CITY COUNCIL HOLDS SHORT SESSION TUESDAY

Mayoress Mary Peterson called the Council together in a special adjourned session, in the Council Chambers, on Tuesday morning, with all members present, at which time ordinances relative to the paving bonds were duly passed and approved and can be found in full in this week's issue of the local papers.

It was next moved by Councilman Hoffman and seconded by Councilman Crabbill that the city accept the offer of the Brown-Crummer Co., of Wehita, Kansas, to buy the Refunding bonds in District 2, 3 and 4, to the amount of $10,000.00. The Refunding Bonds to draw interest at six per cent, payable semi-annually and to mature $1000.00 each year from eleven to twenty years. The Brown-Crummer Co., is to pay the city $25.00 per thousand premium on above bonds and they to pay all legal expenses incident to the issuance of said bonds.

Before adjourning the Council passed a resolution instructing the clerk to write to the proper authorities of the State University requesting that an engineer be sent here to make investigations for a water supply for the city.

Fred Phares Married

And now comes the news of Fred Phares becoming a benedict, on October 22nd in Minneapolis! While working in California he met the girl of his choice, Miss Leila Belle Morris, and lately Fred has made the change of location from Los Angeles to Minneapolis, for this important event we now see.

They were married at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Mueller, as her parents live at St. Cloud, Minnesota.

Dr. Paul S. Kerfoot, president of Hamline University, read the service.

They will be at home in Minneapolis after November 1st, to their many friends.

Fred is the last one of the young men of Red Cloud, we tho't, to ever be caught by cupid's darts, as he always seemed to have too much fun traveling in single harness, but we wish them both the greatest happiness possible.

Bryan Spoke to Large Crowd at Auditorium

Charles W. Bryan gave a masterful address here on Friday afternoon, just a plain business talk from a fine business man. He said he was no orator, but he proved he was. The Auditorium was filled a long time before the time for speaking, as the Bryan party was 30 minutes late out of Campbell. Geo. J. Spohn of Superior, candidate for State Senator and I. W. Edson of this city, spoke while waiting for Bryan to arrive. This was the largest crowd to attend any political speaking yet given in Red Cloud, although the governor of the state spoke here on the previous Saturday to the smallest crowd.

Bryan explained the code system in the most simple way and now even the women know all about it! He said Governor Lowden of Illinois fashioned the government of that state after this code system, as it had first been created by a great Pullman Corporation of Illinois. Mr. McKelvie experimented on our state by copying this form of government and forcing it on to us Nebraska people. This is contrary it transfers the departments of our state officers to six duplicate officers, or experts. These same experts so named were men that had never handled business in a big way nor had any great sum of money ever passed thru their hands in an executive way. They were not efficient, but the system gives to them the taxing power of the state. In each department there had to be an increase of money to handle affairs, and the demand continues larger. The people have been juggled out of their say in running affairs of state thru the officers they elected for that purpose and Mr. Bryan purposes if he is the next Governor to put it back in their hands where it belongs. He is for the repeal of the desired us all to remember that as a Code Bill. He spoke very nicely of his worthy opponent, Randall, but yet senator, Mr. Randall voted for all these things.

Mr. Bryan has always been for Prohibition, the Referendum, the Primary and suffrage. He said he heard he was in ill repute over the state and listed by Mr. F. A. High as almost unsatisfactory. But he drew on our memory then, and cited his fight in Grand Island in 1910 when he met the wet forces of his party in the great fight for county option, was defeated and lost his power in his party for many years, yet he fought on until the cause triumphed. Then again when the convention met at Lincoln in 1915 to den for statewide prohibition, he was chosen by acclamation as chairman, out of 1400 delegates, approved the form of the constitution and drew the organization plans for and appointed the Dry Federation Committee which placed Prohibition in the Nebraska Constitution. He then turned to his own party and from that day to this has insisted that no man be given a Democratic nomination who would not declare himself dry. A mighty wave of popular approval of Bryan from the women is sweeping the state, regardless of what Mrs. Mamie Clafin, Ex-president of the State W. C. T. U. and a radical republican tried to pull off on Brother W. J., at the State Convention, to try and reflect on Chas. W., for his alignment with Hitchcock. The women of the W. C. T. U. of like faith of the Bryans are sending out letters of endorsement of Chas. Bryan for Governor, in every direction and standing by the man that stood by them for suffrage.

In Lincoln, his home city, Mr. Bryan is greatly esteemed and they deem him a man they can conscientiously support.

After the speaking many people were introduced to the speaker of the afternoon and several of our local men accompanied him to his next date at Guide Rock.
