Berliner Helicopter Really Rises

With the successful development of this helicopter which now will rise ten feet off the ground, Henry A. Berliner and his father, Emilie Berliner, believe that in a few years flyers will be able to hop off from the roofs of buildings. The helicopter has the fuselage and rear controls of an ordinary plane with two 14 foot horizontal propellers replacing the wings, and immediately beneath the propellers four narrow vanes act as controls with a small horizontal propeller near the tail of the plane. The two large propellers literally pull the plane into the air, the small propeller giving it the horizontal motion.

Leigh Wade, pilot of the ship; Capt. A. W. Stevens, chief of the photograph section, who made the parachute drop, and Roy Langham, observer.

PE-RU-NA

"I have taken several bottles of Pe-ru-na and find it a great benefit. I had pains in my stomach and bowels, but by the use of Pe-ru-na and also a little of the other organs as it is for coughs, colds and nasal catarrh. Pe-ru-na is a wonderfully fine medicine to have in the house for everyday use."

Mrs. Gray's experience is just more evidence that Pe-ru-na is quite as good a remedy for catarrh of the stomach, bowels or other organs as it is for coughs, colds and nasal catarrh. Pe-ru-na is a wonderfully fine medicine to have in the house for everyday use. Send to the Pe-ru-na Company, Columbus, Ohio for free booklet and medical advice.

WHY SOME MEN GO INSANE Kind of Office "Help" With Which Most of Us Are More or Less Familiar.

The Colorado building boasts the "dumbest" girl in all Washington, asserts the Post of that city. She's a nectarine, a pippin' and a peach. Recently her boss, who is a very busy, bellowing sort of man, told her to get Agriculture on the telephone. She jumped for a phone directory. Time wore on. Late afternoon came. The boss had been engrossed in matters of grave importance, and it was nearly 4:30 before he suddenly recalled that Annie hadn't reported on his morning phone call. "Annie," he thundered, "where's my Agriculture call?" "Why, I'm sorry, sir, but he hasn't got a phone." "Who hasn't got a phone?" "Why, Mr. Culture, sir. I looked through all the C's and all the K's, sir, and I couldn't find Mr. Agra Culture's name in either list, sir."

"Line's Busy." "The new guest must be a lover of solitude." "Yes?" "He spends most of his time in a telephone booth." "A man isn't solitary if he's talking to somebody over the wire." "Umph! Many a man goes into a telephone booth who doesn't succeed in starting a conversation."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Locomotive's Good Record. In a Wyoming coal mine there is an electrical mine locomotive that is still going strong after 27 years. It has hauled 3,712,500 tons of coal an average of 1.5 miles. Many a mule has gone to a quiet grave in that period; for mules may come and mules may go, but an electric locomotive goes all the time.

UPHELD THE FAMILY DIGNITY

Little Ethel's Brave Attempt to Conceal What She Felt Must Be Matter of Poverty.

Little Ethel was an only child and one day, when the minister called she was told to entertain him in the parlor until her mother could see him. A few minutes later the mother, on her way downstairs, heard the visitor ask Ethel how many brothers and sisters she had, and, to her surprise and consternation, the little miss answered, "Seven."

Although somewhat perturbed, the mother made no comment upon the remark of her little daughter, but sent her out to play. After the minister had left, the child was taken to task and asked why she had said there were seven children. Ethel replied: "Because I didn't want that strange gentleman to know that you were so poor that you didn't have but one child."—Everybody's Magazine.

Turning It Loose. "Heavens, woman! You've turned yourself into a veritable talking machine. Why, all through our long engagement you had hardly a word to say." "I know it, but all the time I was thinking of things to say after we were married."—Judge.

Western Canada Offers Health and Wealth and has brought contentment and happiness to thousands of home seekers and their families who have started on the Pacific coast or bought land at attractive prices. They have established their own homes and secured prosperity and independence. In the great grain-growing sections of the prairie provinces there is still to be had on easy terms Fertile Land at $15 to $30 an Acre—land similar to that which through many years has yielded from 20 to 45 bushels of wheat to the acre—oats, barley and flax also in great abundance, while raising horses, cattle, sheep and hogs is equally profitable. Hundreds of farmers in Western Canada have raised crops in a single season worth more than the whole cost of their land. Healthful climate, good neighbors, churches, schools, rural telephone, excellent markets and shipping facilities. The climate and soil offer inducements for almost every branch of agriculture. The advantages for Dairying, Mixed Farming and Stock Raising make a tremendous appeal to industrial settlers wishing to improve their circumstances. She was a comely widow, affd, moreover, she was Scotch. She mourned MacIntosh, her late husband, for eighteen months, and then from a flock of suitors chose honest, homely MacIntyre for her second. The Old Carriage Maker Had an Important Truth

"To make each part as strong as the rest," was his way of "building" a wonderful, one-horse chaise that wouldn't wear out till judgment day.

This illustrates a fact that is keeping many doctors busy these days—human bodies, like chaises, break down because some part isn't as strong as the others.

Very often it's because of ill-balanced food, lacking in some important element of nutrition. This is especially true of ills developed in childhood, and carried on through life.

Grape-Nuts, that world-famous, ready-to-eat cereal, brings the plan of building each part as strong as the rest—to serve human need. Grape-Nuts contains all the nutriment of those best of the field grains, wheat and barley, including the vital mineral elements, and it is a wonderful food for building and sustaining health and strength.

The delicious flavor and crispness of Grape-Nuts make it a welcome dish whenever you're hungry.
