

Constable and Justice Taken in Booze Raid

Hundreds of Gallons of Liquor, 15 Stills and 21 Persons Seized in Carroll County.

A constable and a justice of the peace were among the group of 21 persons arrested in a wholesale liquor raid Monday by federal and state agents in Carroll county, Iowa.

The raid was one of the most extensive ever made in Iowa. Officers who participated say that colonies of moonshiners made Templeton and Dedham, the two towns visited, their headquarters, and that much liquor consumed in Sioux City, Omaha, Des Moines and Council Bluffs had its origin there.

A still, four cases of beer and 50 gallons of mash were found at the home of Vick Swallow, justice of the peace at Templeton, and a still with large quantities of liquor, wine and beer were seized at the home of Rupert Kasperbauer, constable at the same place.

Others arrested during the raid were Mr. and Mrs. John Harbock, Frank Barter, J. Doovle, Henry and William Freidman, Joseph and William Fuchs, Tony Getzinger, Clarence Bingford, Mike Strange, Chester Babcock, John Steffes, William Strangle, John Goultcher, Herman Lon, John Kisken, Alphonse and Edward Kirkoff.

30 Counties of State Ask Hail Insurance Adjusters

Lincoln, June 27.—(Special.)—Requests for state hail insurance adjusters were received today by L. G. Brian of the state department from 30 counties in the state following hail and rain in those counties.

WOMEN AND MEDICINE

In Europe, years ago, a woman named Hildegarde wrote a notable book on medicinal plants. In those days the men were too busy bothering about dogmas of religion and medicine, and the study of herbs was brought beneath their notice.

It was the women, however, who mostly conducted the hospitals and cared for the sick and thus they learned much of great value. They let the men fight out the questions of theories.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, prepared almost fifty years ago by a woman, Lydia E. Pinkham, did then, and does now, relieve the ailments peculiar to women. It is a vegetable compound and of great value for this purpose.

2,000 Attend Courthouse Dedication at Columbus

Columbus, Neb., June 27.—(Special.)—Two thousand persons attended the dedication of Platte county's new courthouse.

Governor McKelvie was the main speaker on the program. The governor paid tribute to the pioneers whose early hardships, thrift and industry formed the foundation for the development which has made possible the erection of the magnificent public building.

Supervisor Henry Hobbensiefken, chairman of the county board, presented the new building to the people of the county and in their behalf County Attorney Otto F. Walter voiced their acceptance.

G. W. Phillips spoke on "Platte County Reminiscences." He gave an interesting historical sketch of the incident leading to the erection of the old courthouse building, more than half a century ago, and told of the necessity which prompted the erection of its successor.

Mrs. R. M. Campbell, representative of the women of the county, read a paper on "The Women's Part in the development of Platte County."

After the program the building was inspected by the public. Cost of the new structure was $293,471.96, cost of the furniture was $28,777.68, and of the site, $20,944.47, or a total of $343,194.11.

The same flag that floated over the old courthouse when it was dedicated 52 years ago was unfurled to the breeze at the new courthouse. This was made possible through the courtesy of Miss E. Sheehan of Lincoln, former deputy in the office of clerk of the district court, now stenographer in the state railway commissioner's office in Lincoln.

Miss Sheehan's father, the late Edward D. Sheehan, pioneer of Platte county, bought the flag when the old courthouse was built and always raised and lowered it on holidays and other special occasions until the county bought a flag of its own. Since that time it has been used by Undeserved odium has been heaped upon the town of Herrin in connection with Thursday's mine massacre, Mayor A. T. Pace declared last night in a public statement read in the city council.

There was no discussion of the mayor's statement or of the riot at the council meeting. The aldermen passed an ordinance prohibiting crap shooting, repealed an ordinance taxing bootleggers and blind tiger proprietors $200 a year, transacted some other routine business and adjourned.

The mayor explained that the bootleggers' tax passed a year ago was a success financially until the liquor dealers found the tax was not a license to do business. Then they quit paying it.

Miners Enjoined. Fairmont, W. Va., June 27.—The enjoining order issued by Judge W. S. Meredith of Marion county circuit court here yesterday against the United Mine Workers is regarded as the most sweeping restraining order thus far handed down in West Virginia.

The order names John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers, other union officials, ordinary mine workers and even un-

Members of the family on holidays. Miss Sheehan mailed the flag to the county clerk for use at the dedication.

Rail Union Heads Will Call Strike for July 1

(Continued From Page One.) informing the responsible heads of the various railway systems in the United States, and also the Pullman company, most of which are represented in the association of railway executives, that unless an immediate arrangement can be made:

(1)—To continue the payment of the wages at present in force.

(2)—To restore operation under rules 6, 10, 12, 14, 15, 46 and 177, as they existed prior to the amendment thereof proposed in decisions 2227 and 2228.

(3)—To discontinue the contracting out of work and shops, pending negotiations between the Association of Railway Executives and the railway employes department, looking

Big Reform School Barn

Kearney, Neb., June 27.—(Special Telegram.)—Rains, showers to one inch, were reported Monday night at Pleasanton, Ankerst, Riverdale, Sumner, Eddyville, Callaway, Arnold, Oconto, Shelton, Elm Creek, Lexington, Minden and Holdrege, with three-quarters inch of precipitation here.

High winds and a terrific lightning and thunderstorm accompanied the rain here. A large barn at the State industrial school was struck by lightning and destroyed, together with contents, involving a loss in excesses, involving a loss in excess of $200. No live stock was lost in the blaze.

Question Voted Upon

The three points on which the executives are asked to meet the employees' demands are identical with the three questions on which the unions are now completing their strike ballot.

The first ballot covers the $600,000 wage cut ordered by the board, effective July 1. The second ballot involves seven rules regarding overtime and physical examinations, fought principally by the men because they wiped out time and one-half pay for overtime and Sunday work.

While union heads expressed the hope that the railroad heads might listen to their last-minute truce proposal, the suppressed excitement and tense atmosphere around union headquarters seemed to portend some momentous action.

Blame for the entire strike situation was placed squarely on the shoulders of the railway executives by President Jewell's telegram.

He declared that the passage of the transportation act had resulted in a series of controversies between the roads and their employes which had developed a situation where 1,000,000 men, or two-thirds of those in railroad employ today, are taking a strike vote.

Beside the shopmen, the maintenance of way laborers, firemen and oilers, and part of the clerks and signalmen are balloting on the strike question.

The telegram reviewed rail events since the passage of the transportation act and dwelt strongly on the refusal of the executives to establish boards of labor adjustment, provided for in the act, to settle local or regional disputes.

Oregon Shipper Gets Good Price for Sheep

Melady Brothers received five carloads of yearling sheep yesterday from W. J. Altnow of Beulah, Ore., and the top grades brought $9.40 a hundred, while the remainder were sold at $9 a hundred.

"These prices are from 50 to 75 cents a hundred weight higher than yearling sheep are quoted on the Chicago market," said Gene Melady, "which plainly indicates that Omaha is the best sheep market in the world."

Plenty of Cattle Are on Feed in Stanton County

A. G. Barr of Stanton was on the local market yesterday with carloads of choice, well-finished steers that averaged 1,265 pounds for which he received $9.35 a hundred.

"I expect quite a number of cattle to come from around Stanton for some time yet," said Mr. Barr, "and up in the neighborhood of Plainview there are more cattle on feed than there were at this time last year. Just before we left with the cattle for market Sunday there was a fine rain which insures good crops for Stanton county."
