

Maintenance Men in Illinois Mines to Resume Work

Workers Who Quit Monday Following Warnings Will Return Today—Harding Calls Conference.

Herrin, Ill., June 29.—(By A. P.)—Pumpmen and maintenance crews at three mines of the Madison Coal company near Carterville, will return to work today, W. J. Moorehead, president of the company, announced last night.

President Moorehead conferred with union officials and the maintenance employees today and announced later he had been promised that his men would not be molested if they returned.

Frank Farrington, president of the Illinois mine workers, telegraphed officials of the local union to see that their followers stayed away from the shatts.

No action has been taken toward resuming pumping at two mines of the Peabody Coal company, which also were shut down Monday night after being visited by automobile parties.

Harding Calls Conference. Washington, June 29.—Invitations went out from the White House yesterday, asking the leaders of the striking miners and the representatives of the employing coal operators in both the bituminous and anthracite fields of the United States to meet President Harding Saturday to devise methods upon which negotiations for the settlement of the coal strike can be initiated.

John L. Lewis, chief of the United Mine Workers, who remained in the city after a personal interview with the president, accepted at once in behalf of the union.

The wording of the president's message was interpreted as demonstrating the desire of the administration to hold the meeting above the controversies which have deadlocked the unionized section of the industry since April 1. Official but informal comment emphasized it was the intention that the conference should be held merely to discuss ways and means for a settlement and not to take up the miners' demands for continuation of wartime wage scales, nor the operators' demand in the bituminous field for separate district wages supplementing the semi-national wage contracts that have heretofore been made.

Boone, Ia., June 28.—The non-union wagon mine of the Boone Biblical college near here, which closed down Saturday following a request by union officials, resumed operations today, according to members of the local union of the United Mine Workers of America.

It is considered likely that striking miners of the vicinity will visit the mine in a body tomorrow and again request that the pit be closed. Similar demonstrations have been made at several of the non-union mines in Iowa, and in all cases the pits are reported to have closed.

Stage Demonstration. Punnatsawney, Pa., June 28.—A large crowd of men, said to be striking miners and sympathizers, went from this region to Valier in automobiles, wagons and afoot, and staged a demonstration at a number of working mines.

Reports to county officials said that many of the working miners walked out but that three men who refused to quit work were assaulted and badly beaten.

As a result, the mines which had been operating with about 300 men since the strike began, were closed. The owners, all residents of Punnatsawney, have appealed to Sheriff S. A. Lowrie at Brookville for aid.

Rebel Forces Repel Free Staters' Attacks

The insurgents are developing activities along guerrilla lines, particularly in the form of ambushes.

Wire Communication Cut. Telegraphic communication between Dublin and the north and west of Ireland is practically at a standstill. A number of wires between Dublin and London were cut last night near Howth.

In other parts of the country the provisional government also has military affairs on its hands. In Drogheda, the insurgents, who are occupying the round tower fort on the hill commanding the town, have been invested by the free state troops in the same way as at the Four Courts in Dublin. The Drogheda position of the irregulars is regarded as strong.

From other parts of Ireland there are many rumors of insurgent action, but the reports are difficult of confirmation because of Dublin's almost complete isolation.

Appeal for Support. Both sides have been active in the issuance of manifestoes, three statements having been given out by the government within 24 hours, while both Kory O'Connor and Eamon De Valera have made appeals to the people for support.

Mr. De Valera's communique as a "stop press" supplement, was posted on walls in various parts of the city. The communique was accompanied by an editorial statement saying: "In Kory O'Connor and his comrades lives the unbought and indomitable soul of Ireland."

Erskine Childers, who was defeated for re-election to parliament, is still editing this journal.

The regular army command is taking the most elaborate precautions to exclude from Dublin anybody or any supplies intended to aid the irregulars. Every road leading into the city has been blocked and is under the guard of armed men.

The Great Southern railway has been cut at several points and it is reported that an important bridge has been blown up.

College Green, the center of the city, was almost deserted today.

Impassioned Plea. An impassioned plea "for all citizens of the Irish republic," to rally to its support in this supreme test of the nation's destiny," is contained in a proclamation issued by the Irish army insurgents who are holding the four courts against the free state forces.

"The fateful hour has come at the dictation of our hereditary enemy," says the appeal, "and our righteous cause is being treacherously assailed by recreant Irishmen.

"The crash of arms and the boom of artillery reverberate in this supreme test of the nation's destiny.

"Gallant savior of the Irish republic, stand firm in its defense and worthily uphold their noblest traditions. The sacred spirit of the illustrious dead are with us in this great struggle. Death before dishonor being an unchanging principle of our national faith as it was found, they still inspire us to emulate their glorious efforts.

"We especially appeal to our former comrades in the Irish republic to return to that allegiance and thus guard the nation's honor from the infamous stigma that her sons aided her foes in retaining the hateful domination over her."

Senate Boosts Tariff Rates on Milk and Honey

Duty on Live and Dressed Poultry Also Raised—Democrats Defeated in Tests on Floor.

Washington, June 29.—Tariffs on foodstuffs occupied the attention of the senate again today, with committee rates on milk, cream, poultry and honey receiving overwhelming endorsement despite fights from the democratic side and some opposition from the majority side in the case of the rate on cream. Duties approved were:

Milk, fresh, 2 1/2 cents a gallon, house rate, 1 cent; sour and butter-milk, 1 cent a gallon, house rate, 1-2 cent; cream, 2 1/2 cents a gallon, house rates from 5 to 10 cents; milk powder, 5 cents a pound, house rate, 8 cents.

Poultry, alive, 3 cents a pound, house rate, 2 cents; dressed, 6 cents a pound, house rate, 4 cents; all other poultry, dressed, 8 cents per pound, house rate, 20 per cent ad valorem; poultry, prepared or preserved, not specially provided for, 35 per cent ad valorem, house rate, 22 per cent.

Honey, 3 cents a pound, house rate, 2 1/2 cents.

Debate over milk and cream duties developed a controversy among New England senators. The amendment of Senator Lodge, republican leader, to provide for 10 cents a gallon on all imported cream not used for making butter, was rejected, 53 to 18.

Discussion of the proposed duty on honey brought forth considerable humor and sarcasm from the democratic side. Senator Stanley of Kentucky remarked that no doubt the duty was designed to sustain the higher standard of living of the American honey bee, and he declared that the "utter indifference of the democratic party to the American honey bee is pathetic."

Senator Hitchcock, Nebraska, gave it as his opinion that the duty was designed to protect the American bee from the German bee, which, he said, necessarily enjoyed a much lower living cost than the American bee.

Monsoon in China Sea Thriller, Says Cowell

Of all the varied experiences he encountered during nearly two years of travel up and down the land and water highways of the world, Robert Cowell affirms solemnly that a monsoon in the China sea holds first place in his book of memories.

Mr. and Mrs. Cowell and their daughter, Mona, returned Wednesday and are temporarily at the Blackstone hotel.

"You can't say you have been everywhere and have seen everything until you go through a monsoon in the China sea," said Mr. Cowell. "You never know just when a monsoon will come along, but when it does appear you know something is happening. You think the ship is going to pieces or will turn over. It is what you would call quite a blow."

Parcel Post Man Is Wizard of Figures

S. E. Munson

S. E. Munson is the wizard of figures in connection with the local merchants' parcel post delivery system.

If any one wants to know how many c. o. d. parcels were delivered the day before Christmas last year; how many miles per day a postal truck covers; what is the cost of transportation for a parcel from a downtown shoe store to Miller park, why—

"Ask Mr. Munson!"

The latter also originated his own bookkeeping system for the huge business of Uncle Sam, involving delivery of more than 2,000,000 parcels last year. Minneapolis is the only other city in the United States to have it and the northern city's system was not satisfactory to local officials.

When he's not juggling with figures Munson is raising thoroughbred poultry at his place, 3030 Curtis avenue. He is an enthusiastic fancier, an officer of the Poultry association and will be superintendent of next year's Poultry show at the Auditorium.

Crowd of 10,000 at Elks Carnival

Emergency Gate at Krug Park Is Used to Handle Fun-Seeking Throng.

Nearly 10,000 amusement seekers passed through the gates of Krug park Wednesday night as guests of Omaha lodge No. 39, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks. So great was the rush shortly after 8 that the park management was forced to open an emergency entrance to handle the crowd.

That the Elks have proven themselves the "Best People on Earth" as entertainers is shown by the fact that each night since the opening Monday has seen a larger crowd attending their carnival.

The Midway was a jostling, happy mob as they wended their way from the Elks' palace of fun to the decapitated Elk that can see and talk and on to the bull fight. The Peter Pan pony show and the pony track, where 20 Shetland ponies are used to give rides to the children, were the attractions that entertained the youngsters.

The Elks' concert band of 30 pieces gave a new concert that was well received. Free moving pictures were shown to entertain the mammoth crowd. The park dance floor and the numerous amusement devices helped to entertain the amusement seekers.

Harding Asks $5,000,000 for Upkeep of Navy Ships

Washington, June 29.—President Harding sent to the senate a request for a supplemental appropriation of $5,000,000 for expenses in the care and preservation of naval ships whose construction has been suspended in anticipation of ratifications by the signatory powers of the arms conference treaties.

An accompanying letter from Director Dawes of the budget said that the naval appropriation bill carried no funds for the temporary upkeep of the vessels to be scrapped until the arms treaty is ratified by all the powers. Seven battleships and four battle cruisers, Director Dawes said, are being kept in condition to resume work, although required to be scrapped under the naval treaty.
