Information that has reached us seems to indicate that the Midland Chautauqua Circuit made a big hit when they succeeded in closing a contract with Frank Dilnot, of London, England, editor of the London Globe. Reference to "Who's Who in England" reveals the fact that Mr. Dilnot has had some very interesting experiences. From various sources, we have gleaned the following facts, which we think will be of more than usual interest to our readers. Because of the unusual opportunities Mr. Dilnot has had to meet, and become acquainted with, some of the leading world figures, he will probably be asked to lecture here on the subject "Master Minds and Men of the World." For instance, Mr. Dilnot has had very intimate and close acquaintance with Lloyd George for many years and the Premier sent him a cordial, well wishing telegram when he left England for this country. This lecture consists of snap shots of famous people known to all newspaper readers and practically every one contains an original story, generally humorous, sometimes witty, occasionally thrilling but always gives a vivid and original insight on the intimate side of a great man. Besides such men as our own "Teddy," Ex-President Wilson, Mark Twain, George Bernard Shaw, etc., he will include President Masaryk of Czechoslovakia, whose guest he was in Prague last summer. Lord Northcliffe, Mr. Knudsen, Prime Minister of Norway, Mr. William O'Brien, the famous Irish leader (a non-political humorous story) and Captain Carpenter, V. C., who performed the greatest naval exploit in British history since Nelson. Mr. Dilnot's biography of Lloyd George, published by Harper's, has already gone through six editions and has been published in several languages in Europe. Now just a word about Mr. Dilnot personally. He is not only a journalist, editor and author but in the last twenty years has mixed with some of the greatest men of the world and touched public affairs at their source. He was in Russia just before the war and met the leading statesmen there. Shortly after he was thirty years of age he was elected to organize and edit the "Daily Edition" of London and was the youngest editor of a great daily newspaper on Fleet Street. For two years he had the honor of being President of the Association of Foreign Correspondents of the United States, which was formed at the invitation of the United States government. He received the Legion of Honor from France and was offered an honor by his own government. All of the serious facts he presents are conveyed with a sense of humor, in a strong lively narrative style. He never makes a speech without something vital to say and a vitally interesting way of saying it. He is not only a contributor to the leading publications of England but also to such leading American publications as the Saturday Evening Post, World's Work, Outlook, Review of Reviews, Current Opinion, etc. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis says of him: "To solid thinking and clear, fine speaking, Dilnot adds the gift of humor, and has a certain racy quality that makes it certain that there is at least one Englishman who can carry an American audience."

It never rains but it pours!

IT WAS "company night." BUT WHEN I got home. I FOUND the Browns. HAD A sick baby. AND COULDN'T come. SO I chortled "Oh, joy. WON'T SUE and I have. SWELL EATS for two!" BUT NO, Sue said. "YOU DON'T suppose. I'D WASTE all this food. JUST ON you!" AND SO I said. "LET'S PHONE the Smiths." BUT THEY had headaches. THEN WE tried the Joneses. AND THEY fell for it. AND WHEN grub for four. WAS JUST about ready. THE PHONE bell tinkled.

AND THE Brown baby was better. AND A minute later. THE SMITHS changed their minds AND THE Missus fainted. "OH, WELL," I said. "THE MORE the merrier. WHAT'S THE difference? IF THERE isn't enough food. I'LL FEED the males. ON THE cigarettes that satisfy. AND YOU women can talk. AND BETWEEN the two. WE'LL ALL be satisfied." WONDERFUL company. Chesterfields—any time, anywhere. Just seem to "hit the spot." Good tobaccos, good blending, (by a private formula that can't be copied), good-looking package with an airtight wrapper. On every count, an all-around downright good smoke. "Satisfy"! All over the place.
