

Strike Will Not Halt Trains, Say Rail Chiefs Here

Union Pacific and Burlington Officials Anticipate No Interruption Should Men Walk Out.

Even though officers of the railway shopmen's organizations carry out their threat to call a strike for July 1, trains will continue to run on regular schedules through Omaha, railroad officials here said yesterday.

Both Union Pacific and Burlington officials expressed confidence that no hardship will be felt here should the strike actually occur.

Anticipate No Interruption.
"We have received no definite information as yet as to whether a strike will be called on July 1," said W. H. Guild, assistant to the vice president of the Union Pacific system. "Should a shopmen's strike be called, however, we anticipate no interruption in traffic."

"Our track and motive power are in good condition, and Union Pacific trains will continue to run on schedule."

There are about 3,000 Union Pacific shop employes in Omaha, Council Bluffs and the vicinity.

"We haven't taken the matter in a serious light as yet," said C. L. Gray, speaking in the absence of W. F. Thiehoff, general manager of Burlington lines west. "The attitude of our shop employes has never been antagonistic. In event a strike is called, however, Burlington trains will continue to run. Our track is in good condition and with proper supervision will stay in good condition for a year."

There are about 2,000 Burlington shop employes in shops at Havelock.

Concord Club to Elect.

Fordsons "Ready for Work"

A few of the Fordsons on the lot at Twentieth and Leavenworth streets, where an industrial exposition is under way. The purpose is to show just how many tasks the Fordson is capable of performing.

Tractors Parade Through Omaha

Novel Procession Winds Way Through Downtown Thoroughfares.

As a preliminary to the opening of the Industrial Tractor show at Twenty-first and Leavenworth streets a parade of laboring, roaring, snorting motor tractors forged its grim way through the streets of Omaha yesterday morning.

Starting from the Omaha branch of the Ford Motor company, it made its way through Sixteenth street from Cumming to Harney, west on Harney to Nineteenth, north to Farnam, east to Tenth street, south to Jackson, west to Sixteenth, south to Leavenworth, then west to the show grounds. The tractor parade was inaugurated as an exhibit of the different purposes to which the tractor may be utilized, including heavy cartage, street cleaning, road construction, agricultural work and saw mill work.

The parade demonstrated the way in which a tractor given a job can do it. After the parade the same machines which had traversed busy downtown streets became again industrial giants doing useful work.

Bryan and Butler, Rivals, Pow-Wow

Each Tells Other He Expects to Win Gubernatorial Nomination.

Charles W. Bryan of Lincoln, democratic candidate for governor, has no quarrel with City Commissioner D. B. Butler, also democratic candidate for governor. The Lincoln man made this plain during a conversation with the Omaha candidate.

"I have nothing against you, Mr. Butler," said Mr. Bryan. "They did not believe you could win against J. N. Norton, so they got me into the race to maintain the identity of the democratic party."

"I am in this race to win and I expect to win," replied Mr. Butler, forestalling an expected query from Mr. Bryan on this phase of the situation.

While in the city Mr. Bryan called at Senator Hitchcock's headquarters. The latest political gossip in democratic circles is that the Mullen wing of the party is for Norton for governor while the Hitchcock forces are eager to promote the candidacy of Mr. Bryan in the interests of harmony within the party.

Bryan Assails Darwinism at Church Meet

Cheered as He Declares "Darwin's God Was Nowhere; His Bible, Nothing; His Christ, Nobody."

Kansas City, Mo., June 28.—(By A. P.)—Which of the two, science or religion, shall go to the other every night to be checked up? That was a central theme of William J. Bryan's address at the closing session of the 16th quadrennial International Sunday School convention here last night.

Mr. Bryan said the question was suggested by the remark of a Princeton university professor who recently protested, "science cannot go to theology every Saturday night to be checked up."

"This is a prevalent type of intellectual snobbery," Mr. Bryan went on to say. "It is time for the Christians to join together in the defense of the ministry. They should insist that the ministry as a calling be considered at least not inferior to any other line of work. The minister and the Sunday school deal with the science of how to live, which is the most important of sciences. It is desirable to know the other sciences but it is necessary to know the science of how to live."

That the gathering was entirely in sympathy with his reference to strict teachings and their strict interpretation from the Bible, was evidenced by the crescendo of applause which came when he said: "Darwin's God was nowhere—he could not find Him; Darwin's Bible was nothing—it was uninspired; Darwin's Christ was nobody—a mere man with a brute ancestry."

Mr. Bryan's address was a plea that all men should carry out the commandment which Christ gave as the one greatest: "Thou shalt love thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul and with all thy mind."

Platte County Pioneers' Association Organized

Columbus, Neb., June 28.—(Special)—With 109 names on its membership roll, the Platte County Pioneers' association was organized by old settlers attending the dedication of the new courthouse.

The president was authorized to appoint a committee to draft bylaws to be submitted at a later meeting. Eligibility to membership was fixed at 25 years of residence in the county instead of 35 years as was contemplated prior to the meeting.

Milk Strike in Des Moines Looms

Producers and Distributors Unable to Agree on Wholesale Prices.

Des Moines, June 28.—(Special Telegram)—Unless the 1,000 farmers supplying Des Moines with milk are given an increase over present prices July 1 a milk strike here is threatened.

Two meetings have been held between committees representing the producers and the distributors but as yet they have been unable to reach an agreement.

At the last meeting representatives of the farmers made the threat that unless distributors paid a higher price, they would strike.

The recent contract, which was made three months ago and ends July 1, gives the farmers $2.00 per 100 pounds of milk of a 3.5 butterfat test. After adding hauling have been added costs, farmers get about 1.32 per 100 pounds.

Distributors have stated that they cannot pay more.

PIGGLY WIGGLY

Some Dealers Think War Has Started

It often happens when PIGGLY WIGGLY opens in a city that the retailers become panic-stricken and attempt to drive PIGGLY WIGGLY out by selling some goods at a loss.

So far as PIGGLY WIGGLY is concerned, there is no PRICE WAR. Local dealers are not used to seeing goods sold so close—and PIGGLY WIGGLY is.

PIGGLY WIGGLY is at peace with all the world, including customers and competitors, and will continue in this same good humor, making lower prices than other dealers can make and still make a profit. The reason for our low prices is no secret. Our purchasing power, scientific management and low overhead expense is the talk of the merchandising world.

PIGGLY WIGGLY has confidence in Omaha and the State of Nebraska and believes that Omaha will show a tremendous increase in prosperity and population in the next few years; that there will be more grocery stores in Omaha than there are today and that they will be just as prosperous or more so; that the stores giving service, credit and delivery will continue doing business and getting well paid for it.

PIGGLY WIGGLY does not sell SERVICE, CREDIT NOR DELIVERY, PIGGLY WIGGLY does not have any special sales or combination sales. The consuming public has been praying for some system that would lower the cost of foodstuffs by eliminating waste and unnecessary expense. PIGGLY WIGGLY is the answer to their prayers.

WE INVITE YOU TO VISIT OUR STORES AND WALK THROUGH, TAKING YOUR TIME AND INSPECTING EVERY ITEM AND FEEL THAT YOU ARE MOST WELCOME WHETHER YOU BUY OR JUST LOOK AROUND.
