W. C. T. U. ENTERTAINS
(Contributed)

The members of the W. C. T. U. received this clever invitation last week, composed by the ingenuity of Mrs. Frank Smith, hostess: Dear W. C. T. U. Friend: We're sure our welfare you have at heart. Altho from us you stay apart. Our coffers are so low. That t'will be our death blow. If your kind assistance we cannot urge. You will surely soon hear our funeral dirge. So if your waistline you will span. It will help us wonderfully with our plan. A penny an inch will be quite proper. But a two pence piece is better than copper. To raise this money we need so badly. And to you our thanks we'll send most gladly. Every one is aware of the number of corpulent ladies that belong to this great organization and can use their imagination as to the results of measuring, but here is the aggregate number of inches of waistlines, 858 in, and twenty seven members being taxed. You can with envy figure for yourself the average waistline of these buxom lassies. The program of the afternoon was in charge of the President, Mrs. Alice Myers, on the subject, "Increased Membership—It's purpose and Power." Several fine papers and articles were read on this subject, and it reminded several that they had become "delinquents" or "back-sliders" in as much that $10.00 was taken in as dues and renewals of membership fees. A wise suggestion was made to wait until after lunch, to get the measurements of waistlines, and if they had carried out this suggestion, much more would have been received, for they could not hardly do justice to the fine lunch served, after having held their breath, in order to rival Venus, but they did their best to feel comfortable once again. One member could not be present, so sent this witty response to her hostess and co-workers: "Of telling my waist measure, I'm quite shy, but since your verses deserve a reply, I'll send some silver. You'll find 55 which is double my— Well you guess the size."
