

Paroled Sutton Bank Head Seeks Another Fortune

M. L. Luebben Hopes to Pay
Off Losses of Depositors Through New Invention.

Released on parole from the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., July 4, M. L. Luebben, former president of the First National bank of Sutton, Neb., is now in St. Louis trying to lay the foundation for another fortune.

Luebben, who is about 65, was left penniless by the bank crash that led to his prosecution on charges that he issued fraudulent certificates of deposit without funds to cover them.

"There's only one thing for me to do," Luebben said as he prepared to go to prison. "I must do my utmost to make good the losses of the depositors who trusted me and lost their savings."

Perfects Device.
While in prison he perfected a device to sharpen safety razor blades.

The machine has been patented. "I have found backing in St. Louis," the paroled banker declared as he left the prison, "and expect to have my invention on the market soon."

In the meantime prominent residents of Sutton are preparing to give the former banker an enthusiastic welcome when he returns there to make his home.

"Nearly everybody here considers himself a true friend to Luebben," said N. G. Bender, Sutton business man yesterday, "and he will come back as one of us."

Sign Recommendations.
Scores of prominent residents of Sutton signed recommendations for Luebben's parole. Both the federal judge who presided at his trial and the United States assistant district attorney who prosecuted him recommended parole.

"Certainly I am going back to Sutton," Luebben declared.

Luebben will have to report monthly to federal authorities on his conduct.

He was sentenced August 7, 1920, to serve five years.

Efficient Panel Made From Glass

Black Paper, Shellac and Enamel Used to Cover Glass for Cheap Radio Panel.

Many radio amateurs regret spending a dollar or two on a panel and would gladly welcome a neat, well insulated front piece for their sets.

One may be made from two pieces of window glass, a piece of black paper the same size as the panel and some shellac and enamel.

The scales are marked on the paper with the enamel and when dry the opposite side is given a coat of shellac and placed over one pane of glass. The side on which the scales are made is then coated with shellac and the second pane of glass laid upon it. All three are clamped together. When dry the holes are drilled with a sharp iron drill, using a little oil or turpentine. The best manner of holding the completed panel to the cabinet is by means of square brackets fitting over the edge.

Radio Amateurs May Make Stranded Wire

Many radio fans have at times wanted some stranded wire in a hurry, and possibly have felt that they would have liked to save the cash involved in its purchase, if the time element were not important. A neat, smooth stranded wire, excellent for your antenna or other purposes where stranded wire is superior, can be easily made at home.

Put a number of wires together, all of the same length, and fasten one end to a nail or hook on the wall, then place the other end in the chuck of your hand drill, making sure that they are all even. Stand back far enough to pull the wires taut, not too tight, then turn the crank of the drill slowly until the wires are twisted into one. By using cotton covered wire you can make a neat power cable. Several strands of wire from the secondary of a spark coil makes a neat wire for winding variometers and other regenerative coils.

Los Angeles will have radio in 20 of its public schools before the fall session begins. The problem of having material broadcast that will meet the standards of the local pedagogues is a worrisome one.

The steamship Santa Louisa claims the record for long distance reception. A concert broadcast at Pittsburgh was heard at Iquique, Chile.

Government reports credit California with the lead of all the states in radio development. Los Angeles claims to have more stations than the whole state of New York.

The danger of stringing radio wires over light or power wires was demonstrated in New Jersey recently when a well known citizen was shocked to death.

Student Thief Gets Light Fine

Friends to Aid of Youth Who Stole Gun to Kill Self.

A new day dawned in Central police court yesterday morning for Lincoln Sykes, 21, until recently a State Teachers' college student at Cedar Falls, Ia., who stole a revolver here Sunday to kill himself, and was captured by police.

Friends and relatives flocked to his assistance, and after being fined $5 for the theft, Sykes squared his shoulders and announced that he was going to his home in Swalesdale, Ia., "to amount to something."

Raymond Young, 4923 Chicago street, attorney, who used to know the Sykes family, "back in Swalesdale," hurried to the young man's aid in court yesterday morning and pleases his case so eloquently that Judge W. F. Wappich assessed a minimum fine.

Put a number of wires together, all of the same length, and fasten one end to a nail or hook on the wall, then place the other end in the chuck of your hand drill, making sure that they are all even. Stand back far enough to pull the wires taut, not too tight, then turn the crank of the drill slowly until the wires are twisted into one. By using cotton covered wire you can make a neat power cable. Several strands of wire from the secondary of a spark coil makes a neat wire for winding variometers and other regenerative coils.

Sykes was arrested after he fled with a revolver from the store of Max Kirschenbaum, 1211 Douglas street.

"I wanted to kill myself," he explained. Police were unable to learn his motive. He had 27 cents in his pockets.

Illinois Central Railroad Co.

To All Illinois Central System Shopmen: Chicago, Ill., July 10, 1922.

On June 14th I addressed a communication to you in which I appealed to you to cast your vote against the proposed strike. Since that time the strike has been called by your leaders, and some of you have left your positions, while others have remained steadfast. I feel that the time has arrived when I should make clear to those of you who have left your positions, as well as those of you who have remained, the position of the Illinois Central System with reference to this entire matter.

In my letter to you of June 14th I enumerated the three things which your leaders proposed to have you strike against; namely, (1) contracting of shop plants to outsiders, (2) the order of the United States Railroad Labor Board relating to rules and working conditions and (3) the order of the United States Railroad Labor Board establishing rates of pay effective July 1.

The question of contracting shops to outsiders is not a part of the controversy so far as you and the management of the Illinois Central System are concerned, because this railway system has not contracted any of its shops to outsiders. The questions involved in the matter of rules and working conditions and the order establishing rates of pay effective July 1 are the only ones at issue. They are not questions between you and the Illinois Central System management. They were decided by the United States Railroad Labor Board and those of you who are out on strike are striking against lawful decisions of a branch of the United States Government.

It goes without saying that the public welfare cannot permit the revocation of a decision of a governmental agency under a threat of the use of force. No patriotic citizen would expect such a thing to be done, or would have it done. We believe that we have the best government in the world, but you will all agree with me that it would not long so remain if its institutions could be over-ridden and set aside in the manner sought by those who are contending against the lawful decisions of the United States Railroad Labor Board.

The management of the Illinois Central System believes that those of you who are out on strike have been misled. It bears no feeling of hostility toward those who left its service. To those who have remained loyal it acknowledges a debt of gratitude. It feels that it has a valuable asset in its old employees, and it is eager to hold them together. It believes that, if those of you who are out will calmly analyze the issues upon which you are striking your better judgment will assert itself and you will return to your positions. I sincerely invite you to return. Moreover, I earnestly advise you to pursue that course.

Those who report for duty not later than 11:59 P. M. Monday, July 17, 1922, may do so with the resumption of full seniority and pension rights and will be treated as if their services had been continuous. Those returning after that time, if accepted, will rank as new employees.

I trust that those of you who are out will consider this matter seriously and that your action, whatever it may be, will turn out to be for your own best interests, as well as the best interests of your families and those dependent upon you for a living.

I ask those of you who are striking to bear in mind that you accepted the decisions of the United States Railroad Labor Board when they were favorable to you, and that the Illinois Central System accepted those decisions which were unfavorable to it. Let me also again remind you that since December, 1917, you have received three general increases in wages and that your hourly rates of wages in effect at present, as fixed by the United States Railroad Labor Board, are from 40 to 113 per cent higher than in 1917, as follows:

	July, 1922	1917	Increases
	Hourly Rates	Hourly Rates	Over 1917
Machinists, Boilermakers and Blacksmiths	70c	50c	40%
Helpers, various classes	47c	29 1/2c	45 to 59%
Coach Carpenters	70c	40c	75%
Freight Car Carpenters	63c	35 1/2c	77%
Car Repairmen	63c	29 1/2c	113%

Upon reflection, I believe that you will be broad-minded enough to accept the recent decisions of the United States Railroad Labor Board which you consider unfavorable. A long-drawn-out contest would mean losses and suffering, not only for you and your families, but also for the public. We should all recognize that the public interest always rises above the interests of the railroad or of its employees.

None of us is fortunate enough to have issues affecting his life always decided in his favor. The principle of "rule or ruin" invariably has led to disaster. It can have no other ending. The wisdom of the principles of "give and take" and "live and let live" have been fully demonstrated. Those are the principles upon which we desire to conduct this railway system for the benefit of the public, the employees and the owners.

The management of the Illinois Central System is under obligations to serve the public with uninterrupted transportation and under any conditions which may arise it must faithfully discharge that obligation.

I ask that you accept this letter in that same friendly spirit in which I address you, free from any feeling of hostility or censure for anything that has been said or done in regard to this unhappy affair.

(Signed) C. H. MARKHAM, President
