemona, Tex., was hardly more than a stop for wayfarers on the road, a slumbrous, dusty community, until oil came and the town took on new life and lured hosts of brawny adventurers. The treasure hunters came to prospect and pioneer, but, as is inevitable the case, there followed after them a horde of shifty-eyed gentry and red-lipped women. The word was passed out that the lid was off in Desdemona.

Then the ring ran up against The American Legion. Individually for a long time the members of Peavy-Brice post tried quietly to combat the spread of vice in Desdemona. The ring, aided by the town constable, a deputy sheriff and the justice of the peace, decided that it would crush this organization of veterans who stood for ideals that were not compatible with places of unsavory repute. It began by threatening the Legionnaires with violence and when it found them unwilling to retaliate it grew more arrogant. The post quietly called a captain of Texas rangers from Austin.

The captain found Desdemona in tumult. Armed members of the vice ring were parading through the streets in confident bravado. The post marshaled its forces and ordered the three offending "peace" officers of the town to leave within twenty-four hours. The latter returned a contemptuous refusal. Desdemona seethed. From oil fields and camps hundreds of men poured into town to be present when the ultimatum should expire.

Eighteen Legionnaires were sworn in as deputy rangers and mingled with the crowd while the offending officers swaggered down the main street. Just as the time limit expired one unarmed member of the Legion post stepped up to the officers and ordered them to surrender. A dozen revolvers leaped from a dozen hips and all the bravado went out of the ring. The Legion deputies disarmed the leaders and marched them off to an office, where they wrote out their resignations as town officials.

The next morning the roads from Desdemona were dotted with automobiles bearing the exodus of the sporting fraternity to newer and greener pastures. Desdemona was through with them.

IN BEHALF OF WAR-DISABLED

Mrs. Wendell Phillips Sails for Belgium to Represent Legion at Inter-Allied Meet.

Mrs. Wendell Phillips has sailed for Belgium to represent the American Legion at the fourth inter-allied conference to study questions concerning the war-disabled. The Legion has led the fight to obtain more favorable treatment for the men who gave their health and strength in battle and has been responsible for the enactment and the proper administration of many of the present laws looking toward the rehabilitation of wounded men.

Following the sessions of the conference Mrs. Phillips will tour England, France and Italy studying the methods of the various governments.

Mrs. Phillips served with the ambulance corps in the war and was wounded in action near Verdun. She spent five and one-half months in hospitals. She was decorated for gallantry by the French government and has been recommended to receive the Congressional Medal of Honor, the highest reward for valor in the gift of the United States government. As president of the National Carry On association her work for the disabled is widely known. She is a member of Wendell Phillips post, New York city.

Voted for Cigarettes.

Anti-cigarette reformers met their Waterloo when a Legion post at Downers Grove, an exclusive suburb of Chicago, restored the banned "smokes" to the shelves of local stores by means of a referendum. The vote was almost two to one in favor of bringing back the cigarettes and more women voted for the restoration than against it.

ATTENTION TO DISABLED MEN

Many Posts Join in Campaign to Provide Aid and Care for Afflicted Ex-Service Boys.

Quick response has been manifested by scores of posts of the Legion in the campaign launched by the Americanism commission to aid and care for disabled service men. Reports from all sections of the country tell of entertainments arranged for the wounded and of visits to the hospitals where they are confined.

Eight service men who are now in the Fox Hills (N. Y.) hospital have been assigned to the Scarsdale post, which is planning to look after them following their discharge from the institution, while the New Haven (Conn.) post presents a weekly entertainment for the 400 veterans convalescing in the hospital in that city.

Plans along similar lines are being carried out by the John Purroy Mitchell post of New York city, which has appointed a committee to advise and assist wounded men in the Polyclinic hospital, and a group of patients from this institution are entertained each week at the Knollwood Country club at White Plains. The men are taken out into the country in motorcars.

Henry J. Ryan, state Americanism chairman of Massachusetts, arranged an outing when many soldier convalescents in the hospitals in and around Boston were motored to a country estate in Chestnut Hill, where they were guests at a luncheon and a horse show was staged for their benefit.

MILK AND MEAT AS RIVALS

Rising Prices May Yet Force People to Turn to the Fluid to Sustain Life.

As the price of meat soars upward, many people are forced to be part-time vegetarians. Thus the old question, "Is meat essential to human well-being?" arises again. The committee on food and nutrition of the National Research Council has issued an interesting report on the relative value of meat and milk.

Eighteen per cent of the protein and energy of grain used in feeding a cow goes into the milk, and is therefore recovered for human consumption; whereas only three and a half per cent is recovered in beef. As for the mineral elements in hay and grain, not much is stored in the tissues, but a great amount goes into milk.

Beef profiteers, beware! The hard-pressed public may decide to let milk take the place of beefsteak.—Popular Science Monthly.

PROVED TRUE TO HER WORD

Fair Autoist Had Said She Would Be Back Promptly, and It Was Even More So.

On one of my first excursions in our new car, writes a correspondent, I stopped at the grocery with my car parked with the back toward the store door. I gave my order and told the clerk that I would be back to get my things in a very few minutes.

As I stepped into the car, my beset "beet" came down the street, and anxious to show him how well I could drive, I hurriedly threw into gear. I raced the engine and let the clutch out to get a quick pickup.

It proved to be a wonderful one, as I had thrown into reverse and found myself in the doorway of the grocery store. I had gone over the curbing and all, breaking the window as I bumped into the store.

The grocer hurried out, and when he saw who it was, "Well," he said, "you have proved yourself a woman of your word, but it will cost you the price of a new show window."
