Meeting Low Farm Prices
 C. H. Morrill, a wealthy banker and land owner of Nebraska writes in The Lincoln State Journal that prices of commodities must come down to meet the low prices of farm stuff. The Journal wants to do its share in the "Come down" and is offering to mail the daily from now until Jan. 1, 1922 for only $2.50, or including the big Sunday Journal with its magazine and colored comic sections for only $3. This is really away below the present cost of production but there's only one way to come down and that's to come down. The Journal is the best buy in the newspaper field and I hope you will prove your interest in lower prices by sending in your subscription for the remainder of this year at this cut price.

To The Public
 It is the wish of the President that visitors to the seat of Government shall have every opportunity to get full information concerning all governmental departments. It is especially his desire that all those who come to Washington to transact business with any department or bureau of the Government may quickly be advised as to the exact location and means of reaching the particular department or bureau in which they desire to transact.

For this purpose there has been established a Bureau of Information on the ground floor of the Post Office Department Building located on Pennsylvania Avenue at 12th street, which is in charge of competent people who will definitely answer queries of this character. The public is advised of this arrangement and invited to make use of the facility.

Color and Precious Stones.
 Diamonds are not always crystal clear, but vary greatly as to color and few of the precious stones are true to color. The famous Hope diamond is a real and most beautiful blue. Green diamonds are found, and these are a lovely crimson, but these are very rare. Black diamonds are common enough. Black pearls are rarer, but are found. Pink pearls are greatly prized.

Mrs. Saunders Laid to Rest
 Mrs. Frances Boone Saunders passed away May 25th at Billings, Mont. Her two sons Don E. and W. E. Saunders arrived in Red Cloud Sunday morning with the remains. The deceased would have been seventy-five years of age had she lived five days longer.

Francis Boone Leftwich was born in Bedford county, Virginia, where she spent her girlhood days and married Daniel G. Saunders. In 1881 they moved to Missouri where they made their home until 1919 when they came west and located at Brunning, Neb. After her husband's death, which occurred the next year, she came to Red Cloud where her sons were engaged in business at that time.

She leaves to mourn her death three sons, Don E., W. E. and W. R., also two brothers and five sisters. The funeral services were conducted from the Anack undertaking parlors in charge of the Christian Scientists. Interment was made in the city cemetery.

Miss Anna Gilham returned home the last of the week from Aurora where she had been teaching school. Miss Alta Coon arrived home Friday evening from Hastings to spend the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Coon.

COMMENCEMENT
 The exercises of this very full week, closed with the commencement program on Thursday evening. The fine program carried was highly satisfactory to all present. Music by Mr. Windolph; vocal solo by Mrs. F. R. Hughes pleased the large audience. Mildred Pops gave the Salutatory in a concise manner and very appropriate remarks; the Class History by Bernice Sherer was interesting and also amusing in remembering some of their former pranks of the grammar grades; Ruby Koon, the popular soloist of this class, sang a beautiful song; Ruth Overing read the Class Prophecy, and we are hoping to see the members of this class fulfill her fondest dreams of ambition for them; the Valedictory remarks by Dale Dickson were splendid; he has won this place thru hard work and study, doing the four years course in three years. His scholarship admits him to any one of nine colleges in this state that he may prefer.

Mr. Windolph played another selection on the pipe organ in an expert manner and Prof. Holtzen introduced the speaker of the evening, Dr. Donald McKay of Hastings, formerly president of Whitmore college, Washington. He proved to be an oratorical giant, and gave them more fine thoughts than they could readily absorb. He held his audience spellbound and made them think every minute. His subject was Education. The training of the mind, heart and physique, was his broad plan. He would keep ever before the minds of parents that if we are to hand down a heritage of unselfishness, honesty and enlightened democracy, we must properly educate the boy and girl of today. You can't afford to flutter along thru life like a bird with a broken wing. An educated and efficient person is a public benefactor. "It is natural to youth to indulge in the illusions of hope;" young people do look forward, but they very generally see an end and do not see the pathway leading to it.

No really great attainment is ever made in a minute or an hour. It is always the result of continuous, intelligent effort. Lincoln said, "I will study and prepare and some day my chance will come." The only way to be ready for tomorrow's great tasks, is to perform today's small tasks in a superior manner. Moral integrity and a high sense of moral responsibility must accompany all ambition. Don't let our souls get corroded with rust while brightening up our mind. Sweetness of soul is more to be desired than brawn or brain.

Prof. Holtzen presented the class of twenty two girls and twelve boys to the School Board. He was very proud of the fine work of this class. He complimented the parents and teachers of these graduates for their help and influence in making their twelve years so successful.

E. J. Overing, Jr. in behalf of the Board presented their diplomas. He made a fine talk as usual. Work was the idea of his theme. There are hundreds of ways of being useful, but not one lazy way among them. There are many types of education that seem to unfit a man or woman for any kind of useful service. The good watch maker is far more important than is the college-bred ne'er-do-well. The good blacksmith is more essential to the welfare of the community than is the quack doctor. Cramming with useless or unnecessary information is still often substituted for a genuine effort to create a sound mind in a sound body. The world makes way for the determined man. "Give a youth resolution and the alphabet and who shall place limits to his career?"

The quartet composed of Messrs. Ira Wagoner, N. B. Bush, L. Wagoner and H. B. Thomas, gave the closing number, with great applause but would not respond to encore.

Mrs. Earl Danker returned to Riverton Monday evening after a short visit here with her father, J. M. Burgess, and sister, Mrs. Clara Walker. Mrs. Barbara Phares and Mrs. Chas. Phares and children of Guide Rock autoed to Central City Sunday and spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Phares.

I Will Pay $10,000 For The Best Thoughts on One of My Problems
Thomas A. Edison

The well known and almost incalculable benefits of music can be derived, in full measure, from the proper use of this new instrument. Psychologists, physicians, and other scientists appreciate that our object is to provide music of the best sort, under conditions that will insure the largest benefits. The new phonograph, which we have developed, is merely the instrumentality, by which I am endeavoring to place truly fine music at the command of every household.

A great many people have said that they regard this new instrument as the best phonograph in existence. While such statements are naturally gratifying to me, I find that the importance of our work in the field of music is somewhat obscured by the fact that so many people continue to think of a phonograph merely as a phonograph. They may think of it as the best phonograph—but it still is only a phonograph to them.

I want a phrase, which will emphasize that our new instrument is not a mere machine, but that it is an instrumental-ity, by which the true beauties and the full benefits of music can be brought into every home.

The phrase should not contain more than four or five words. I want a dignified expression, which will clearly distinguish this instrument from all other sound reproducing devices.

I have authorized that $10,000.00 in prizes be paid for the best ideas submitted.
 (Signed) THOMAS A. EDISON

Details of Mr. Edison's $10,000.00 Prize Offer

Can be obtained from the Edison office in your locality. If you do not know how to apply for this advertisement in your local newspaper, it costs no money to complete these prizes.

If you are not already familiar with the New Edison, the Edison, please write to the Edison office, which will supply you with all necessary literature.

All ideas must be submitted on plain paper, which should be dated and addressed to the Edison office, and must be received by the office on or before September 2nd, 1921.

You do not have to be a sound reproducing expert. Ideas are what count.

Were Emerson alive today, I feel that our new phonograph would be accepted by him as a satisfactory answer to the need, which he expressed, for a more complete and accurate reproduction of his work, which he has been conducting for nearly two years, indicates that

Emerson spoke the thoughts of millions, and voiced a need of all humanity. It is obvious that the phonographic reproduction of music affords the only means of providing music of practically every variety, wherever and whenever it is desired; without this means, even those who live in the great centers of music, can hear it only at conventional hours—and, then, not always the kind of music they most need and desire.

To make the phonographic reproduction of music serve the need expressed by Emerson, it is necessary that the reproduction shall preserve—the original beauties and undistorted—the music. The greatest short-coming of the phonograph has been its lack of realism. It is this shortcoming which I have sought to remove. The result is a degree of realism in our new phonograph, which is baffling to even the most expert ears, when direct comparison is made between living singers or instrumentalists and the reproduction of RE-CREATIONS of their work by our new instrument.

Emerson said: "Could I only have music on my own terms, whenever I wished the abolition and inundation of musical waves, that are a bath and a medicine."
