ARBITRATION FOR COAL STRIKE. President Harding has presented what seems like a reasonable proposal for settling the coal strike.

President Harding has presented what seems like a reasonable proposal for settling the coal strike. He offers arbitration by a board to consist of three representatives of the miners, three for the operators and five to be appointed by the president.

Here is an offer more attractive than that which was made by President Roosevelt, when, in October, 1922, he intervened in the anthracite coal strike and virtually ordered the contending parties to submit their case to a board he had named.

The arbitration will accomplish one thing the miners have sought, and which has been avoided by the operators, a general conference where a wage scale basic for the industry can be agreed upon.

HANDLING MUSCLE SHOALS PLANT. The clash of method between Senators Norris and Ladd with regard to Muscle Shoals and the Henry Ford offer involves nothing of purpose.

Senator Ladd is evidently of the opinion that under Henry Ford the manufacture of fertilizer at Muscle Shoals will go ahead much faster than it will if the government is left in control.

MISS ALICE AND HER CAMPAIGN. Oklahoma is not under our jurisdiction; if it were some things might be ordered differently; however we have a little more than passing interest in the campaign that is being carried on by Miss Alice Robertson, who aspires to another term in the house.

JUST LIKE THE MOVIES. Now and then some captious critic tilts his nose at a movie and snorts, "It can't be done!" Generally this is evoked by some exhibition where a genteel criminal is shown associating with people of culture and yet carrying on his desperado work in a fashion that would put the most brutal of criminals to shame.

On Second Thought. A good deal of business of mind is called liberality of opinion.

lines. He turned criminal himself, and began at the very bottom, working himself up through layer after layer of the underworld, until he came to the very top and landed his men.

SENIORITY IN THE SENATE.

Medill McCormick's proposed campaign against seniority in the senate will awaken discussion of one of the purposes of that body which is frequently forgotten. Of all the "checks and balances" provided by the Fathers none is more important than the senate.

McCormick's objection that the seniority rule frequently deprives the nation of the service of the proper man at the head of committees, while perpetuating an oligarchy, is fairly well put. One of the last examples of how it works was afforded when Gilbert M. Hitchcock succeeded William J. Stone as chairman of the foreign relations committee under Wilson.

CRIME AND PURE CUSSEDNESS.

A feature of the attempted pay roll robbery at the L. C. Doup factory suggests that the doctrine of total depravity may have foundation. Learning that the loot they sought was in checks rather than in currency, the baffled bandits deliberately destroyed the checks.

When Is a Barge a Barge? J. D. Gleason in Scribner's. If you should ask almost any one of the commuters that twice daily crowd the ferries from Staten Island and elsewhere "What kind of a boat is that being towed along?" he would answer with the conviction of a juror, "A barge."

OMAHA A GOOD PLACE TO GATHER.

Omaha is host today to two important gatherings of widely separated interests. The Transmississippi golf tournament is in progress at the links of the Omaha Country club, while down town the Missouri Valley Veterinarian association is discussing its affairs.

A Code New to the Sea. From the Philadelphia Ledger. There is going to be plenty of indignation expressed at the statement of the Liverpool firm of ship owners which holds it is "not necessarily the duty of a vessel to proceed to the assistance of another vessel which meets with disaster in a fog."

Germany asks for a moratorium, and probably will get it, but pay day is bound to come. California has propagated more than a billion fish in the last fifty years, not counting the suckers.

King Ak and his crew are on the job again, for the rest of the season. Pay rolls made out in form of checks are immune against bandits.

China's perpetual revolution is becoming complicated. Last week for primary campaign; watch them hustle. Nebraska's climate is doing its own talking.

On Second Thought. A good deal of business of mind is called liberality of opinion.

What Editors Elsewhere Are Saying

Lesson in Archaeology. Scottsbluff, Neb., July 7.—To the Editor of The Omaha Bee: It has been a long journey from the "Man from Niobrara" to the Smithsonian Institution.

Want Decision to Remain. From the York News-Times. The Chamber of Commerce of the city of Omaha wants the recent supreme court decision divorcing the Central and Southern Pacific railroads to stand and a resolution tolling congress to keep hands off was adopted by the Omaha commercial body.

Profiteering in Foreign Goods. From the Hastings Tribune. It is going to be known that a move has been inaugurated in Washington to prevent the profiteering on foreign goods sold in the United States.

Those Degrading Golf Pants! "The Lance" in the Los Angeles Times. I strongly disapprove of these new baggy golf pants the tailors are illustrating as the very latest vogue.
