

Many Editors in Contest for State Offices

Unusual Number of Scribes Filled in Primaries—Mostly for Berths in Legislature.

An unusual number of Nebraska editors have filed for state offices, according to a tabulation just published.

Will M. Maupin, editor of the Gering Mid-West and former state labor commissioner, is a candidate for the democratic nomination for governor.

George Snow, owner of the Chadron Journal, for several years a member of the State Press association executive committee and twice a state representative, is seeking the republican nomination for lieutenant governor.

Asa Wood of the Gering Courier, J. S. Kroh of the Ogallala News, T. B. Fulton of the Beatrice Express are candidates for the state senate as republicans; John Tanner of the South Omaha Democrat and E. B. Purcell of the Beatrice Democrat are after the same office as democrats. Tanner and Purcell both have had previous legislative experience.

For the lower house, editor candidates are Cyrus Black, Hickman Enterprise; W. W. Altman, Wood River Sunbeam; W. H. Cox, Arapahoe Mirror; Vera Gibbons, Dawson Herald; Dwight Griswold, Gordon Gazette.

Maupin, Snow, Wood, Tanner and Purcell are past presidents of the Nebraska Press association. Kroh is a past vice president.

Irrigation Plan Is O. K'd by Senate

Senator Norris Secures Passage of Resolution to Aid Semi-Arid Counties.

Washington, June 30.—(Special Telegram.)—Senator Norris secured passage yesterday of his resolution authorizing the Interior department to make special investigations of the irrigation project proposed by State Engineer Johnson and Mayor McCaughy of Holdrege, which would put the waters of the Platte to irrigating the subsoil in Kearney, Adams and Phelps counties.

The Andrews resolution in the house to the same effect is still pending, but Mr. Andrews will endeavor to put it through before the house adjourns.

Representative Kinkaid yesterday received a letter from Secretary of the Interior Fall approving the project.

The project would appropriate $5,000 from the general treasury for irrigation investigation in the counties named. The rainfall in this section is inadequate, and it is proposed to supplement the rainfall by taking the flood and unneeded waters from the Platte river at times in the year when the water is available and storing the same in the subsoil. It is contended that through storage of from 8 to 12 inches of water in the fall or spring, maximum crops can be produced with the average rainfall in that section.

Women's Clubs to Work With Movie Industry

Chaustauqua, N. Y., June 30.—The most controversial topic at the biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs was disposed of at the closing session today when a resolution on motion pictures was passed, offering co-operation to the members of the industry.

The resolution approves "the effort now being made by the motion picture industry to raise the moral and artistic standard and develop the educational value of motion pictures" and "the effort of the industry to stabilize its economic conditions to the end that there may be the fullest freedom for development of creative ability."

The convention endorsed a uniform marriage and divorce movement, recommending a law which "will prevent hasty and ill-considered marriages, preclude interstate contest and provide a proper justice for all members of the family when divorce becomes necessary."

A national immigration commission to restrict the admission of aliens to this country was endorsed, as was an instruction in the public schools and truth-in-fabric legislation.

Cuckoo Is Shiftless Sort of Father, Says Newspaper

Philadelphia, June 30.—A local paper, running a "nature and science" series, queries its readers: "Have you seen this bird—the yellow-billed cuckoo?"

To which a number have replied: "Yes, many a time. Habitat, restaurants, buying meals for 'gold diggers.'"

The paper nonchalantly supplements this information with the following: "Mr. Cuckoo is a rather shiftless sort of father and husband."

Receivership of "Katy" Road to Be Dissolved

St. Louis, June 30.—(By A. S. G.) The receiver ship of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railway company will be dissolved today when United States Circuit Judge Sanborn signs a decree prepared by security holders authorizing the road's sale by a special master for less than $28,000,000.

The judge announced he would sign the decree late today after minor changes are made in it.

Road Conditions

Furnished by the Omaha Auto Club.

Roads in every direction out of Omaha are reported very muddy this morning. West and south as much as two inches of rain have been reported at several stations. Cars are coming through from every direction using chains and making a little slow time. Weather west clearing.

Is your business for sale? Sell it through an Omaha Bee "Want" Ad. You'll be surprised at the quick results.

War Bride to Sing for The Bee Radio

Program Includes South Omaha Contralto and Dramatic Instructor.

The Bee's radio concerts are constantly bringing out new talent in Omaha. During the past few months an unusual number of local artists have made their first appearance before the microphone and not one number was commonplace.

Tonight's radio program from the Omaha Grain Exchange station, WAAW, to be broadcast by The Bee includes piano numbers, songs and elocution numbers.

Miss Ruth Fisher, contralto singer and director of St. Martin's Episcopal choir on the South Side, will entertain radio audiences with two numbers. Mrs. E. A. Wenberg will accompany Miss Fisher. Both artists will also broadcast a duet song number.

Mrs. James Burns, an English war bride who received early musical education in Europe, is on The Bee's radio program tonight to sing several ballads. Mrs. E. C. Watkins will accompany her.

Then there'll be an elocution number and a pianologue, "Ma," by E. R. Misner, a director of dramatics in Omaha.

So radio audiences throughout the country may listen in on some more high-class entertainment to night when The Bee again broadcasts its program from station WAAW beginning sharply at 8:15.

"Air Bug" Works Without Aerial

Receiver Given Away by The Bee Picks Up Messages With Use of Coil.

The quick adaptability and thorough capability of the junior "air bug" receiver that is being given away by The Bee was demonstrated recently when E. T. Munroe, jr., brought the Omaha Grain Exchange station, WAAW, without the use of an aerial—an uncommon occurrence in radio.

Ray Rainbolt of the Omaha Radio company was demonstrating a large receiving set not far distant from station WAAW when Munroe hooked his miniature set that consisted of a one-inch coil, crystal and receiver to the aerial. The reception from the grain exchange was as audible through the "air bug" set as through the larger receiver.

The lead from the aerial to the "air bug" became disconnected and, to the surprise of the onlookers, the grain reports kept coming in, the coil acting as an aerial.

WAAW Friday

Broadcasting of daily news bulletins from the Omaha Grain Exchange station, WAAW, will be discontinued after today. The grain exchange, cooperating with The Bee will continue to broadcast market reports, baseball scores and concerts. Market reports will be broadcast daily at 8:45 a. m., 9:45, 10:45, 12:30 and 8:00 p. m. Baseball scores will be given out by The Bee and the grain exchange at 5:15 p. m. Concerts will follow final announcement of the market reports at 8:00 p. m.

The Bee will broadcast concerts from station WAAW on Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday nights of next week.

Four Concerts Scheduled to Be Given Next Week

There'll be concerts broadcast by The Bee from the Omaha Grain Exchange station, WAAW, Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday nights. Some clever local talent has been booked for the programs that will begin sharply at 8:15 p. m.

Questions

E. L. K., Lincoln, Neb.
Q. What would a complete receiving set cost?
A. A complete home made, short wave receiving set, including aerial, could be installed for $35.

F. J. N., Hastings, Neb.
Q. Will the use of a 45-plate condenser affect the secondary of a home-made coil?
A. (1) The condenser you mention will not affect the secondary of a home-made coil. (2) The reason the spider web coils did not work well in the circuit is because you did not have the coils of the proper size. Don't be afraid to do some experimenting along this line, and you may surprise yourself. (3) The size of the home-made coils should be, primary L-30, secondary L-30, and tickler L-25.

$4,800 Judgment Returned.

Californian Stages Fiji Island Dance in Park; Held Not Insane

Long Beach, Cal., June 30.—Clifford Wooten, clad in a suit of small muslin tobacco sacks, sewn together with yellow cord that puckered the sacks, was slowly prancing and dancing in the park here yesterday when a policeman stepped into the picture and spoke thus: "What's the idea?"

"I'm a member of the royal family of the Fiji islands, and I'm doing our tribal dance," was the response.

At police headquarters a doctor said Wooten was sane, the sergeant held he hadn't been disorderly, the policeman said he had no other charge, so he was turned out of the station.
