

MORNING—EVENING—SUNDAY

THE BEE PUBLISHING COMPANY WELSON B. UPDIKE, Publisher. B. BREWER, Gen. Manager.

MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Not average circulation of The Omaha Bee, June, 1922 Daily... 71,731 Sunday... 77,034

BEER TELEPHONES Private Branch Exchange, Ask for the Department of Person Wanted, For Night Calls After 10 P. M., Editorial Department, AT lantic 1000

OPICES Main Office—17th and Farnam Co. Bldg. - - - 15 West St. South Side - - 4935 S. 24th St.

The average paid daily circulation of The Omaha Bee for June, 1922, was 71,731, a gain of 12,297 over June, 1921.

PRESIDENT'S POLICY IN OPERATION. The policy of the president of the United States for dealing with the industrial situation created by the coal and railroad strikes is being developed.

The machinery for the emergency control will be formed by the president, and will consist of representatives of the Interstate Commerce commission, the Department of Commerce and the Department of Justice.

The policy of the president of the United States for dealing with the industrial situation created by the coal and railroad strikes is being developed.

The machinery for the emergency control will be formed by the president, and will consist of representatives of the Interstate Commerce commission, the Department of Commerce and the Department of Justice.

Settlement between the clerks and the management of the Southern railroad, on a basis of mutual concessions, and the continued negotiations between the maintenance of way men and the Labor board are the encouraging features of the railroad situation.

Settlement between the clerks and the management of the Southern railroad, on a basis of mutual concessions, and the continued negotiations between the maintenance of way men and the Labor board are the encouraging features of the railroad situation.

Settlement between the clerks and the management of the Southern railroad, on a basis of mutual concessions, and the continued negotiations between the maintenance of way men and the Labor board are the encouraging features of the railroad situation.

Settlement between the clerks and the management of the Southern railroad, on a basis of mutual concessions, and the continued negotiations between the maintenance of way men and the Labor board are the encouraging features of the railroad situation.

GUARDING OMAHA'S INTERESTS.

The mere fact that Nebraska is distant from the sources of fuel supply must not be taken as any indication that Omaha will not get its full share of the coal that is mined.

There is no wisdom in a general stampede to buy coal. Nothing should be done by any consumer that would result in running up the price of next winter's fuel.

Signs multiply that if the president and his administration are given popular support no one will have to suffer for lack of coal.

The movement of coal cars is under government control, and the conference between Mr. Kennedy and the local coal dealers is evidence that Omaha's needs will be given full and fair consideration in the distribution of fuel.

THAT BEFORE BREAKFAST GROUCH.

The advice sometimes is given, "Keep smiling until 10 o'clock and the rest of the day will take care of itself."

A good many persons wake up with a grouch. The idyllic picture of domestic life in which husband and wife sit down happily to a leisurely morning meal is unfortunately not always realized.

There are men who make a practice of taking breakfast in a downtown restaurant. There no doubt are some women who have their tea and toast in bed.

Similar changes, reaching far into the habits of the Orient, are promised by the advent of the automobile. Hand drawn carts and jinrikishas still constitute a large part of the means of transportation in Japan. It is estimated that one in every twenty-eight Japanese is engaged in transportation. In all of Japan there are only 252,000 horse-drawn carriages and vehicles and 44,000 ox carts.

The effect of freeing coolie labor for the production of food or other goods instead of hauling will be revolutionary. The change to the motor car came with less of a shock in America because it replaced the horse, not a whole class of men.

"HENRY AND ME" AND THE LAW.

In one regard Governor Allen has the better of Editor White, in the controversy over the placard. Conceding every claim that may be made for freedom of speech and publication, and the governor is quite as familiar with all this as is his adversary.

If the governor of the state of Kansas, acting on the advice of his attorney general, declares that a certain course of action is inimical to the welfare of the people of Kansas, or contrary to the law of Kansas decent regard to the law and for the executive requires that all good citizens obey the governor.

Here is just where William Allen White stepped back in time. He submitted to arrest, after having made his point, and then removed the offending placard. His sympathy for the striking shopmen need have undergone no diminution, and may be as efficacious as ever it was.

Governor Allen is right in saying: "What we need in this country now more than anything else is a feeling of obligation to our government, to our laws, and obedience to authority."

IT'S ALL IN THE FAMILY.

Nebraskans, who have become accustomed to the antics of the democrats in their effort to secure office in the state, will not be at all surprised at the indignation of "Prince Arthur," who finds his prestige about to be challenged by William A. Kavan.

Mr. Kavan, it appears, has gone to the extent of organizing a democratic club, admission to which is set at $1 per, while Mr. Mullen is the chief engineer and pilot of another club composed of democrats who pay $10 each for the privilege.

That is beside the question. Mr. Mullen, relying on his $10 fee as well as priority in the field, regards Mr. Kavan and his $1 proposition as an interloper. In fact, Mr. Mullen so expressed himself at a meeting of the democratic state committee.

From which family fess it is not at all difficult to draw the conclusion that while the Hitchcocks and the Bryans may indulge in "neutrality," and lay aside the wet and dry disagreement in hope of getting votes, the Mullens and the Kavan are not inclined to do so.

SCHILLER'S BUST IN PARK.

Schiller's bust is again on the pedestal in River-view park, where it was placed fifteen years ago by patriotic German citizens, in whose hearts dwelt a great love for art, for literature and for music.

It is good to note this fact, for it shows a complete subsidence of the stein-smashing spirit that characterized some portion of our country's share in the war. The bust was not removed because the City of Omaha mistook the spirit that gave it, but because to expose it was to invite an outbreak that might damage a work of art, destroy a monument, and do nothing towards aiding the victory all sought.

Read Schiller's life, and you will discover that he, too, was a victim of the very system that led to the awful four years from August, 1914, to November, 1918.

It is very much to my regret that Gen. Aguinaldo is unable to attend the convention of the Spanish-American War Veterans in the United States due to financial reasons. You were right, Mr. Editor, in referring to him as a "patriotic living propaganda" for our independence movement.

Applied democracy, if we understand the local interpretation, rates a member who pays a $10 fee as being ten times the account of one who pays only $1. Maybe there's something in that.

Walter Head wants to bring the next Boy Scout convention to the United States. Why not go one step farther, and bring it to Omaha?

Band concerts at Fort Omaha awaken memories of a day when guard mount there was a function.

Stowaways on airplanes are novel enough to notice, there being no trucks or brakeroads to ride.

When bandits begin to steal raspberries canned for the winter, it is time to call a halt.

Now, if J. Pluvius will just let up for a week or ten days, much will be forgiven him.

Loud talk will dig no coal.

On Second Thought By H. M. STANFORD. Brass scientists tell us, is shunted gold. Are you pure gold or just brass?

Bee Readers' Opinions

(This department is designed as a broadening station through which readers of The Omaha Bee may speak to an audience numbering well above 250,000 on subjects of public interest.)

He Is Not for Debs. Omaha, July 22.—To the Editor of The Omaha Bee: As a reader of your paper I feel I am justified in calling your attention to an article in your Letter Box in tonight's paper.

In the mad chase of the new day, we have turned our homes into mere resting places, and then are shocked when our children show by offenses against the law and against right principles that they lack home training.

We are racing about and getting all pepped up over this, that and the other thing. We are wasting our energy on nonessentials. The evils selection. These men have always been conspicuous in the independence movement and most, if not all of them, have been elected and re-elected without much opposition because they stand before the people and express themselves unequivocally for the movement.

"Families" and "Broods." Boone County, Neb., July 24.—To the Editor of The Omaha Bee: In the Sunday Bee of July 23, on page 4, I noticed a picture of six very bright-looking children.

Who does honor belong to? Is it the mothers that raise the families, are they not the mothers of our great country? Or is the present generation, where we find large families, the cause that runs up the percentage of criminals?

What a contrast, when one defines the words family and brood. MRS. J. X. SEVENICH.

Freedom for the Filipinos. Omaha, July 22.—To the Editor of The Omaha Bee: I am very appreciative of the interest which The Omaha Bee is taking in regard to Filipino freedom as manifested by letters and editorials that appear in its columns every now and then.

It is very much to my regret that Gen. Aguinaldo is unable to attend the convention of the Spanish-American War Veterans in the United States due to financial reasons. You were right, Mr. Editor, in referring to him as a "patriotic living propaganda" for our independence movement.

Applied democracy, if we understand the local interpretation, rates a member who pays a $10 fee as being ten times the account of one who pays only $1. Maybe there's something in that.

Walter Head wants to bring the next Boy Scout convention to the United States. Why not go one step farther, and bring it to Omaha?

Band concerts at Fort Omaha awaken memories of a day when guard mount there was a function.

Stowaways on airplanes are novel enough to notice, there being no trucks or brakeroads to ride.

When bandits begin to steal raspberries canned for the winter, it is time to call a halt.

Now, if J. Pluvius will just let up for a week or ten days, much will be forgiven him.

Loud talk will dig no coal.

On Second Thought By H. M. STANFORD. Brass scientists tell us, is shunted gold. Are you pure gold or just brass?

OPINION What Editors Elsewhere Are Saying

America's Lack of Control. From the Minneapolis Journal.

Says Sinclair Lewis: "We don't need more pep in America; we need control." It is a true saying. One need only turn to the days of our speedy, complex life with its lack of control—automobile killings, broken homes, increase in juvenile crime, strikes, disrespect for law, faddism in schools, and so on.

We see today are evils of our own making, and they will be abated only as we raise our standards and change our course of conduct. Such a step signifies control. It denotes no sacrifice, for it is the mad pace that exacts sacrifice. Control gives premiums in true happiness, in better family conditions, in higher and better standards of life for everyone.

Nothing is more amusing than a literary prize fight. Mr. H. L. Mencken and Mr. Walter Lippman are staging a hot one in the pages of the Smart Set and the New Republic respectively.

Nothing is more amusing than a literary prize fight. Mr. H. L. Mencken and Mr. Walter Lippman are staging a hot one in the pages of the Smart Set and the New Republic respectively.

Nothing is more amusing than a literary prize fight. Mr. H. L. Mencken and Mr. Walter Lippman are staging a hot one in the pages of the Smart Set and the New Republic respectively.

Nothing is more amusing than a literary prize fight. Mr. H. L. Mencken and Mr. Walter Lippman are staging a hot one in the pages of the Smart Set and the New Republic respectively.

Nothing is more amusing than a literary prize fight. Mr. H. L. Mencken and Mr. Walter Lippman are staging a hot one in the pages of the Smart Set and the New Republic respectively.

Nothing is more amusing than a literary prize fight. Mr. H. L. Mencken and Mr. Walter Lippman are staging a hot one in the pages of the Smart Set and the New Republic respectively.

Nothing is more amusing than a literary prize fight. Mr. H. L. Mencken and Mr. Walter Lippman are staging a hot one in the pages of the Smart Set and the New Republic respectively.

Nothing is more amusing than a literary prize fight. Mr. H. L. Mencken and Mr. Walter Lippman are staging a hot one in the pages of the Smart Set and the New Republic respectively.

Nothing is more amusing than a literary prize fight. Mr. H. L. Mencken and Mr. Walter Lippman are staging a hot one in the pages of the Smart Set and the New Republic respectively.

Nothing is more amusing than a literary prize fight. Mr. H. L. Mencken and Mr. Walter Lippman are staging a hot one in the pages of the Smart Set and the New Republic respectively.

Nothing is more amusing than a literary prize fight. Mr. H. L. Mencken and Mr. Walter Lippman are staging a hot one in the pages of the Smart Set and the New Republic respectively.

Nothing is more amusing than a literary prize fight. Mr. H. L. Mencken and Mr. Walter Lippman are staging a hot one in the pages of the Smart Set and the New Republic respectively.

Nothing is more amusing than a literary prize fight. Mr. H. L. Mencken and Mr. Walter Lippman are staging a hot one in the pages of the Smart Set and the New Republic respectively.

Nothing is more amusing than a literary prize fight. Mr. H. L. Mencken and Mr. Walter Lippman are staging a hot one in the pages of the Smart Set and the New Republic respectively.

Nothing is more amusing than a literary prize fight. Mr. H. L. Mencken and Mr. Walter Lippman are staging a hot one in the pages of the Smart Set and the New Republic respectively.

Nothing is more amusing than a literary prize fight. Mr. H. L. Mencken and Mr. Walter Lippman are staging a hot one in the pages of the Smart Set and the New Republic respectively.

Nothing is more amusing than a literary prize fight. Mr. H. L. Mencken and Mr. Walter Lippman are staging a hot one in the pages of the Smart Set and the New Republic respectively.

Nothing is more amusing than a literary prize fight. Mr. H. L. Mencken and Mr. Walter Lippman are staging a hot one in the pages of the Smart Set and the New Republic respectively.

Nothing is more amusing than a literary prize fight. Mr. H. L. Mencken and Mr. Walter Lippman are staging a hot one in the pages of the Smart Set and the New Republic respectively.

Nothing is more amusing than a literary prize fight. Mr. H. L. Mencken and Mr. Walter Lippman are staging a hot one in the pages of the Smart Set and the New Republic respectively.

Nothing is more amusing than a literary prize fight. Mr. H. L. Mencken and Mr. Walter Lippman are staging a hot one in the pages of the Smart Set and the New Republic respectively.

Nothing is more amusing than a literary prize fight. Mr. H. L. Mencken and Mr. Walter Lippman are staging a hot one in the pages of the Smart Set and the New Republic respectively.

he tells in the intermission of his proposed guide to governors, paraphrasing Aldous Huxley's Scogan in "Crome Yellow" whose words are remarkably fresh in his mind.

Clang! Walter Lippman steps out. He calls H. L. M. a good philosopher, a one-eyed critical bull in a literary china emporium, an innocent little boy in knickerbockers who calls names from behind a fence.

Clang! Walter Lippman steps out. He calls H. L. M. a good philosopher, a one-eyed critical bull in a literary china emporium, an innocent little boy in knickerbockers who calls names from behind a fence.

Clang! Walter Lippman steps out. He calls H. L. M. a good philosopher, a one-eyed critical bull in a literary china emporium, an innocent little boy in knickerbockers who calls names from behind a fence.

Clang! Walter Lippman steps out. He calls H. L. M. a good philosopher, a one-eyed critical bull in a literary china emporium, an innocent little boy in knickerbockers who calls names from behind a fence.

Clang! Walter Lippman steps out. He calls H. L. M. a good philosopher, a one-eyed critical bull in a literary china emporium, an innocent little boy in knickerbockers who calls names from behind a fence.

Clang! Walter Lippman steps out. He calls H. L. M. a good philosopher, a one-eyed critical bull in a literary china emporium, an innocent little boy in knickerbockers who calls names from behind a fence.

Clang! Walter Lippman steps out. He calls H. L. M. a good philosopher, a one-eyed critical bull in a literary china emporium, an innocent little boy in knickerbockers who calls names from behind a fence.

Clang! Walter Lippman steps out. He calls H. L. M. a good philosopher, a one-eyed critical bull in a literary china emporium, an innocent little boy in knickerbockers who calls names from behind a fence.

Clang! Walter Lippman steps out. He calls H. L. M. a good philosopher, a one-eyed critical bull in a literary china emporium, an innocent little boy in knickerbockers who calls names from behind a fence.

Clang! Walter Lippman steps out. He calls H. L. M. a good philosopher, a one-eyed critical bull in a literary china emporium, an innocent little boy in knickerbockers who calls names from behind a fence.

Clang! Walter Lippman steps out. He calls H. L. M. a good philosopher, a one-eyed critical bull in a literary china emporium, an innocent little boy in knickerbockers who calls names from behind a fence.

Clang! Walter Lippman steps out. He calls H. L. M. a good philosopher, a one-eyed critical bull in a literary china emporium, an innocent little boy in knickerbockers who calls names from behind a fence.

Clang! Walter Lippman steps out. He calls H. L. M. a good philosopher, a one-eyed critical bull in a literary china emporium, an innocent little boy in knickerbockers who calls names from behind a fence.

Clang! Walter Lippman steps out. He calls H. L. M. a good philosopher, a one-eyed critical bull in a literary china emporium, an innocent little boy in knickerbockers who calls names from behind a fence.

Clang! Walter Lippman steps out. He calls H. L. M. a good philosopher, a one-eyed critical bull in a literary china emporium, an innocent little boy in knickerbockers who calls names from behind a fence.

Clang! Walter Lippman steps out. He calls H. L. M. a good philosopher, a one-eyed critical bull in a literary china emporium, an innocent little boy in knickerbockers who calls names from behind a fence.

Clang! Walter Lippman steps out. He calls H. L. M. a good philosopher, a one-eyed critical bull in a literary china emporium, an innocent little boy in knickerbockers who calls names from behind a fence.

Clang! Walter Lippman steps out. He calls H. L. M. a good philosopher, a one-eyed critical bull in a literary china emporium, an innocent little boy in knickerbockers who calls names from behind a fence.

Clang! Walter Lippman steps out. He calls H. L. M. a good philosopher, a one-eyed critical bull in a literary china emporium, an innocent little boy in knickerbockers who calls names from behind a fence.

Clang! Walter Lippman steps out. He calls H. L. M. a good philosopher, a one-eyed critical bull in a literary china emporium, an innocent little boy in knickerbockers who calls names from behind a fence.

Clang! Walter Lippman steps out. He calls H. L. M. a good philosopher, a one-eyed critical bull in a literary china emporium, an innocent little boy in knickerbockers who calls names from behind a fence.

Clang! Walter Lippman steps out. He calls H. L. M. a good philosopher, a one-eyed critical bull in a literary china emporium, an innocent little boy in knickerbockers who calls names from behind a fence.

Clang! Walter Lippman steps out. He calls H. L. M. a good philosopher, a one-eyed critical bull in a literary china emporium, an innocent little boy in knickerbockers who calls names from behind a fence.

Clang! Walter Lippman steps out. He calls H. L. M. a good philosopher, a one-eyed critical bull in a literary china emporium, an innocent little boy in knickerbockers who calls names from behind a fence.

Jimmy Thrift INVESTIGATING Jim's growing fast and learning things with all his might and main. In reading and in numbers he is showing rapid gain. His bank account is growing and at the age of four, His dad, young Jim, has created with ten big dollars more. Train up a child in the way he should grow, and when he is older he will not depart therefrom. Respect for authority, orderly habits, love of good books and thrift instilled into the mind of the growing child will bring success in later life. The Savings Department of the First National co-operates with its customers in this important work.

Piles Fistula—Pay When Cured A mild system of treatment that cures Piles, Fistula and other Rectal Diseases in a short time, without a severe surgical operation. No Chloroform, Ether or other general anesthetic used. Write for book on Rectal Diseases, with names and testimonials of more than 1,000 prominent people who have been permanently cured. DR. E. R. TARRY Scajorium, Powers Trust Bldg. (See Bldg.) Omaha, Neb.

"that's more like it!" fifteen (15) BETTER cigarettes for 10¢ A highly pleasing blend of choice Turkish with Virginia and Kentucky Burley tobaccos of superior character and quality. Every cigarette full weight and full size. You're going to say "That's more like it!" POLO the Better Blend —better Turkish —better Virginia —better Burley