Mother and the girls always apologize for anything father selects for the house.

The best that can be said about some folks after they are dead is that they are dead.

When a woman buys her husband a birthday present he always thinks it was bought with his money.

It is a good thing hens don't get the same scale for laying eggs that masons get for laying brick.

We all agree that the world is getting no better. But how much is each of us doing to make it better?

The reform politician's central idea is that he is going to have everyone profit at the expense of someone else.

The main thing that moving picture advertising does is to make the audience mad because it delays the show.

When your wife wants you to "just look at" something in a store you will save time if you tell her to go ahead and buy it.

Women are easily flattered but did you ever notice how a man acts when he gets some special notice or attention?

A Newman Grove man is so economical that he always takes extra long steps so he won't wear out his shoes so fast.

I know a man who is so strong minded that when he sees a Wet Paint sign he never tries it with his finger to see if the sign is telling the truth.

What has become of the old fashioned man who put on three pairs of socks when he bought new shoes so as to make sure of having them big enough?

If anything goes wrong with the car the average husband always assumes that his wife has been fooling with it.

A Harvard young man is so economical that he proposed to his best girl on her birthday so he could give her an engagement ring for a birthday present.

If a neighbor came in and found an old fashioned woman resting she felt as ashamed of it as if she had been caught with something that didn't belong to her.

A Harvard man is so considerate of his wife that whenever she has to get up early in the morning to do a big washing he always sets the alarm clock for her.

Henry Ford says most of the people don't know what they want and have no idea of how to get what they do want. He is telling too much truth to be comfortable.

If you will spend half as much time trying to save money as you do trying to find ways and means to make more you are not likely to have much trouble with the sheriff.

Some folks think the money spent for road signs is advertising. If you think this is true see how many such signs you can read and understand while driving by in your car.

The old fashioned woman who walked three miles to pick berries on the shares now has a daughter who doesn't even know how to can them after someone else picks them.

When son gets to the point where he thinks he should learn to smoke give him a strong old pipe and some plug tobacco and tell him to go to it. His desires will soon be satisfied.

Bob Simmons is a peculiar sort of congressman. His idea is to find out what his constituents want and then get it for them, if possible, instead of telling them what they ought to have.

One Nebraska editor is likely to be sent to the insane asylum soon. His chief hallucination is that it is always possible to elect none but sane, sensible, competent men to public office.

The Boss says if I don't say anything about what she does she knows I am satisfied for I am sure to raise thunder in general if I am not satisfied. Guess I am about like the average husband in that respect.

One of the greatest needs in this world is a lawn grass that will always be exactly an inch and a half long.

Closed cars are fashionable nowadays but none of us is anxious to ride in the kind that has a back door.

Some men think conveniences in the kitchen and toys for the children are in the same class. And some women don't think it is ever necessary to comb their heads and put on a clear dress unless they are going some place or expect company.

Crescent Was Christian Once.

The national emblem of the Turks is the crescent. Their organization for aiding their wounded is called "The Red Crescent." Under the crescent they fought the soldiers of the cross. Yet crescent as well as cross was really a Christian emblem. For the crescent was first used by the primitive Christians of Constantinople as an emblem of the growing power of Christianity. It was not until about the year 1453, after the Turks had captured Constantinople, that they adopted the crescent as their national emblem. The reason why has never been satisfactorily explained. The crescent is essentially a symbol, and yet the Koran forbids the use of all symbols or images in the religious ceremonies of the Turks. The crescent is used, however, and none seem to object, or recall its Christian origin and significance.

Signs of Trouble.

A Montana fire marshal lists the following as sure signs that something unpleasant is going to happen to you: "A crack in your chimney is a sure sign that you are going to move. If you dream of smelling smoke, it is a sign you are asleep and had better wake up. To see a paperhanger papering over a flue-hole indicates an impending loss. It is bad luck to look into a dark closet with a match. If you can see your shadow from an oil lamp while filling a gasoline stove it indicates a crowd of people coming to your house. When the wind moans, it is extremely bad luck to burn trash near the house. If you smell gas or gasoline and look for it with a light, it foretells that you are about to start on a long journey. Even if your house and furniture are covered by insurance, it is extremely unlucky to have them burn on Friday the 13th."

Rockefeller Foundation.

The Rockefeller Foundation, endowed by John D. Rockefeller with more than 100 million dollars, was given a charter by the state of New York in 1913. Its purpose is "to promote the well-being and advance the civilization of the people of the United States and its territories and possessions, and of foreign lands, in the acquisition and dissemination of knowledge, in the prevention of suffering, and in the promotion of any and all the elements of human progress."

A Born Salesman.

"Did you ever have any exciting experiences?" "About twenty years ago," said the brisk promoter, "I was ordered to leave a western town by a notorious two-gun man who didn't like the cut of my clothes." "As you are still alive, I suppose you left?" "No, I bought him a couple of drinks and sold him the suit."—Detroit Free Press.

Referee's Sale of Real Estate

Notice is hereby given that whereas in the action pending in the District Court of Webster County, Nebraska, wherein Ernest James Doyle is plaintiff and Edward Doyle et al, are defendants for the partition of the real estate hereinafter described a decree of said court has been entered confirming the shares of the parties and directing partition and a report of the referee has been made that a division of the land cannot equitably be made and the court has approved such report and directed a sale of the premises

Now therefore I, E. G. Caldwell, referee in said action will on the 22nd day of September, 1923, at two o'clock P. M. at the south front door of the court house in Red Cloud, Webster County, Nebraska, sell at public auction to the highest bidder, for cash, the following described real estate, to-wit: Block 12, in Railroad Addition to the city of Red Cloud, Webster County, Nebraska. Dated August 15, 1923. E. G. CALDWELL, Referee. Bernard McNeny, Attorney.
