

Beet-Fattened Cattle Sold Here at Good Profit

Four Carloads of Prime Yearlings Shipped From Gering to South Omaha Market.

Four carloads of prime Hereford yearlings, half of which were heifers, which were fed on beet tops and pulp and hay were brought to the local market by George Cromer of Gering. The cattle were raised by Mr. Cromer and his father, E. P. Cromer.

The younger Mr. Cromer said on account of corn being high in price in his neighborhood most of the cattle are fattened with beet pulp and beet tops. He said the cattle brought in yesterday were purchased in Colorado last November at a cost of $5.75 a hundred, when they weighed 330 pounds. They were sold yesterday at 8.65 a hundred.

Harry Williams, banker and stockman of Gering, brought to the Omaha market yesterday 51 head of exceptionally heavy cattle, averaging 1,787 pounds. They sold for the good price of $8.90 a hundred and were one of the weightiest bunches of cattle sold at the stockyards this season.

Well-Bred Stock Pays Best.

Mr. Williams is noted for raising heavy cattle, having brought in a bunch last year that averaged 1,918 pounds, at which time was the heaviest drove marketed in Omaha for many years. He makes a specialty of Shorthorn stock and says he has found it pays best to raise well-bred stock.

The top price of $8.65 a hundred for yearling heifers at the local stockyards was received yesterday by Jess Ryan of Herman, who brought in 74 head that averaged 1,400 pounds. Mr. Ryan bought the cattle on the local market last fall when they were calves and averaged 275 pounds, for $5.25 a hundred laid down in his feed lots.

"Crops around Herman are badly in need of rain," said Mr. Ryan. "We have had but two good showers since April and if we don't get moisture pretty soon the corn and potatoes will be a failure."

Good Gain Made.

A shipment of 110 head of steers was brought to the local stockyards Tuesday averaging 1,072 pounds and sold for $8.85 a hundred. The cattle were brought in by George Mead of Wood River and he said he had had them on feed seven months, having made a good gain in that time. A head of 18 head which finished steers averaging 1,437 pounds was marketed yesterday by Merman Von Essen of Pender. Mr. Von Essen received the top price of $9 a hundred for the shipment.

A load of Hereford yearlings averaging 800 pounds was brought to market by John F. W. Mellor of Hooper. The cattle were good enough to bring $8.00 a hundred. Mr. Cooper makes frequent visits to the local yards with livestock and he said the cattle market was as good as expected, his shipment having netted him a good profit.

Top Price Is Paid.

The top price of $9.25 a hundred was received at the local stockyards by F. W. Utecht of Wakefield for 19 head of choice steers that averaged 1,089 pounds. Mr. Utecht also had 71 head of steers averaging 1,309 pounds that he sold for $9.10 a hundred, a very good price for that class of cattle. The cattle were brought on the range nine months ago at $5.65 a hundred and Mr. Utecht said he believed in marketing his crops through livestock and that the cattle he brought in had made an average gain of 600 pounds each.

Archer (Neb.) was present on the hog market Tuesday by W. F. Weinger of that place who brought in a choice load of 85 head of well-finished Duroc hogs that were sold to a local packer at $10.30 a hundred, the top price for the day. The load averaged 210 pounds.

Two loads of white-face yearlings, averaging 916 pounds, were brought to the local market by Dell Sullivan of Dunlap, Ia. The shipment brought an even $9 a hundred. The cattle were brought here seven months ago when they averaged 504 pounds and cost $6.75 a hundred.

Mr. Sullivan said he kept the cattle on a feed of ground corn for the first 90 days and then finished them on a feed of shelled corn and alfalfa.

McPherson Production Increasing.

A. F. Hatch came in from McPherson county with a load of cattle included in which were three steers that averaged 1,700 pounds, that sold for $8.35 a hundred, and 20 head of low quality steers he bought here as stockers at $6 a head, for which he received $8 a hundred.

"Although McPherson county has no railroad within its borders, it is advancing as a producer of grain and fat livestock," said Mr. Hatch. "The number of hogs grown is steadily increasing and the corn acreage is large. There are fewer cattle running out on pasture than I have ever seen, yet range conditions are better than for several years."

"A high wind the middle of May did some damage to our crops, which may decrease the total production as compared with last year. The ranches have done pretty well with cattle this year, which has enabled them to take up a lot of their notes."

Prayer of Key Has Been Granted, President Says

Memorial to Author of "The Star Spangled Banner" Dedicated by Harding at Baltimore.

Baltimore, Md., June 14.—The prayer of Francis Scott Key, that victory ever may be justified, "when free men shall stand between their loved home and the war's desolation," was reiterated by President Harding in dedicating here a memorial to the author of "The Star Spangled Banner."

Standing at Old Fort McHenry, near which Key penned the words, which set to music have become the nation's anthem, the president declared the prayer he had quoted had been granted.

Faith Has Been Kept.

"The faith has been kept," he added. "It is the hope of every American heart today that it will continue to be kept. The intervening century has brought our country power and high place. It has cast upon us heavy burdens of responsibility, making us share the difficult problems of a world in the turmoil of a new time. We need all the inspiration and faith which fired his glowing soul of patriotism. No generation of men has ever come into the world to find its path smoothed, or to find its problems solved for it in advance. Solution is the fit price we pay for our great inheritance of liberty and opportunity."

The president, whose address dedicating the bronze figure of the "spirit of music" as a memorial to Key, formed the theme for the nation's observance of flag day, paid high tribute to the author, declaring that "to give ringing voice to such a conviction, to such an aspiration, was one of the greatest services which any man could do for the young republic."

Reveals American Soul.

"In this impassioned, anxious, sacrificing, and exulting love of country, transcending all else, Key reached the sublime heights and wrote the poetic revelation of an American soul aflame."

Mr. Harding appealed that more of the spirit of the author of the nation's hymns might be instilled in even though the present generation might be called upon to shoulder unprecedented burdens it might rejoice in unexampled strength.

"Everlasting right in the great fundamentals," he concluded, "we may face the future with every confidence, providing men give first of heart and soul to the republic and its righteous institutions and give first thought and unflinching devotion to the nation's perpetuity."

Poem Found Nearby.

Near the young woman's body was found this poem:

"Fill me of you when the shadows
Come out at close of day;
And when the golden star-gleams
Are turned to blackened rays
I'll stir of you when the flowers
No longer shed perfume;
When the falling notes of tobia
Carry sweetest gloom;
Fill me of you when the summer
Is colorless, cold and gray;
When the purple and red of autumn
Shall cease no more our way;
Fill me of you when passion
Shin not the soul of ours;
I'll stir of you when gods no more,
But never until then!"

Janitor Smells Gas.

The body was found when C. B. Johnson, janitor, detected the odor of gas in a hallway. He opened the door and found the young woman stretched across the floor beneath a telephone on which was hung a telephone number, that of her mother.

Sale of Liquor on U. S. Boats Starts Big Row

crable discussion among prohibition leaders, coming as it did on the heels of the attack yesterday on the board of Representative Gallivan, democrat, for permitting the sale of liquor on American ships.

Not First Notice.

Neither the Gallivan speech nor publication of the Busch correspondence gave legislative leaders their first knowledge of liquor selling at sea, however. During recent months many of them have received wine lists from American vessels mailed in all parts of the world, with facetious comments.

Representative Upshaw, democrat, Georgia, was the first to announce publicly that he would offer an amendment to the ship subsidy bill, providing that no part of the federal subsidy fund should be used by steamship lines on whose ships liquor is sold. A leading western representative had announced that he would offer the same amendment and friends of the bill said it seemed certain the issue would have to be met unless the bill was reported by the rules committee with a stipulation that none but merchant marine committee amendments would be considered.

Amendment Is Planned.

There was talk tonight that such an amendment would be put squarely before the committee, probably tomorrow, although its defeat was predicted.

Republican leaders announced tonight that the administration's ship subsidy bill, introduced today, would be taken up by the house next week, provided the merchant marine committee to which it was referred is able to report it by Saturday night.

Predicts Law Changes.

One ardent prohibitionist went so far as to express the opinion that by next summer a law will be enacted prohibiting the landing in the United States of foreign ships on which liquor selling is permitted.

More than a year ago, as in the last congress, steamship officials appeared before committees in support of the Emonds bill, providing that nothing in the Volstead act "shall prevent the carrying or sale of liquors on passenger vessels of either American or foreign registry." There was the further provision, however, that ship stocks of liquor would be sealed and not sold within the three-mile limit.

After steamship officials had testified that they could not compete with foreign companies unless the law was modified, the bill was put away, prohibitionists asserting it would be overwhelmingly defeated if presented to the house.

Smart Bathing Suits

In Which to Swim or to Play on the Beach

Gone are the days when one could be negligent in the matter of the bathing suit, when shrunken flannels and shiny mohair sailor-collared suits were taken from the trunk each season and were used as long as they would hang together. In order to fully enjoy every moment in the water, one must wear a suit that is smart, that is comfortably cut—one that will not lose its shape. We have just such suits, for everyone, at most moderate prices.

Does Your Car Squeak and Rattle and Steer Hard?

Do you like the dirty job of turning down your grease cup or pumping oil into oil cups with a greasy oil can?

All of these things can be eliminated by the use of the

Rose High Pressure Lubricating System

Lubricator fills by suction. Simple, easy, clean, effective, inexpensive. No paddles or filling devices necessary. This system is manufactured by the Frank Rose Mfg. Co., Hastings, Neb., manufacturers of the famous Rose Tire Pump, the acknowledged best tire pump in the world.

The life of any car depends upon proper lubrication. The Rose System lubricates the most inaccessible places, thus insuring long life to your car.

The Rose Lubrication System costs $4.50 for the lubricator, plus the cost of a few fittings, making it the most inexpensive outfit on the market.

ASK YOUR DEALER REGARDING THIS SYSTEM

During the present week Mr. Frank Rose will be in Omaha to assist the following dealers in explaining and installing these systems. Have this system installed on your car at once—and avail yourself of the opportunity of having Mr. Rose supervise the installation.
