

U. S. Dry Officer Killed in Raid on Tennessee Still

Owner of Property on Which Still Located Slayer—Kansas Officers Kill Man Searching Home.

Gainesboro, Tenn., July 7.—H. J. Lynch, federal prohibition officer, was shot and instantly killed by Finlay Young of Gainesville, Tenn., yesterday, following a raid of an illicit still located upon the property of Young, according to federal officers here.

Killed in Raid.
Wichita, Kan., July 7.—J. W. Colvin, is dead and Tom R. Shook and Charles Bebout, city policemen, are under $10,000 bond each, as the result of an attempt last night to search Colvin's home for liquor. Colvin was shot five times.

Three Girls Die in Crash.
Oakland, Cal., July 7.—Three young women, one unidentified, were killed instantly and a man was seriously injured when a Santa Fe train struck the automobile in which they were riding here last night.

Mate of Screen Actress Suicide.
Birmingham, Ala., July 7.—Jack Lewis d'Arcy, said to be the husband of Louise d'Arcy, screen actress, and the son of a well known banking figure connected with the J. P. Morgan interests, committed suicide at a local hotel last night by taking potassium cyanide.

D'Arcy had been in Birmingham about four weeks, working for a real estate firm. A discharge, found in the dead man's clothing, showed that he was a former aviator in the French army and was given credit for bringing down five airplanes.

Canine "Pals of State Officials Have Personalities as Marked as Masters

MacDonald-Lincoln

Warden W. T. Fenton and his mouse hound, Billie, on left; and State Game Warden George Koster and his Scotch collie, Shack. The lad in the center is "Dutch" Koster, youngest son of the game warden.

Lincoln, July 7.—(Special)—Dogs owned by State Game Warden George Koster and Warden W. T. Fenton have a personality among canines as marked as the personality of their masters among humans. Shack, the full-blooded Scotch collie owned by Koster, loves his master best, the Koster children next and other persons in accordance with their popularity with the Koster family.

When Koster is away from Lincoln and word comes that he will soon be home, the news is told Shack, who instantly hurries to the statehouse a block and a half away, remaining faithfully at the office, going home only to eat and sleep until his master appears.

Shack never growls at anyone although, like all collies, he is dangerous in a fight. He gets sullen after being bathed and refuses to play for half a day. That is as near to meanness as Shack ever comes. His great sport is playing hide and seek with the children. Someone will hold his eyes closed until the children are hidden and then Shack begins to search. A loud bark is his sign that he has found them.

The Koster children are nearly grown. Shack likes little kids about 5 and 6, and when they are at the house one always finds Shack at their side. He also takes fancy to a little chicken and gets offended when anyone touches it.

Billie, mouse hound of Warden W. T. Fenton, displays the characteristic of some girls, who must have a fellow. Billie must always have someone to run around with and refuses to pay any attention to anyone else.

When the warden is at the penitentiary Billie looks after his welfare exclusively. He growls if anyone touches the warden and has been known to leap into the air and snatch a whisk broom from the hands of a porter brushing the warden's coat.

The "Bull's Shadow." The warden has a habit of taking a nap after his moonday lunch, over the protests of a wife, who says it ruins his digestion. Billie naps, too, at the warden's feet. The warden's home is directly above the front of the penitentiary.

The least sound awakens Billie and he continues to snarl and bark until the warden awakens, investigates the noise, and says:

"It's all right, Billie." The same is true at night, while the warden is sleeping. When the warden is away, Billie usually transfers his affections to Mrs. Fenton. The convicts never call him Billie. Usually he is known to them as the "Bull's Shadow," with less elegant names falling to his lot when bathing or searching for Billie is assigned to them.

Light Vote at State Primary Is Predicted

competition. He recommends it as a weapon against monopoly. In one of his speeches yesterday he declared that if cement prices were not fair he would advocate the building of a state cement plant designed to save expense to taxpayers in road and bridge building and to force other companies to meet competition price. These are some of the views with which Mr. Howell is asking support. For the most part, however, he is standing on his record in public life. "I've never talked bunk and I will not make promises that I cannot meet in order to obtain election," he declares. "That doesn't mean that I won't take a position. The greatest menace of our country is monopoly." Together with his personal com-paign, Mr. Howell is carrying on a fight to preserve the primary system. In asking votes against the measure enacted by the last regular session, he declares that if it is not repealed, women voters will lose their equal standing in party management. Two women for an important part of Mr. Howell's campaigning. These are Mrs. Howell and Miss Charlotte Acer. The latter, who comes from New York, is the fiancée of Mr. Howell's son, Sidney J. Cullingham.

who transmitted the shop strike order.

"Holdout" Struggle.
Chicago, July 7.—The nation-wide strike of the railroad shopmen entered its seventh day Friday, with indications that the walkout had settled down to a "holdout" struggle. Railroad officials continued to advertise for men to replace the striking employees and union officers carried on in the work of organizing the suspension.

Reports as to the actual effect and completeness of the tieup were conflicting and altogether indefinite. Many railroads reported that sufficient forces of shopmen were at work to enable them to keep abreast of the normal repair demands of the railroads, with prospects for increasing forces as times went on. Union leaders, on the other hand, reiterated previous claims that the strike was approximately 90 per cent effective and professed no anxiety over the claims of the roads.

To Fight Strikers.
Events of the week have made certain that the rail lines have determined to fight the strikers, such action being indicated by nation-wide advertising for workers to enter the deserted shops, and the placing of guards around strategic plants throughout the country. One road, the Great Northern, already has attempted to negotiate with the new employees as an organization, supplanting the shopcrafts union outlawed by the federal labor board on Monday.

Traffic Not Affected.
With the labor board adhering to its announced policy of hands off, and the crafts leader, E. M. Jewell, seeking conference with neither the roads nor the board, there seems today to be not even a promise that peace might come other than by a slow wearing out of the parties to the dispute.

Railroads declare that traffic is not affected, not even imperiled. Several trains have been discontinued in various sections of the country, and in other cases freight runs have been consolidated in an effort to conserve equipment.

Confere on Slater, Mo.
Slater, Mo., July 7.—(By A. P.)—Adjutant General William Raupp of Missouri spent two hours here last night and then left for Jefferson City. There he will report to Governor Hyde and make recommendations as to the handling of the local situation, where striking shopmen have closed down the Chicago & Alton shops and have been in virtual control of the town for the last 36 hours. General Raupp declined to announce what his recommendations would include, but said that he had talked to Sheriff John Logsdon in Marshall and that Sheriff Logsdon had stated to him that he, the sheriff, was unable to control the local situation and was not inclined to appoint special deputies. General Raupp told Sheriff Logsdon to put it in writing and the sheriff said he would write the governor last night. In Slater, General Raupp talked to J. L. Marquette, and other Alton officials and also to Leo Winkle, chairman of the shopcrafts unions here, who promised there would be no violence.

Rock Island Officials Work.
Topeka, Kan., July 7.—Rock Island railroad officials went to work here yesterday to keep the trains running, serving as car inspectors, icing passenger cars and filling the grease cups. The rolling stock is moving as usual, J. J. Breheny, trainmaster, announced.

N. Y. Clerks Vote to Quit.
Syracuse, N. Y., July 7.—Railway clerks employed on the New York Central lines have voted to strike, it was announced today by their officials. The vote was a part of the general strike vote taken by all the clerks on the New York Central lines. The union includes clerks, freight handlers and express and station employees. Clerks on the Lackawanna already had voted to strike.

Marking Time on Coast.
San Francisco, July 7.—Both sides were marking time in the strike of shopmen on the Pacific coast today.

Chiropractor

Railroad officials reiterated their statements made last night that men were fast returning to work, while officials of the shopmen's organization countered with statements that union men were standing firm.

At the headquarters of the Southern Pacific company here early today it was announced that 1,206 shopmen had returned to work to date on the system.

"All Over" on Great Northern.
Wenatchee, Wash., July 7.—"The shopmen's strike is virtually over as far as the Great Northern is concerned," was the statement made here by J. A. O'Neill, general manager of the western lines in reporting the return to work of a number of the railroad men. "Within the next 24 hours we'll have 200 strikers back to work west of Spokane," O'Neill asserted.

Marine Depth Charge Used to Recover Drowned Body

London, July 7.—A depth charge, the most potent weapon used in the destruction of German submarines, was used to find the body of James Anderson of Accrington, who had been missed for several weeks. The police had dragged the water without success and then resorted to the depth charge. The body floated to the surface immediately.
