

Don't Worry Over Me, 'Boy Burglar' Writes Mother

"When I Get Out of This I'll Go Home and Stay There—Please Send Cookies."

Lloyd Foss, 14, dubbed "the boy burglar" by Omaha police, will be returned to Fremont today to face charges of burglary and breaking jail.

His companion, Joe "Fatty" Kelly, 15, is still being sought by Omaha police.

The Foss youngster yesterday wrote the following letter to his foster mother, Mrs. R. H. Gilpin, Superior, Neb.

"Am being held at Omaha for burglary. Now, mama, please do not get worried. I have paid back all I've taken from them, and am going to go to Fremont tomorrow, and they will see there what they will do to me. Mama, I did not do this just 'cause I wanted to steal. I did it because I wanted excitement and because I wanted money to get home. The warden here is a very nice man and so are the others. I want you to write to me in Fremont next and please send me a box of candy, cake or cookies, or something.

"I'll Be Better Boy."

"How is Theima and daddy getting along? When I get out of this I'll go home, get a job and stay there. There's not much of a chance of me getting parole. But if I do, I'll do as I said.

"How is frizzy? Send me some pictures of you all.

"The police seem to think that I am a pretty boy; I suppose I am. They think that I was before I came to Fremont, too. Mama, I'm sorry to make you so much trouble and worry and when I get home I'll be a better boy. You can depend on that. It was just a while that got me started at Fremont and here.

"Well, Mother, I hope you will not get sick on hearing this. Please send your photograph to me and the box—send them to Fremont, mama; write and tell me if daddy will go my bond for a while so I can come and see you. Please don't forget and don't worry. Mother dear. Goodby."

Mrs. Gilpin wrote to Chief of Police Dempsey Monday a letter filled with mother love and confidence that "her boy" is not a "bad one."

"I hope you will give my dear boy a chance," her letter said. "It will be much better for him to be under home influence, don't you think? He is a good boy and has never been in any trouble before. Soon school will start. He has always been a good boy in school. He likes to stay at home and read. Please give him a chance."

Woman Severely Scalded
Beatrice, Neb., July 18.—(Special).—Mrs. Ben Hendrix was severely scalded on the hip and foot when a can of boiling water which she was lifting from the stove overturned.

Going On Vacation?

Look out for drinking water. Manufacturers' News says: "It is well known that water contaminated by sewage and waste from out-houses, pig pens, and chicken houses is unfit for human use.

"And no class of people is more concerned with the importance of obtaining at all times a safe water supply than the tourists and travelers.

We can add that some water that looks mighty clear and pretty and tastes mighty clear and pretty and drink.

For the benefit of Chicago's army of motor tourists and summer swimmers, the health department laboratory furnishes calcium hypochlorite tablets. Each tablet contains 20 to 30 milligrams of chlorine.

When the tablets have been kept in a cool place, one dissolved in a quart of water makes a solution, one teaspoonful of which will sterilize a glassful of moderately polluted water.

To use: Dissolve one tablet, first crushing between the fingers, in one quart of water, in an ordinary quart bottle, capable of being tightly corked or sealed. Shake well. Store in a cool, dark place. This stock solution will keep potent for about one week.

Add one teaspoonful of this clear stock solution to one large glass of water. Let stand five minutes.

Or, add four teaspoonfuls to a quart of water.

Tablets for this purpose can be bought in drug stores.

Fly Poison.

Make a mixture of formaldehyde, 40 per cent, 5 parts; Clear lime water, 50 parts; Sugar, 25 parts; Water, 42.5 parts.

Place 12 ounces of this mixture in a pint, large mouth, milk bottle.

Cut a disk of blotting paper large enough to rest on and cover the top of the bottle. In the center of this disk cut a slit one inch long. Through this slit pass two wicks of unsized paper, blotting paper, or cloth long enough to reach well into the fluid in the bottle and draw it up to the blotting paper cover.

Put the fluid in the bottle and cover with the blotting paper with the wicks in reaching the fluid.

Expose in a room in which there is no other fluid accessible to flies.

Fleas.

Sweep up and burn all dust. Use flaked naphthalene on rugs.

Or, if the floors are bare and no rugs are available, wash the floors with the following mixture:

Two ounces laundry soap, dissolved in two quarts boiling water. Add one quart kerosene oil.

Add enough warm water to make five gallons.

This soap-kerosene solution can be used to wash dogs and cats.

Red Bugs.

Pour a few drops of chloroform on the bite. Cup the hand over the chloroform and hold the fumes against the skin for one minute. Grease.

Bedbugs.

If one camps in an old bug-infested cabin, squirt kerosene in the cracks. Watch out for fires.

Ticks.

Proceed as in the case of red bugs.

Lice.

If there is objection to the use of kerosene, followed by hot vinegar, try the following:

Sodium tauracholate.....1
Oil eucalyptol.....5
Water to make 100.....5

Rub well into the hair. Wrap up the head and leave on all night.

In the morning wash with soap and water.

Comb with a fine tooth comb.

Baby's Tetter From Diet.

Mrs. A. R. writes: "I have a 6-months-old baby with eczema. Has had it for four months. Is a breast fed baby.

"Do you think my milk caused the eczema?"

REPLY.

Eczema or tetter in nursing babies usually results from the diet. The food may be at fault in any one of several ways. It may be too abundant; it may contain too much fat or too much sugar.

In recent years it has been proved that in some cases it is due to some food eaten by the mother and secreted in the milk. This ingredient of the mother's milk may be something which was wholesome for her and wholesome for the other babies. It harms the baby because of his peculiarities.

To cure the condition, the baby's food must be changed in some particular. It may be by skimming the milk, or lessening its sugar or its protein, or by changing to another source of milk, or by discontinuing milk entirely.

While the diet is being changed it is all right to use any of the regular line of salves and washes. They do no harm.

Cancer From Hot Drinks.

X. Y. Z. writes: "I. How much hot water should be drunk to wash out the stomach and when is the best time?"

"2. Is there danger of overdoing hot water drinking. What is the minimum and how often should that ceremony be performed?"

REPLY.

1. A pint is enough. Use it when you get up in the morning. Do not take it too hot.

2. Yes. You can dilute your stomach by taking too much. You can bring on cancer by taking it too hot.

Kerosene For Fido.

C. M. writes: "Will you please tell me what I can do to rid my dog of lice?"

REPLY.

Kerosene is the stock remedy for lice. Hot vinegar for nits.

Aurora, Neb., July 18.—(Special).—Construction of the First Christian church, which has been delayed for several days, again is being vigorously pushed.
