Champion Leonard Retains Title in Bout With Lew Tendler After 12 Rounds

Benny Shades Challenger in Most of Rounds

Philadelphia Southpaw Takes Eighth Round by Good Margin — Kids Champ.

By HARRY NEWMAN.
Omaha Bee Leased Wire.

Ringside, Boyles Thirty Acres, Jersey City, July 27.—Benny Leonard retained his lightweight title by defeating Lew Tendler, the Philadelphia challenger, in 12 fast rounds at Boyles Thirty Acres tonight. There was no decision rendered at the end of the contest under the laws of the state of New Jersey, which forbid such a ruling, but it was the opinion that Leonard had shaded Tendler in a majority of the rounds.

It was a bitter struggle from the opening bell and Leonard had all he could do to outpoint the aggressive fighter from Philadelphia. As a matter of fact, in the eighth round Tendler had Leonard in pretty bad shape and for a short while it appeared that the Quaker would win right there. In that round he had the champion staggering from several hard shots to the chin and one sock to the mouth, knocking out one of the champion's teeth, but that was Tendler's really big round. Leonard was the cleverer and hit the cleaner blows, but Tendler never stopped tearing in, always pummeling Leonard in close with savage chops to the wind.

At long range Leonard showed to advantage and it was the punch he gathered at this style of milling that probably entitled him to the verdict, although he did not win by a very wide margin. There were times during the fight when Tendler taunted and kidded the champion to a frenzy, causing the latter to miss repeatedly in his anxiety to take the southpaw.

In he first round Tendler pitched into the fight and cut Leonard's right eye with a left-hand swing. The eye bled for the remainder of the bout and served to handicap Leonard to some extent.

In the third round Leonard took up the going and plastered Tendler with rights to the jaw, while Tendler contented himself with punching away at Benny's ribs while mixing it in close. During that round Tendler was charged by the referee with hitting low and he apologized, but he never let up kidding the New Yorker.

Tendler led with a right, but was short and Benny danced around the ring. Benny rapped Lew on the ear with a right punch as Lew missed another left to the stomach. Leonard danced around his opponent looking for an opening. Tendler ripped his right to Benny's ear and Benny responded with two lefts to the face. Benny sunk a hard right to Tendler's heart. Leonard stabbed Tendler with another left to the mouth and Tendler went back on his heels from a right to the chin and the champion duplicated the blow a moment later. Tendler tried to rough it on the ropes and Leonard called him some pretty names. Lew missed with lefts and rights and the champion sank another hard right under the challenger's heart. Leonard uppercutted Tendler with two rights and varied his attack with a straight punch with left to the nose. Lew sent a hard left to Benny's damaged right eye. The champion forced Tendler to the ropes and rapped him good and plenty with rights and lefts to the body.

Tendler staggered Benny with a hard left to the jaw, knocking out a tooth. Benny held on as Lew pummeled him hard about the body. Lew shook the champion off and forced the latter to break ground under a volley of hard lefts and rights smashed to the head and body. Tendler sent Benny back on his heels with a right to the ear and then sent one to the champion's damaged ear. Tendler was chasing Leonard and asked him to stand still and fight. Safe or Out.

Q.—Pitcher hits for a base and asks the opposing team to permit a player to run for him. The captain of the other named a substitute and the latter scored. This was in the fifth inning. In the ninth the captain of the team that had been given a substitute wished to use him as a pinch hitter and the other side objected. As he did not bat what reason was there why he could not be a pinch hitter after being a substitute runner?

A.—Once removed from a game a player is out for good unless it is mutually agreed to permit him to return. It would have been sportsmanlike in this instance to have given him a chance to pinch hit.

Q.—With runners on first and second, a foul was hit. The runner who was on second did not retouch the base, but stood on the line. The ball was returned to the pitcher who was in his box. The runner still stood on the line. Then the pitcher threw the ball from his position to the second baseman and he touched the base. The field umpire called the runner out for not going back to second. Both runners ran home during the argument and the umpire-in-chief said both runs counted. Was the runner out for failing to go back to second base?

A.—There seems to have been quite a jumble in this play. Whether the runner was out depends upon whether the umpire called "play" after the pitcher had the ball. The rule says the ball is out of play after a foul until the pitcher has it in his possession in his position and the umpire has called "play." If he did not call "play" the game was stopped and neither run could score. If he did call "play" the runner on second was out for not going back to the base and touching it.

Q.—Must the batter step out of the way if a runner is trying to score from third?

A.—That is something which is purely up to the judgment of the batter.

Q.—If the pitcher catches a foul and gets over to third with it after the runner has started home, and before the runner can get back is it out the same as a fair ball?

A.—It is.

Q.—Two strikes are on the batter when it is discovered that he is the wrong batter. The umpire calls him out. Was that right?

A.—No. The right batter should have been substituted with two strikes against him.

Schang's Homer in 11th Inning Beats Browns

St. Louis, July 27. — Walter Schang's home run in the 11th inning gave the Yankees a 6 to 5 victory in 11 innings over the Browns here today. The defeat cut the Browns' lead to half a game. The Browns tied the score with a three-run rally in the ninth inning after the New Yorkers had taken the lead in the eighth by scoring four markers. Pipp of New York hit a homer in the fourth.

Dave Danforth, pitcher of the Browns, was ordered out of the game in the 10th by Umpire Owens, after the latter had examined a ball which Outfielder Witt of New York had charged had been "doctored." The ball was turned over to Umpire Connolly, who refused to let anybody see it.
