

Miss Rosina Kissner

Mrs. J. C. Megeath

Mrs. A. V. Lloyd

Miss Fredericka Nash Magee and Marshall Magee

Mrs. Harry Purvis and Betty Anne

Miss Anne Robertson

Mrs. Charles Hamilton

Mrs. Robert Hughes

Members of Ross Party Have Glimpse of England

Among the 14 Omahans who have gone abroad for four months with Miss Anna Z. Ross' party is Myrtle Mason of the Bee Staff. She writes today of the first experience of the party in sight seeing when the "Melita" put in Southampton, England. The party has since been touring the continent.—Editorial note.

A pleasant surprise was ours of the Ross party Friday, June 30, when we docked at Southampton, England, on our voyage from Montreal to Antwerp. Unexpectedly, we were given shore leave for the six or more hours of the boat's stay there where our boat lost half of its passengers and as much baggage, bound for London.

"I shall order a charabanc for you," said the captain impressively, "so you may drive to Winchester" (12 miles away). "Charabanc" the word intrigued us, and all anticipation, we stretched ourselves for a view of the conveyance as soon as we had reached the feet ashore. What we saw was briefly described by the youngest member of our group, who exclaimed: "Why it's nothing but a rubber-neck wagon!"

That's just what it was, a rubber-neck wagon, and just what we did was "rubber" for three whole entrancing hours, which no one of us shall forget.

Fancy seeing a church built in 907, more than a thousand years ago, or a cozy brick house with thatched roof, the front yard gay with roses, nasturtiums, Canterbury bells, Easter lilies, and larkspur, a terraced hedge surrounding it, and imposing trees along the way. We saw the "Rest camp" near Winchester where many of our own American boys were encamped during the war. Great piles of rhododendrons were in purple bloom. Now and then we caught glimpses across the green sward of English lads, bareheaded, all playing the true English game of cricket, or of quiet old houses on magnificent estates seen through the gates and shrubbery beyond the gatekeeper's lodge at the entrance.

Mrs. Charles Hamilton

Scoutmasters Plan Boat Trip in the Ozarks

Four Omahans made up their minds that they would do something different this summer on their vacation trip. No summer resorts for them! By the ghost of the great Huckleberry Finn they swore an oath to go floating down the Charles river on a flat bottomed boat.

The adventurers comprise four of the Scout Masters from Camp Gifford: Gilbert Gendall, executive head of the camp; Phil Dumont, camp director; Charles Perkins and Mark Levings. They plan their expedition early in September and they outfit at Galena, Mo., which is the starting point of their cruise. Equipment will consist of two boats of the "schooner scow" variety, tents, provisions and a guide, and thus provided the party will plunge into the wilds of the Ozark mountains on their 10-day trip.

Mrs. Robert Hughes

Benson Woman's Club Completes Program

The 1922-23 program of the Benson Woman's club, arranged by Mesdames F. B. Oliver, W. H. Lochner, J. T. Pickard, N. H. Tyson, J. Barton, R. J. Skankey and C. C. Beavers, will go to the printer early in August. Hostesses for the year are Mesdames Gordon Roth, A. J. Leuthauer, J. W. Welch, C. G. Anderson, W. H. Reed, Arthur Giles, J. T. Pickard, Claude H. Reed, H. W. Wright, R. J. Skankey, C. O. Hurd and W. H. Lochner.

Starting October 12 (Columbus day), with a patriotic luncheon, served by the music department, when the club double quartet will sing several national airs, followed by a talk on "Influence of Immigration Upon Americanization," by Mrs. J. F. Barton, a paper on "Immigration Laws by Mrs. F. J. Murray, and a talk, "Naturalization Laws," by Mrs. W. A. Kelly, the outline is as follows: October 26, the novel-type story, "Master of Man," will be reviewed by Mrs. N. H. Hyson; discussion by Mrs. B. R. Vandellippe. November 9, "Interpretive Music," by Mrs. Helen Sadelek Kyle, vocal solo by Mrs. M. O. Yale.

Mrs. Charles Hamilton

Alarm Clocks Might Be a Help

Old Timer Is Not the Only Mighty One Who Has Fallen

By GABBY DETAYLS. He is a gentleman of the old school who is most punctilious about social obligations, but tired nature played him a mean trick one evening lately. The man in question was in an eastern city on a business trip and had to spend all his days attending a strenuous convention. The last day of his stay he received an invitation to dine with some old friends, former Omaha people who were prominent here in musical circles. He accepted with pleasure, left the convention about 6 o'clock and lay down for 40 winks before dressing to go to their home. He had his 40 winks, and the mental alarm clock failed to go off. When at last he awoke himself with a start of surprise, it was pitch dark in the room, and in alarm he switched on the light and fumbled for his watch. It was 1:30 in the morning, and he has been busy ever since trying to square himself.

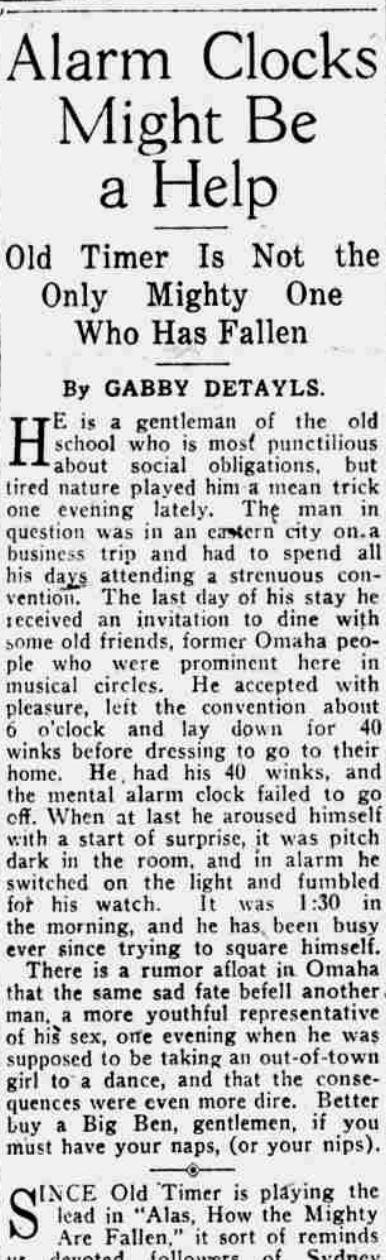

Mrs. Charles Hamilton

Young Omaha Girl Receives Offer for Vaudeville

Miss Virginia Upham, daughter of Lynne D. Upham of Omaha, is achieving success in her chosen profession of dancing at an early age. Although she is not yet 15, Miss Upham has been asked by Theodore Baki to join his troupe of headliners on the Orpheum circuit next winter. Miss Upham has been in California for the last two years with her mother, and she has been studying with Baki and other teachers all that time. Recently Miss Upham has been appearing at Graumann's, one of the leading theaters of Los Angeles, in a Tin Soldier ballet, in which she played the part of the drum major and also did a solo. She has made a name for herself, according to reports of Omahans who have seen her in the Pavlova Poppy dance, and has been in demand at private affairs as an entertainer.

Her work has brought Miss Upham in contact with many interesting people in Los Angeles, among them Vahroy Tamarin, boy dancer, who is stone deaf and who, say the critics, must sense music through vibration only. His sense of rhythm, according to experts, is almost perfect. Baki stopped in Omaha 10 days ago to ask Mr. Upham's consent to his proposed offer to Miss Upham, and Mr. Upham is leaving next week for California to complete arrangements. The tour, which lasts 40 weeks, begins the middle of September, and the act will appear in Omaha sometime during the winter. Mrs. Upham will accompany her daughter, and she has been in demand at private affairs as an entertainer.

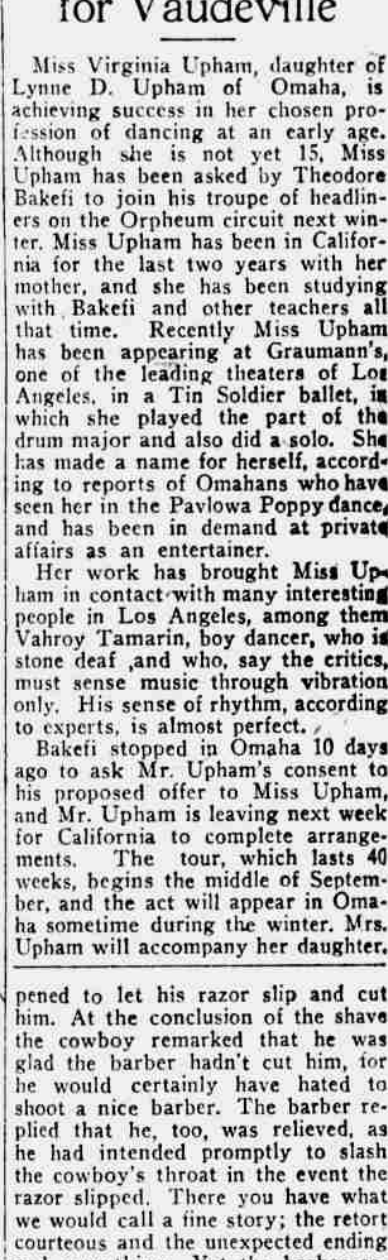

Mrs. Charles Hamilton

Highways

By LESLIE N. JENNINGS. Who's leaved the fare of trodden ways And walked them up and down, May love be steep in a mist, But cannot love a town.

Who's worn a bit of purple once Can never, never lie When stars are in the sky.

Mrs. Charles Hamilton

Highways

Who's leaved the fare of trodden ways And walked them up and down, May love be steep in a mist, But cannot love a town.

Who's worn a bit of purple once Can never, never lie When stars are in the sky.