STATE FARM BUREAU NOTES

Wednesday, September 7 has been designated by the board of managers of the Nebraska State Fair as "Farm Bureau Day." The Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation is arranging special features for that day which will not only be of interest to its members but to all persons engaged in agricultural lines. President James R. Howard of the American Farm Bureau Federation has previously been engaged for a speech in the auditorium on the state fair grounds on Thursday September 8. In case this date cannot be changed to September 7, since that day has been set aside for the Farm Bureau, then members of the Nebraska Farm Bureau can look ahead to two big days at the fair instead of one. It may be possible to secure Mr. Howard's services, however, for September 7. The Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation will maintain headquarters during the entire week of the fair at some convenient point upon the fair grounds where every one will be welcome to learn more about the Farm Bureau organization.

Farm Bureau picnics held at various points throughout the state during the past few weeks have been well attended and thoroughly enjoyed. E. B. Heaton, dairy expert, of the American Farm Bureau Federation; J. N. Norton, of the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation, and J. A. Crawford of the Kansas Farm Bureau Federation have been busy delivering addresses and explaining the aims of the Farm Bureau organization. At several of the picnics representatives of the U. S. Grain Growers, have explained the plans of the new farmer owned and controlled marketing organization, and members of the faculty of the state agricultural college have talked on college work and, that of the state experimental farm. The picnics of this year have demonstrated that these gatherings are not only valuable from the standpoint of recreation but from the knowledge that can be gained by those attending. The usual picnic sports and basket dinners have held their place as of old, but on the other hand the more serious side of learning something that is of value has not been overlooked.

According to word received at state headquarters of the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation, all railroads have announced a special rate of one and one third fare for the round trip to Atlanta, Georgia for the annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation to be held in that city November 21 to 23. Arrangements have been made in Atlanta for taking care of 8,000 guests during the meeting.

The committee of 11, appointed by President James R. Howard of the American Farm Bureau Federation, with the advice and consent of the National Milk Producers' Association by a resolution adopted at the national dairymen's conference, is composed of the following men: C. Bechtelheimer, Waterloo, Iowa; Milo D. Campbell, Coldwater, Michigan; Fred H. Harvey, Galt, Calif; Harry Hartke, Erlanger, Ky; C. L. Hawley, Salem, Ore; E. B. Heaton, of the American Farm Bureau Federation, Wheaton, Ill; Henry Krumrey, Plymouth, Wis; C. Larson, Chicago, Ill; John D. Miller, Susquehanna, Pa; H. B. Nickerson, Elk River, Minn, and Richard Pattee, Boston, Mass. All of these men are leaders in their respective states among dairymen and milk producers associations. The committee will soon hold the first of a series of meetings for the purpose of working out a more equitable plan for the marketing dairy products.

One of the prettiest stage stories that has ever been written. One of the most interesting features of "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come" is the quaint fashion in which the love story between Chad and Millissy starts and the way in which it developed up to its happy conclusion. The play starts at the point where Chad escaping from a man to whom he had been 'bound over' is taken by Millissy's father, big Joel Turner. It faithfully follows the book and ends at the point where Chad has escaped from Dillon and, the war over, returns to fortune and the girl whom he loves, the girl who has been faithful to him through all of his trials and tribulations. See this great play presented by the Lewis Stock Company during the week of September 5th.

Mr. Terrence of Mount Vernon, Iowa, who has been visiting at the late Chas. Coleman home, returned home Saturday morning.

Camels are made for Men who Think for Themselves

Such folks know real quality—and DEMAND it.

They prefer Camels because Camels give them the smoothest, mellowest smoke they can buy—because they love the mild, rich flavor of choicest tobaccos, perfectly blended—and because Camels leave NO CIGARETTE AFTERTASTE.

Like every man who does his own thinking, you want fine tobacco in your cigarettes. You'll find it in Camels.

And, mind you, no flashy package just for show. No extra wrappers! No costly frills! These things don't improve the smoke any more than premiums or coupons.

But QUALITY! Listen! That's CAMELS!
